WIDOW DEMANDS FULL EXONERATION IN REYNOLDS CASE

Comely Torch Singer Is Not Satisfied With Family's Suggestion That Prosecutor Drop Murder Charges.

STATE'S ATTORNEY RESERVES DECISION

Dick Reynolds Approves Move To Clear Libby. Says Death May Have Been Accident.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 19. (AP)—Complete exoneration of blame in the fatal shooting of Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir, was asked by his accused widow, the former Broadway torch singer, Libby Holman, through her attorney today as the latter awaited Solicitor Carlisle Higgins' reaction to the Reynolds family's suggestion that murder charges be dropped.

Benet Polikoff, the attorney, quoted the black-haired, husky-throated defendant as saying she wanted the cloud over her created by her indictment, along with Albert Walker, Winston-Salem youth, "lifted permanently."

Declining to reveal the whereabouts of Mrs. Reynolds, Polikoff said he had talked with her by telephone after a letter had been made public in which W. N. Reynolds, uncle and co-guardian of Smith, had written Higgins that the family would be "quite happy" if the cases were dropped.

Higgins said he had been too busy with his court duties at West Jefferson, seat of Ashe county, where he is holding court, to give the suggestion of Mr. Reynolds serious consideration as yet. He indicated it would probably be some time before he would make an announcement of his decision.

Polikoff said Mrs. Reynolds wanted the case definitely settled. He explained to her, he said, that if Solicitor Higgins should decide to nol-pros the charge, it could be revived at any time in the future.

"However," he said, "if the solicitor decides upon that action, there is nothing the defense can do about it."

All along he has insisted Mrs. Reynolds was eager for a trial as soon as possible in order to get "vindication" for herself before the birth of her expected child.

R. J. (Dick) Reynolds, older brother of Smith, issued a statement today in which he said he concurred in the decision of the family but reiterated a previously expressed opinion that Smith did not commit suicide.

Returning from a cruise on the West Coast of Africa six weeks after the tragedy, Dick promptly expressed the opinion that his brother had been "murdered."

In his statement today, he modified that stand, saying the fatal shooting "might have been an accident."

"Probably the whole truth of what happened that night at Reynolda will never be known," he said.

Smith was shot through the head on a sleeping porch at Reynolda, the family estate here, early on July 6, a short time after the dispersal of guests at a birthday party. Mrs. Reynolds was on the sleeping porch at the time.

The death was at first recorded as an accident, but a coroner's jury blamed it on "unknown parties," and August 4 Mrs. Reynolds and young Walker, 19-year-old chum and secretary of Smith, were indicted on murder charges.

They were granted bond of $25,000

Paroled Convict Asks Readmission to Prison

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP) Robert Lake, 39, walked up to the gate of Sing Sing prison tonight and asked Thomas Keely, assistant principal keeper, to let him in.

"I haven't a job," he said, "and I have only $1.70."

Authorities looked up his record and found he had been paroled after serving four months of a 10-year sentence for grand larceny, so they admitted him.

If Lake refuses to accept the parole, they said, he may stay for the full 10 years.

John Strickland Shot to Death at Disused Whisky Still Near Chipley. No Arrests Planned.

GREENVILLE, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP) A 60-year-old farmer was shot to death at a whisky still near Chipley, Ga., today after a clash with a group of prohibition agents and other officers.

The farmer, John Strickland, member of a well-known Meriwether county family, fell dead in his tracks with four bullet wounds. Officers said he was armed with a rifle. Another man, identified by Sheriff Jake Jarrell on information given him by other officers, as Pat Brooks, a farmer, was reported as having run when the officers appeared.

Sheriff Jake Jarrell, of Meriwether county, said J. E. Hancock, prohibition agent of Columbus, Ga., telephoned him after the shooting and said he was "ready to give himself up" if the sheriff wanted him.

The sheriff said that Hancock would not be arrested unless some one swore out a warrant against him, and that two brothers of Strickland had not expressed any intention of doing so.

Jarrel related the story of the shooting as given to him by officers and others.

"Hancock, Sheriff William Spence, of Harris county; Miles Dillard, also a prohibition agent who lives at Columbus, a Columbus policeman and several other officers went to the place, about one mile from Chipley, last night," Jarrell said.

"They told me they waited there all night until 10 o'clock this morning, to see if anybody would turn up at the still. They were hidden in a gulley, about 50 yards from the still.

"Two men came up. One of them was John Strickland, and the other man, said to be Pat Brooks. Strickland carried a rifle and the other a shotgun.

EARLY GIFTS SPUR CHEST SOLICITORS

Optimistic Reports by Committee Heads Augur Success of Drive.

With advance gift solicitation well on the way to completion, leaders in the drive to raise $500,000 for the Community Chest met at Rich's tea room Wednesday for reports from committee leaders which indicated that the pre-drive response augurs enthusiastic co-operation on the part of Atlanta citizens when field workers begin the drive among individual subscribers next week.

A special note of optimism was sounded by A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, who said that organized labor was "stronger behind the Chest this year than ever before," and that he believes every employed union man in the city will subscribe to the Chest fund.

Enthusiastic and confident, the leaders reported to Frank H. Neely, president of the Chest, subscriptions in excess of those in hand at the same period last year. Only a small percentage of the subscription cards are

New Democratic Board Pledges Support to Roosevelt, Talmadge

MOTHER, INFANT KILLED IN CRASH

Mrs. C. W. Lance and Baby Daughter Victims of Red Oak Collision.

Mrs. C. W. Lance, 32, of Fairburn, and her 3-month-old daughter, Dorothy Ruth, were killed Wednesday morning when an automobile driven by C. W. Lance, the husband and father, collided with a car driven by J. H. Steedman, of Clayton, Ala., on the Fairburn highway near Red Oak, according to county police reports.

Lance was seriously injured and was in a critical condition Wednesday night at Grady hospital. Herman McCain, of Fairburn, a passenger in the Lance car, also was injured. Lance was driving his wife to Grady hospital for treatment in the out-patient clinic when the accident occurred, it was said.

County policemen who investigated made no case, it was said. Both machines were badly damaged.

Mrs. Lance is survived by her husband; a daughter, Lula Mae Lance; a stepdaughter, Trilba Lance, and three sons, James, Frank and Walter Lance.

The bodies were removed to the funeral parlors of Bishop & Poe, Fairburn, pending funeral arrangements.

Preacher-Planter Guilty of Murder

ENTERPRISE, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP) J. F. Miller, 56-year-old preacher and planter, was convicted of murdering Albert Carroll, a tenant farmer, in an argument over a peanut crop and a life prison sentence recommended here yesterday.

New Democratic Committee Organizes, Cheers Talmadge

Organizing in harmony and with dispatch, the new state democratic executive committee at its first meeting here Tuesday pledged its complete effort to bring about a record-breaking majority for the party's national ticket next month and to work unceasingly for success of the forthcoming administration of Governor-designate Eugene Talmadge.

Cheering practically every sentence of Governor-designate Talmadge, as well as receiving with enthusiasm the addresses of other leaders of the party in Georgia, the committee at its session at the Piedmont hotel went on record as being unqualifiedly behind Talmadge and assured him and his assistants in the state government that efforts will be made in each of the 159 counties of the state to win public approval for his contemplated projects.

The report of the newly appointed contest committee was approved unanimously at an afternoon session none of the contestants carrying his fight to the floor.

The contested seat in the legislature from Berrien county was awarded to J. Henry Gaskins, who contested with Judge Jonathan P. Knight, while the seat from Bleckley county was awarded to L. D. Rhodes, the contest of W. V. Parramore being rejected.

The committee disallowed a "protest" against the election of A. J. Tuten as senator from the forty-sixth district.

The other contest for a seat in the legislature was dropped when Joe P. Brown, of Greene county, withdrew his opposition to the nomination of B. W. Boyd.

Three other contests, against the Catoosa board of county commissioners, the committee of Laurens

CAPONE'S HEARING DELAYED A MONTH

Case Moved Up to Week of November 14; Attorneys Leave for Homes.

(Picture in Page 11)

The fight of Al Capone, former chief gangster and one-time public enemy No. 1 of Chicago, for a shorter term in the Atlanta federal penitentiary Wednesday struck a temporary snag as trial of another case caused postponement of the Capone habeas corpus hearing for nearly a month.

The Capone case was to have been reached today, but trial of Dr. W. A. Starnes, of DeKalb county, will require at least two more days in federal court, and Judge E. Marvin Underwood set the Capone hearing over to the week of November 14.

Assistant Attorney-General A. G Youngquist, of Washington, and District Attorney Dwight Green, of Chicago, left the city for their homes at noon Wednesday, and Capone's attorneys, William E. Leahy and William J. Hughes Jr., of Washington, left Atlanta Wednesday afternoon.

Attorney Hughes said that he found Capone in good spirits and optimistic over his chances of winning the fight. Capone showed less interest in what he will wear when the trial comes up, and more interest in legal phases of the court action, Hughes said. Capone is prepared to put up a stiff battle for his liberty, the attorneys said.

Capone is serving 11 years for violation of the income tax law in 1926, 1927 and 1928. He contends that his sentence should be reduced to three-and-a-half years because of the statute of limitations.

FORD COMMENDS HOOVER SERVICE

Manufacturer Calls for Immediate Settlement of Money Problem.

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Henry Ford said in a radio campaign address tonight that "if Herbert Hoover were a democrat, with his record during the last four years, I should have to support him."

"Mr. Hoover," he said, "is carrying a greater burden than Abraham Lincoln carried—and he is carrying it in a way that places him beside Lincoln in sacrificial service."

Disavowing any intention of making a "party speech," Mr. Ford said, "I suppose I am like most Americans—we never bother about politics until it means something to us. Party politics have never meant anything to me, and they mean nothing to me tonight."

The automobile manufacturer spoke from the engineering laboratory building of the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn. He was introduced by Governor Wilber M. Brucker, republican candidate for re-election, to whom he also gave his support.

He said that "every act of the president has been in the interest of employment;" that he "kept his head when others lost theirs," and that "no act of his has been dictated by panic or politics."

"And the result," he continued, "is that we are now beginning to feel the lifting power of his well-thought-out program."

Ford said "the next big job is to improve the money system. I would like to see it done by a man of prac-

LAFOLLETTES BACK DEMOCRAT TICKET

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., progressive republican, issued a statement today advocating the election of the democratic presidential nominee, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He also advocated the election of democratic state candidates.

Senator La Follette said that while he had "no illusions about either of the two old political parties," he felt that progressives of both parties could expect some co-operation from Roosevelt but none at all from President Hoover. The republican candidates for governor and senator in Wisconsin, he charged, attained victory through a "slush fund" and by employing "tactics taken from the book of Samuel Insull."

The La Follette statement placed

Puryear Is Acquitted In Ax Slaying Case

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Stanley A. Puryear was acquitted by a criminal court jury late today of a murder charge growing out of the ax murders of his wife and daughter.

The 38-year-old used car dealer was tried on an indictment charging him with slaying Will Jamison, a negro, to "cover up" the killing of his wife and daughter. He is still under indictment on charges of slaying Mrs. Puryear and eight-year-old Aurelia Puryear.

Pittsburgh Triplets Named for Roosevelt

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19.—(UP)—Triplets, born here a few hours before Governor Franklin Delano Roosevelt's arrival today, were named after the democratic presidential nominee.

Governor Roosevelt, learning the children had been named for him, expressed his pleasure when he arrived here tonight from Wheeling.

The father of the children, James Henry, 36, is a supporter of the New York governor. He named his two sons, Franklin and Roosevelt Henry, while the third, a girl, was named Dela—adapted from Roosevelt's middle name.

AL SMITH SOUNDS DEMOCRATIC CALL TO AID ROOSEVELT

'Happy Warrior' Pleads for Election of National, State and City Democratic Tickets.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.

TAMMANY HALL, NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith told fellow members of Tammany Hall tonight he knew the loyalty and devotion "of the great democratic organization of this city will be exerted to the last degree in favor of the election of Roosevelt and Garner."

With the smile that won him the sobriquet of the "Happy Warrior," Smith said "the brightest star guiding us into a harbor and haven of repose is complete and full democratic victory in November."

He devoted most of his 45-minute address to a discussion of state and city issues, explaining he would talk of national issues in a speech in Newark, N. J., Monday night, and at the "windup of the campaign" in New York city just before the election.

"Complete victory in the nation," he said early in his address, "is necessary to the carrying out of the party declarations of principle. . . ."

Cheers that had greeted previous speakers' mention of Governor Roosevelt's name echoed through the Tammany wigwam as Smith referred directly to the man he had fought for the presidential nomination at Chicago.

"I have been privileged in the past—and from a democratic standpoint I think the leaders of the party will still extend me the privilege of speaking on behalf of the rank and file of our great party in this city—to know the loyalty, the devotion of the great democratic organization of this city will be exerted to the last degree in favor of the election of Roosevelt and Garner."

It was many seconds before Smith could continue his address.

In winding up his speech, he said: "The whole world today, not only New York city alone, New York state or the United States, but the whole world is being chastened by the fire of adversity, by the paralysis of busi-

RICHBERG AFFIRMS NORRIS' CHARGES

Doak Denies Suggesting Federal Judgeship to Rail Attorney.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Senator Noris' assertion that Secretary Doak suggested a federal judgeship for Donald R. Richberg, railroad labor attorney, during discussion of a compromise on the anti-injunction bill was denied today by the cabinet member, reiterated by Norris and affirmed by Richberg.

Doak called the Nebraska senator "a professional character assassin." He termed the allegation "utterly false" and said "there was even no circumstance in connection with any of our conferences upon which any such statement could have been based."

Richberg, in Topeka, Kan., said Norris' assertions were "absolutely accurate." He added:

"As a matter of fact, I told Senator Norris the facts at the time they occurred and since then have confirmed them in a memorandum to him.

'Shipwreck Politics' Scored By Group of Leading Writers

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Richard Washburn Child, former republican diplomat, writer and chairman of the republicans-for-Roosevelt league, has made public a protest of nationally known educators and publicists of both parties sent to the democratic and republican national committees and condemning what Child described as "shipwreck politics."

The protest, Child said, was presented by Lothrop Stoddard, lecturer and author, and read:

"Though we are adherents to both large political parties, we are Americans first.

"No blow will be struck at the safety of our national life no matter which of the leading candidates for the presidency is elected.

"We deplore and denounce political tactics sapping, for political purposes, the confidence of the nation, predicting evil, preaching disaster, injuring American reputation and credit abroad.

"As Americans first, we address ourselves to those who would conjure up fright during a campaign so that large masses of our population will regard the election of a president as a signal for depression.

"The nation will have confidence no matter who is elected. Political expediency to shake it is despicable"

BEER TAX IS SEEN AS SOUND METHOD TO RAISE REVENUE

Nominee Pledges Party To Strictest Economy and Says Bonus Must Wait Until Government Treasury Has Surplus.

WEST VIRGINIANS CHEER CANDIDATE

Roar of "Noes" Is Answer When Roosevelt Asks If Voters Fear Change of Rule.

Full Texts of Roosevelt's Addresses in Pages 2 and 3

BY W. B. RAGSDALE.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP)—In a speech assailing fiscal policies of the republican administration and pledging himself to a program of governmental economy, Franklin D. Roosevelt told thousands of persons here tonight that he did not see how a government could consider anticipating bonus payments until it had a balanced budget with cash in the treasury.

Referring to a recent declaration by Calvin Coolidge that an early word from the democratic presidential candidate on the bonus question would have steadied business, Mr. Roosevelt said his views on the subject had been given last April and had been widely quoted since then.

Repeating the April statement, the governor added: "I said, 'I do not see how as a matter of practical sense a government running behind two billion dollars annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper, but with a surplus of cash in the treasury'." Mr. Roosevelt accused the administration of "concealment and vacillation" which he said had prevented congress from balancing the budget.

While resounding cheers rolled across the field to his speaker's stand at second base, the democratic presidential candidate pointed to a beer tax as one method of avoiding new tax increases, accused the republican administration of "concealment and vacilaltion" which he said had prevented congress from balancing the budget, and said he would exact from every member of his cabinet a two-fold economy pledge.

Recites Figures on U. S. Finances.

Mr. Roosevelt recited figures from the report of governmental finances for the first quarter of this fiscal year, said a new deficit was impending and that congress would have its budget balancing work to do over at the next session of congress.

He said that "for my distinguished opponent" 1931 was the "year when all his distinctive economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together."

The governor said the unbalanced budget and the methods of financing chosen by the republican administration had drained the banks of the credit reserves that otherwise might have helped lessen the credit drouth.

A reference to Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, brought a resounding "boo" from the crowd.

The speech, marking an invasion

Leide and Youngblood Named To Manage Fox

Enrico Leide, most popular orchestra leader Atlanta has ever known, assumes a new role today. He has been appointed managing director of the Fox theater.

Directors of the Southeastern Amusement Enterprises, local organization which controls the Fox, announced the appointment of Mr. Leide as managing director and of Roy Youngblood, who was manager of the theater when it was operated by Loew's, Inc., as director of exploitation.

The appointments were made after the resignation of N. Edward Beck, former manager, was accepted. Mr. Beck, who reopened the theater after it had been dark all summer, tendered his resignation more than a week ago, but has continued in charge pending choice of his successor.

Minister's Love Verses Read As State Charges Illicit Affair

MUSKOGEE, Okla., (AP)—The love verses of a 52-year-old preacher to the pretty young Sunday school teacher he married after the death of his first wife were coupled with an officer's recital of allegedly admitted intimacies today as prosecutors pressed ahead with the Rev. S. Althea Berrie's murder trial.

Berrie, his 19-year-old wife and the large crowd of spectators listened intently to every line of the poetry.

There was an audible stir when County Attorney P. K. Oldham read one of the verses ending:

"Oh, why can't we be free."

Witnesses said the verses had been given the state by the pastor's second wife, who told them Berrie had written them to her.

Tom King, a banker, testifying as a handwriting expert, said in his opinion a "suicide note", purported to have been written by the first Mrs. Berrie was not in the woman's handwriting.

John Wolsey, former chief of police, told of questioning Berrie and his young wife after the investigation of the alleged poisoning of the first Mrs. Berrie got under way.

He testified the pastor said he met the Sunady teacher at a rooming house and that the two had been intimate from about Christmastime up until Mrs. Berrie's death last March.

"He said he loved her more than any other woman he'd ever come in contact with—long before his first wife died," Wolsey added.

Democratic Nominee Scores Leaders of Administration For Spreading False Alarms

It is fitting that I should choose Pittsburgh to sound a solemn note of warning addressed not only to the republican leaders, but also to the rank and file of American voters of all parties. There are some prices too high for the country to pay for the propaganda spread abroad in a presidential election.

That is true when as now the republican campaign management is guilty of spreading the gospel of fear.

That is true when in a desperate, futile, last-minute effort t dam the tide of popular disapproval that is steadily growing against the administration, they become alarmists and panic-breeders.

This policy of seeking to win by fear of ruin is selfish in its motive, brutal in its method and false in its premise. It is a policy that will be resented as such by men and women of all parties in every section of the land on November 8.

It is an insult to the intelligence of the voter to think that he or she can be fooled by shifting the boast of the full dinner pail made in 1928 to the threat of the continued empty dinner pail in 1932.

I assure the badly advised and fear-stricken leaders of the republican party that democrats and those of he rank and file of their own party who are properly dissatisfied with their leadership, are still American patriots and cherish in their hearts, as I do, the safety of the country, the welfare of its people and the continuance of our institutions.

So much for the note of warning.

DECLINES TO INDULGE IN MUD-SLINGING TACTICS.

What is the normal and sensible thing to do when your neighbor gets excited and starts calling you and your friends bad names over the back fence? Nothing is gained by calling him worse names or by losing one's temper. The peace of the community is best served by sitting down and quietly discussing the problems without raising one's voice. That is why I decline to answer vituperation with vituperation.

One of these problems—and a very vital one to my family and your family and the whole community—is the financial problem of making both ends meet.

I want to discuss this problem with you tonight fully. To do so sincerely I must tell the facts as they are and conceal nothing from you. It is not a pretty picture but if we know it and face it we have nothing to fear. This country is the richest and most resourceful in the world. It can and will meet successfully every problem which it faces, but it can do so only through intelligent leadership working unselfishly for the good of all people. That it has not had such leadership in its financial affairs will become obvious from the facts I shall relate to you tonight.

BUSINESS OF EVERYONE AT GOVERNMENT MERCY.

We all know that our own family credit depends in large part on the stability of the credit of the United States. And here at least is one field in which all business, big business and little business and family business and the individual's business, is at the mercy of our big government down in Washington.

Now, it is undoubtedly true that the mind of the average individual, man and woman, has been unable to keep pace in the past 10 or 12 years with the intricacies of federal financing. In the first place, what used to be analogous to an old-fashioned account book that all the family could understand, has become in Washington a maze of intricate double-entry bookeeping which only a few highly trained technical expert accountants could possibly understand.

What I should like to do is to reduce, in so far as possible, the problems of our national finances to the terms of a family budget.

Now the credit of the family depends chiefly on whether that family is living within its income. And this is so of the nation. If the nation is living within its income, its credit is good. If in some crisis it lives beyond its income for a year or two it can usually borrow temporarily on reasonable terms. But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending, extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, it is on the road to bankruptcy.

RECKLESS SPENDING FOUND IN ALL 3 GOVERNMENTS.

For over two years our federal government has experienced unprecedented deficits, in spite of increased taxes. We must not forget that there are three separate governmental spending and taxing agencies in the United States—national, state and local. Because the apparent national income seemed to have spiraled upward from about 35 billions a year in 1913 to about 90 billions in 1928, all three of our governmental units became reckless and the total spending in all three classes rose in the same period from about three billions to nearly 13 billions, or from 8 1-2 per cent of income to 14 1-2 per cent of income.

But even then we did not greatly worry. We thought we were getting rich.

"Come-easy-go-easy" was the rule. It was all very merry while it lasted, but when the crash came, we were shocked to find that while income dropped away like snow in the spring, governmental expense did not, with the result that it is estimated that in 1932 our national income will not much exceed $45,000,000,000, while our total cost of government will likely be considerably in excess of $15,000,000,000. This simply means that one-third—33 1-3 per cent—of the entire income of our people must go for the luxury of being governed.

TAX BURDEN IS BRAKE ON BUSINESS RECOVERY.

That is an impossible economic condition. Quite apart from every man's own tax assessment, that burden is a brake on any return to normal business activity. Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors because they are a burden on production and can be paid only by production. If excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, tax-sold farms, and hence in hordes of the hungry tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain. Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy, or (as now) in broad cessation of employment. There is not an unemployed man—there is not a struggling farmer—whose interest in this subject is not direct and vital.

Let me make it perfectly clear, however, that if men or women or children are starving in the United States, I regard it as a positive duty of government to raise by taxes whatever sum may be necessary to keep them from starvation.

What I am talking about are the taxes which go to the ordinary costs of conducting government and that is where the question of extravagance comes in. There can be no extravagance when starvation is in question; but extravagance does apply to the mounting budget of the federal government in Washington during these past four years.

ALL GOVERNMENT UNITS MUST SHARE THE BLAME.

The most obvious effect of extravagant government spending is, then, its burden on farm and industrial activity and, for that, nearly every government unit in the United States is to blame. But when we come to consider prodigality and extravagance in the federal government—as distinguished from state or local government—we are talking about something even more dangerous. For upon the financial stability of the United States government depends the stability of trade and employment, and of the entire banking, saving and insurance system of the country.

To make things clear—to explain the exact nature of the present condition of the federal pocketbook, I must go back to 1929.

Many people have believed the story which has been painstakingly circulated by this administration that the routine spending of our federal government has been kept on a fairly even keel during these past five years. It was, perhaps, easy to give this impression because the total outlay each year up to the emergency appropriations of this year did not increase alarmingly. But the joker in this is that total outlay includes interest and sinking fund on the public debt—a fixed charge which was declining during the days of national debt reduction and lower interest rates thereon. On the plain question of frugality of management, if we want to compare routine government outlay of 1927 with that for 1931 for example, we must subtract this so-called "debt service charge" from the total budget for both years. If we do this, we find that the expenditures for the business of government in 1927 was $2,187,000,000 and in 1931 $3,168,000,000. That, my friends, represents an increase of actual administrative spending in those four years of approximately one billion dollars, or roughly, 50 per cent; and that, I may add, is the most reckless and extravagant pace I have been able to discover in the statistical record of any peace-time government anywhere, any time.

FACT REVERSES CLAIMS OF REPUBLICAN CHIEFS.

It is an ultimate fact which is the exact reverse of the thing announced as fact by republican leaders.

Let me repeat those figures so that the whole country can get them clearly in mind. Leaving out debt service charges in both instances, the cost of carrying on the government's business was $2,187,000,000 in 1927; $3,168,000,000 in 1931—an increase in four years of one billion dollars.

That is the story of the spending side of the budget; but it is less than half of the whole appalling story.

On the income side of the budget the record is worse. Unlike other taxing agencies, the federal government does not levy a direct tax on property. Therefore, you don't have to be an expert to know that when anything happens that violently contracts sales and incomes and the prices of securities and commodities, there is sure to be a similar violent contraction on federal income and that a government charged with maintaining the financial stability of the United States under all conditions is under a very solemn duty, in such an event, to take immediate steps to avoid a deficit.

Although six weeks had elapsed since the worst economic crash in history, the federal budget of December, 1929, did not even refer to it. It estimated receipts for the year ending June 30, 1931, at 4.2 billions, actually more than they had been in the preceding year of economic fantasy—a figure which obviously could not possibly be attained without immediate return to the exaggerated speculations of 1929. The administration advised no economy. On the contrary, it proposed a reduction of taxes and it blandly remarked, "Our finances are in sound condition . . . our estimated expenditures . . . are well within our expected receipts."

REVENUE BILLION LESS THAN MELLON ESTIMATE.

Against those estimated receipts placed at 4.2 billions by Secretary Mellon, the sad fact is that actual revenue turned out to be 3.3 billions—nine hundred million dollars less than the estimate—a cool billion of overestimating.

I recite the 1929 federal incident to clarify what happened at Washington in 1930 and 1931. In December of 1930 a new budget appeared: Vast declines in every form of business activity were now crystallized and certain. The national income was in a nose-dive, and it was therefore certain that federal income was on the verge of a catastrophe. But that new budget of December, 1930, recommended neither increased taxes nor decreased expenditure, although upon that recommendation depended the credit standing of this country. The budget message of the president asserted that the deficit for 1931 would be only $180,000,000, and contained the statements: "Nor do I look with great concern upon this moderate deficit," and, "Our government finances are in a sound condition." A surplus of $30,000,000 was estimated for 1932—that is to say, the net deficit for the two years together was estimated at $150,000,000. Now at this time the president and the secretary of the treasury had plenty of experience with falling tax receipts.

The astonishing and inescapable fact is that no such results as those estimated could have been achieved without an immediate and complete business recovery from the practical paralysis then existing.

In other words, this 1930 budget cannot fairly be called an estimate at all. It was an extreme hazard on the hope of an economic miracle—a gamble, if you please—on a highly improbable assumption, a gamble with your money and mine.

SOMETHING BESIDES ERROR IN THIS KIND OF THING.

There is something much more than mere error in this kind of thing. Our people and the world are entitled to reasonable accuracy and reasonable prudence, and above all they are entitled to complete frankness. They have a right and a duty to place in retirement those who conceal realities and abuse confidence.

Remember these simple facts. On December 3, 1930, the administration of President Hoover estimated that on the following June 30 the government would have a total deficit of $180,000,000, but that during the following fiscal year, in other words on June 30, 1932, it would have had a profit of $30,000,000, thus reducing the total deficit by June 30, 1932, to $150,000,000.

Now, my friends, I am going to give you a real shock. Instead of the estimated deficit of $150,000,000, the deficit on June 30, 1932, for the two fiscal years, was three and three-quarters billion dollars.

No, I fear we cannot call this budget an estimate—nor even a fair gamble. I don't know what to call this kind of representation of that kind of fact, but the name certainly is not candor.

Nineteen thirty-one proved to be the worst year yet experienced in the depression. For my distinguished opponent it was the ye: when all his distinctive 1928 economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together.

"CALLING THE ROLL" ON REPUBLICAN ERRORS.

Let us call the roll of them.

(1) The loans to "backward and crippled countries," which he said would provide uninterrupted employment and industrial activity by expanding our export trade no longer could be made.

(2) Retaliation against his monstrous Grundy tariff against which the best economic and industrial thought in the country had stood in almost unanimous protest and against which it once more protested within the past week, and which was to cure our agriculture and maintain our industry, had begun to strangle world trade, including our own.

(3) Debtor nations (no longer sustained by our improvident loans and no longer able to export goods) were drained of gold for debts and, one by one, were forced to abandon specie payments.

(4) As a direct result of all these influences, our export markets dried up, our commodity prices slumped and our domestic business was declining at a more rapid rate than business in some of the backward and crippled countries. Unemployment also began to rise here in even greater proportions than in Europe.

To top this ruin of all these seductive 1928 theories (which were to bring the millenium of abolished poverty) came the complete collapse of the 1929 and 1930 administration fiscal policy.

The truth about the shattering effect of all these homing heresies began to leak out as the summer of 1931 advanced. It is my opinion that in the conduct of national finances, as in the conduct of corporation finances, or family budgets, if things are not going as well as one had hoped, it is far better to face the truth than to try to hide it. That is why it was far more harmful to the nation last autumn, and all through this year, to have the facts leak out than it would have been to have had them boldly and frankly disclosed to us when they were actually happening.

BASIS OF CONFIDENCE IMPAIRED BY MISTAKES.

My friends, the result of such a combination of disquieting revelations was inevitable. The very basis of confidence in our economic and financial structure both here and abroad was impaired. A fresh wave of liquidation ensued. Foreigners "took gold back to their now shattered "backward and crippled countries"—until a cool billion had been drawn from our reserves. It was the Stygian climax to the black business year of 1931.

I emphasize this history because our opponents have now become almost frantic in their insistence that this entire sequence originated abroad—that no American policy was in the least to blame, and that to say otherwise is what they call "hideous misrepresentation." The "foreign cause" alibi is like ascribing measles to its spots rather than to its characteristic germs.

No, we need not look abroad for scapegoats. We had ventured into the economic stratosphere on the wings of Mr. Hoover's novel, radical and unorthodox economic theories of 1928—the complete collapse of which brought the real crash in 1931. The Grundy tariff accentuated the drop. As hard reality rushed up to meet our fall, this administration did not see fit to adapt its fiscal policies to this inevitable consequence. It is a responsibility which no campaign alibi can avert, and today the day of reckoning is here.

REPUBLICANS PROTESTING ASSESSMENT OF BLAME.

The recent administration strategy in this campaign is a direct appeal to public sympathy for their agony of spirit in the dark hours of 1931-1932, when retribution for our chasing after strange economic gods overtook us. They protest against any assessment of just blame. But they protest in vain.

I want to say, with all sincerity, that I recite this record with reluctance. No man with a spark of humanity can fail to sympathize with our responsible leaders in hours of crisis. Politics or no politics, I pay my tribute to the devotion of the president. It is not true to say that he has not been unremitting in his efforts and I for one have never heard it said. But I do indict his administration for wrong action, for delayed action, and for lack of frankness and courage. Before the administration partisans complain of this arraignment, they must remember that the American people are now about to exercise their democratic right of self-determination of their own fate and future. They must make a choice. The administration's appeal for sympathy is not based on any frank acknowledgement of the failure of the policies so clearly portrayed by these tragic events. It is, on the contrary, a denial that these principles have failed. Indeed, it persists in the same course and even presumes to ask admiration for the stubborn ruggedness of that persistence.

SPEAKER SEES DUTY IN BARING G. O. P. ERRORS.

In such circumstances I shoud fail utterly in my duty to the American people if I did not fearlessly portray these errors and link them directly to the havoc which they have brought and which they threaten to continue.

The autumn of 1931 witnessed, then, the complete wreckage of the administration program to that date—the collapse of its entire economic philosophy. The convening of the 72d congress last December marked a new phase. The president appeared with his December, 1931, budget message. That was a fateful moment. That was the time for an honest demonstration to the world that might have set the whole world trend of economic events in an upward direction or at least checked the decline. All that it was necessary to do was finally to end the two years of vacillation and secretiveness—to tell the truth to the congress of the United States—to rely on it to balance the budget and establish American credit in the eyes of all the world.

This administration specifically acknowledged the necessity for that. It said it was going to balance the budget. Then it said it was balancing the budget, and finally, it said it had balanced the budget, and now, months later, it insists that because it has balanced the budget, it has saved the Gibraltar of world stability and prevented the overthrow of our form of government. If all this is true the administration has done well. If it is not true, then the administration stands convicted of a new and fatal trifling with the welfare of our people and the credit of our country.

QUOTATIONS TAKEN FROM TREASURY STATEMENT.

Let us not waste words. I now quote from the daily treasury statement at the end of the first quarter of the current fiscal year, made three weeks ago, on September 30, 1932:

For the corresponding quarter of last year the deficit was only $380,495,584, but at the end of the year it was $2,885,000,000. There is therefore strong indication that we are in for another staggering deficit. If the present rate continues, the true deficit as of June 30 next year will be over $1,600,000,000; not as large as it was in the unprecedented fiscal year of 1932, but so great that it makes us catch our breath.

I regret to say that the appeal of this administration for applause for its soundness and courage last winter is simply not based on facts. The budget is not balanced and the whole job must be done over again in the next session of congress. Who is to blame for this new blunder? I cannot answer that question better than to refer you to the dispassionate review of the last session of congress, made last Friday by my running mate, the speaker of the house, John Garner.

CONCEALMENT, VACILLATION LAID TO REPUBLICANS.

No one who will take the trouble to read that speech will doubt that the patriotic determination of a willing congress to balance this budget at any cost was frustrated by the same kind of concealment and vacillation that produced the staggering deficits of the years ending June 30, 1931, and 1932. It is very clear that, under repeated insistence that the budget was being balanced, congress gave our treasury—without hesitation or limit—every cent of revenue it asked for and that, at the end, the administration assured congress and the country that the task had been accomplished.

I have already shown how unreliable these constant assurances are. It is not seemly to conjecture motives but I think it is fair to say the whole record of administration policy in the last four years reveals that it has been afraid to trust the people of the United States with the true facts about their affairs. That is a fundamental error which shows unfamiliarity with the true basis of American character.

While the president claims that he did finally recommend new taxes, I fear that this courage came two years too late and in far too scanty measure. It explains "prosperity around the corner." It explains two complete concealments of deficits and the insufficiency of the action taken last winter. It is an error of weakness and an error which I assure you I shall not make.

DOUBLE EVIL SEEN IN FEDERAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

Our federal extravagance and improvidence bears a double evil: First, our people and our business cannot carry its excessive burdens of taxation; second, our credit structure is impaired by the unorthodox federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of these deficits. The latter is the more technical but to my mind the more immediately dangerous evil and at the risk of being tedious to many of my audience, I want to ask their indulgence while I talk, for a moment, straight to our financiers.

Instead of financing the billion-dollar deficit of 1931 in the regular way, our government simply absorbed that much of the lending capacity of banks and by so much impaired the credit available for business. In that year the amount of government obligations held by our banks increased by a little more than one billion dollars.

You know as well as I do that this administration's claims that it has provided credit for industry and agriculture by pouring credit into banks are not frank. Commercial credit has continuously contracted and is contracting now. Most of this new government-created credit has been taken to finance the government's continuing deficits.

DEFICITS BEING FINANCED BY BANKS OF NATION.

The truth is that our banks are financing these stupendous deficits and that the burden is absorbing their resources. All this is highly undesirable and wholly unnecessary. It arises from one cause only and that is the unbalanced budget and the continued failure of this administration to take effective steps to balance it. If that budget had been fully and honestly balanced in 1930, as it could have been, some of the 1931 collapse would have been avoided. Even if it had been balanced in 1931, as it could have been, much of the extreme dip in 1932 would have been obviated. Our financial men know the unnecessary muddle that has accumulated and is still accumulating in Washington.

Now how can we continue to countenance such a condition? In all conscience, can an administration which has so frequently failed in a matter so directly touching your own responsibilities ask for your support and trifle with your common sense by these campaign alibis about mysterious foreign forces and this specious talk about sound fiscal policies and administration? Would it not be infinitely better to clear this whole subject of obscurity—to present the facts squarely to the congress and the people of the United States and secure the one sound foundation of permanent economic recovery—a complete and honest balance of the federal budget? In all earnestness I leave the answer to your common sense and judgment.

BURDEN OF MISMANAGEMENT FALLS UPON PEOPLE.

The other bad effect on this fiscal mismanagement is not at all technical. It is the burden of high cost on the backs of all our people. I can state the condition best by quoting one paragraph from a document published a week ago and signed by both Alfred E. Smith and Calvin Coolidge:

"All the costs of local, state and national government must be reduced without fear and without favor. Unless the people, through unified action, arise and take charge of their government they will find that their government has taken charge of them. Independence and liberty will be gone and the general public will find itself in a condition of servitude to an aggregation of organized and selfish minorities."

Every word of that warning is true and the first and most important and necessitous step in balancing our federal budget is to reduce expense.

The air is now full of republican death-bed repentance on the subject of economy, but we must look deeper than these eleventh-hour pronouncements. You cannot go very far with any real federal economy without a complete change of concept of what are the proper functions and limits of the federal government itself.

Perhaps we can get some glimpse of the president's underlying idea about the federal government from his 1928 speeches. He proposed, you remember, "a new thing in government." He says he "reorganized the department of commerce on a greater scale than has ever been attempted or achieved by any government in the world." In his book, "The New Day," he says, "a nation which is spending ninety billions a year can well afford a few hundred million for a workable program."

I could go on quoting for a good many minutes, but perhaps the point could be made clearer by recalling that the department of commerce went through even the heavy war strain on about 13 millions a year. When Mr. Hoover left it, it was spending 30 millions and for 1933 it is estimated it will spend 43 millions. It is now housed in what is facetiously called in Washington the "temple of fact finding," which cost the people considerably more than the capitol of the United States.

CENTRALIZATION IDEA BLAMED FOR HIGH COSTS.

That record may explain the 50 per cent increase in government overhead in four years, 1927-1931, and I am sure that the whole group of quotations reveal why you can never expect any important economy from this administration. It is committed to the idea that we ought to center control of everything in Washington as rapidly as possible. That was the idea that increased government cost by a billion in four years. Now, ever since the days of Thomas Jefferson, that has been the exact reverse of the democratic concept—which is to permit Washington to take from the states nothing more than is necessary to keep abreast of the march of our changing economic situation.

In the latter philosophy and not in the philosophy of Mr. Hoover (which I think is responsible for so much of our trouble) I shall approach the problem of carrying out the plain precept of our party, which is to reduce the cost of the current federal government operations by 25 per cent.

Of course that means a complete realignment of the unprecedented bureaucracy that has assembled in Washington in the past four years. I am no stranger to Washington. I knew it as first-hand during the administrations of Theodore Roosevelt and William H. Taft. I served in Washington for seven and a half years during the Wilson administration. I have some familiarity with the psychology of the administration of the national government. More than that, I have conducted for four years the administrative and executive affairs and the policies of a state that has 13,000,000 inhabitants.

Now, I am going to disclose to you a definite personal conclusion which I adopted the day after I was nominated in Chicago. Here it is: Before any man enters my cabinet he must give me a twofold pledge of—

1. Absolute loyalty to the democratic platform and especially to its economy plank.

2. Complete co-operation with me looking to economy and reorganization in his department.

I regard reduction in federal spending as one of the most important issues of this campaign. In my opinion it is the most direct and effective contribution that government can make to business.

REITERATES ATTITUDE ON BONUS QUESTION.

In accordance with this fundamental policy it is equally necessary to eliminate from federal budget-making during this emergency all new items except such as relate to direct relief of unemployment.

As a part of this phase of the problem I note that former President Coolidge is reported as having said in a speech in New York city:

"An early and timely word from the democratic candidate for president that he would reject the proposal to increase the national debt by $2,300,000,000 to pay a bonus would have been a great encouragement to business, reduced unemployment and guaranteed the integrity of the national credit. While he remained silent, economic recovery was measurably impeded."

That charge is baseless and absurd for the reason that last April my views on the subject were widely published and have been subsequently frequently quoted. I said:

"I do not see how, as a matter of practical sense, a government running behind two billion dollars annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper but with a surplus of cash in the treasury."

No one, for political purposes or otherwise, has the right in the absence of explicit statement from me to assume that my views have changed. They have not. So much for another effort by republican leaders to preach an unwarranted gospel of fear and panic to the American electorate.

I have sought to make two things clear: First, that we can make savings by reorganization of existing departments, by eliminating functions, by abolishing many of the innumerable boards and commissions which over a long period of years have grown up as excrescences on the regular system. These savings can properly be made to total many hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

Secondly, I hope that it will not be necessary to increase the present scale of taxes, and I call definite attention to the fact that as soon as the democratic platform pledge is enacted into legislation modifying the Volstead act, a source of new revenue amounting to several hundred millions of dollars a year will be made available toward the balancing of the budget.

I refer specifically to a federal tax on beer which would be raised through the sale of beer in those states and those states only which by state law allow the sale of beer. At the same time I reiterate the simple language of the democratic platform which opposes the return of the saloon, as follows:

"We urge the enactment of such measures by the several states as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the state."

URGES BALANCED BUDGET, BUT RELIEF COMES FIRST.

The above two categorical statements are aimed at a definite balancing of the budget. At the same time, if starvation and dire need on the part of any of our citizens make necessary the appropriation of additional funds which would keep the budget out of balance, I shall not hesitate to tell the American people the full truth and recommend to them the expenditure of this additional amount.

My friends, these have been unhealthy years for prophets and I hasten to disclaim that role. But one thing I know. A powerful cause contributing to economic disaster has been this inexcusable fiscal administration and the obscurity and uncertainty that has attended and grown out of it. There it remains for all to see—a veritable cancer in the body politic and economic. Is it prophecy to assure you that if we remove this destructive growth we shall move on to better things?

To my mind this is so plain and persuasive as scarcely to be open to argument. As I said in the beginning, this is the one field in which business is wholly in the grip of government.

By the same token, it is the one field where government can make the greatest possible present contribution to recovery. To this contribution I here pledge the utmost of my faith and my ability. I am as certain as mortal man can be certain of anything in the future that from the moment that we set our hands openly and frankly and courageously to this problem, we shall have reached the end of our long, hard, downward road and shall have started on the upward trail. We shall have built for economic recovery a firm footing, on a path broad, true and straight. Join me and "let's go!"

Stronger than He Was at Twenty

FIFTY-FIVE years old, and still going strong!

Do you want the secret of such vitality? It isn't what you eat, or any tonic you take. It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulant.

A famous doctor discovered the way to stimulate a sluggish system to new energy. It brings fresh vigor to every organ. Being a physician's prescription, it's quite harmless. Tell your druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Get the benefit of its fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and that pure pepsin. Get that lazy liver to work, those stagnant bowels into action. Get rid of waste matter that is slow poison so long as it is permitted to remain in the system.

The new energy men and women feel before one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin has been used up is proof of how much the system needs this help.

Get a bottle of this delicious syrup and let it end that constant worry about the condition of the bowels. Spare the children those bilious days that make them miserable. Save your household from the use of cathartics which lead to chronic constipation. And guard against auto-intoxication as you grow older.

Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin is such a well known preparation you can get it wherever drugs are sold and it isn't expensive.

Text of Roosevelt Address At Wheeling, West Virginia

We are now in the closing stages of no ordinary campaign. And I come to the great state of West Virginia to speak to you who have reason to know the conditions which face our citizens and to speak to you frankly and in a straightforward manner concerning the reasons which have brought these conditions about, and the steps that we must take to effect their cure. We are not faced merely with a choice of a change of administration. We have now to make a choice between a nation with hope for economic order and individual prosperity on the one hand, or a country allowed to drift under the present temporizing type of administrative leadership.

You have had placed before you the specter of fear by the republican candidate and the republican speakers. You have been told that things might have been worse, and will be worse if I am elected to office. But I say to you, "Yes, things might have been worse; indeed we might all of us have been destroyed. But on the other hand remember that things might have been better, should have been better, and will begin to get better with a change of administration on the fourth of March."

TO G. O. P. CHIEFTAINS. LITTLE CREDIT DUE

To attempt to instill panic into the electorate at a time when we must all have courage and a firm belief that the American characteristic of finding answers to problems will bring us back on the upward trail is a method of campaigning which does little credit to leaders still at this time entrusted with the welfare of the United States.

We may well ask he question: "Are you afraid of a change?" Certainly in the light of three years of almost complete inaction by republican leadership—three years in which little constructive action of any kind was taken—would almost be sufficient to have us give the answer, "no, we are not afraid of a change."

But further than that, I would remind you of two very interesting facts. First, things might have been worse if it had not been for the establishment in the Wilson administration of what we call the federal reserve system. Had there been no federal reserve system the collapse would indeed have been complete. And that system was the product of a democrat—Carter Glass—and that system became law only after the most bitter opposition from the republican leaders—now Mr. Hoover's associates.

DEMOCRATIC WISDOM SHOWN IN OPPOSITION.

How wise were those democrats who fought for that measure! To them today should go most of the credit when we say that things might have been worse. And, may I add, how much better off would our nation be today if the original purposes and principles of that system had been followed by republican presidents.

And secondly, it has been said that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which, by the way, is as much a democratic measure as a republican measure—for it was passed in the spirit of bi-partisan co-operation in the congress of the United States—is another thing which has saved the financial structure of the country. But again, this measure was not due to the creative genius of republican leadership, for it was during the period of the democratic administration that there was established the War Finance Corporation, and it is essentially the principles of that War Finance Corporation which have been re-established at this new period of crisis.

Thus we may fairly say that the two things which have saved things from being worse—the federal reserve system and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—are both the result of the constructive foresight of the democratic party and its leaders.

NEVER MADE OBJECTION TO FORMATION OF R. F. C.

And just for the sake of the record—to get it straight for future historians, let me make this clear: I have not at its inception or at any time since, criticized or objected to the establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation any more than I have the federal reserve system. The point is that it is not that the republican administration established that agency—it is how it used that agency. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has performed many excellent services in extending credit to banks and other institutions, but it is the fact, which I established last spring, and which the record of the subsequent months has disclosed that I was right in saying that only a small portion of the actual credits advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has trickled down—seeped through—to the individual, to the worker and the farmer and the man without a job—or, for that matter, to the small businessman himself.

As in the case of the federal reserve system, the fundamental purposes and principles of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have not been carried out by the present administration in Washington.

I believe that we are ready for a change—a change which will put into practice the lessons which we have had to learn through our trials and troubles. The lesson of interdependence—the simple fact that no part of the country is safe while any part is in want, that the worker is less likely to have a job whenever the farmer cannot get a decent price for his crop, that the bank is not safe whenever irresponsible financiers sell pyramided or watered securities. These are a few of the lessons that call for new leadership.

NATION CANNOT ENDURE HALF BOOM AND HALF BROKE.

As I have said before, this nation cannot endure "half boom and half broke." The Hoover administration forgot these facts; encouraged speculators; strangled foreign markets by indefensible tariffs, and accomplished nothing for agricultural communities, depressed already to the lowest point in modern history.

I have studied these problems. I have made a trip through every section of the United States in order to familiarize myself by a face to face and intimate contact with the varying problems of each community and section.

I have proposed a series of plans dealing with this tremendous group of problems. I have suggested a program for the rehabilitation of agriculture—a program for placing the great transportation system of railroads on their feet and operating them so as to assure the financial obligations of the greater number of these carriers whose holders represent every group in the community.

I have outlined my purpose to curb the financial excesses and exploitations which in the last 12 years have thrown to waste so much of the hard-earned savings of our citizens. I have advanced a definite program for the fair control of public utility and power service. I have advocated a lowering of tariffs by negotiation with foreign countries. But I have not advocated, and I will never advocate, a tariff policy which will withdraw protection from American workers against those countries which employ cheap labor or who operate under a standard of living which is lower than that of our own great laboring groups. You have been told by my opponent that the democratic tariff policy will result in the further loss of American trade with foreign countries. But I call to your attention that we now have a strangulation of that very trade under the tariff system of unsystematic and unscientific tariff walls set up by the log-rolling that created the Grundy tariff.

DEMOCRATIC PROGRAM IS A PRACTICAL ONE.

The democratic program is practical and I pledge to you that it will be carried out with speed and dispatch.

Tonight in Pittsburgh I shall outline another cause which under republican leadership has had a major effect upon our present condition and I shall once more explain a workable program to remedy that situation. I shall continue in this campaign to be constructive and to state my position on the great issues which face our government. My first thought is that government exists for individual men and women and that its first objective is to promote their happiness and well-being. It must carry out economic reforms, not solely for the sake of the railroads or for agriculture, or for banks or for industry, but for the people who work and use those railroads, for the farmers, and their families, for the bank depositors, for consumers and for workers. Unless they prosper the nation falters. I seek a sound administration but I seek a humane administration. To me government is not a machine driven by technicians, but a human, sympathetic and responsive institution. I refuse to believe that the people of the nation can be made to fear false bogies. The choice is deeper than that. It is indeed one between restored order and dangerous drift, between constructive planning and the forces of mismanagement.

If this nation wants to know what is wrong with its national government, I will give them the answer in one word: That word is "mismanagement."

I am on the side of courage, with a united and a liberal purpose, with a program worthy of the task before us. I ask your support that America may have a chance to go forward. Of the result I have no fear.

Memorial Announced.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A memorial program in the Washington cathedral for Woodrow Wilson and "all those who have laid down their lives for their country" was announced today by Bishop James E. Freeman for Armistice Day, November 11.

Charge of Commercialism Hurled in Mission Survey

Report on Far Eastern Work Assails Subsidies by Home Institutions to Foreign Units.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The appraisal commission sent to the far east by seven Protestant denominations which donate $15,000,000 annually to mission work reported today that its survey showed subsidy of mission churches by home churches had introduced "an element of commercialism into the very inner courts of the church."

Today's report was one of a series being issued by the commission on its findings concerning mission conditions in China, Japan, India and Burma.

"It is doubtful whether any single thing," it read, "has brought weakness in life and morale to the missionary church to the same extent that the payment of foreign subsidies has done.

"It has introduced an element of commercialism into the very inner courts of the church.

"It has tended to produce parasites, it has cut the nerve of forward moving adventure on the part of those who should have been the leaders of the indigenous church, and it has often given an undue influence to the missionaries who dispensed it."

The commission acknowledged that in "solitary cases" subsidies have been "a blessing," but it added the opinion that no church in any land will be robust and virile until it supports itself out of its own resources through its own endeavors.

"The new Christian groups will of course need an early period of nurture by leaders from near-by churches," the report continued, "and they must have visits from the officials or laymen who live within reach of their area, but when community groups begin life as organized churches they should expect to stand on their own feet."

HUNGARIAN LEADER ESCAPES ASSASSIN

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 19.—(AP)—An attempt to assassinate former Premier Stephen Bethlen was made in a law court this morning.

Count Bethlen resigned as head of the ministry last August 19, after 10 years service. He was succeeded by Count Julius Karolyi.

The would-be assassin, Louis Eskudt, private secretary to the former minister of agriculture, approached the count through the crowd in the courtroom, to which Bethlen had been called to testify as a witness.

A policeman saw Eskudt, with dagger drawn, in the nick of time, leaped on him and prevented the thrust.

The motive was reported to be a desire to satisfy a private grudge.

Stool Pigeon Barred From Federal Jury

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP) Federal authorities disclosed today Sidney F. Wogan, who has been serving as a member of the federal grand jury since last May, had been dismissed from further service by District Judge Wayne G. Borah when it became known that Wogan was employed as a prohibition informer in New Orleans.

Records showed that Wogan last month sat on the grand jury which returned more than 100 indictments for liquor law violations.

Federal officials said no further action would be taken in the case.

ROOSEVELT DRIVE AIDED IN BUCKHEAD

Suburb's 52 Merchants Join League; Membership List Growing.

Republicans might as well concede Buckhead to the democrats in the national election as the merchants of that community Wednesday went 100 per cent strong in joining the Roosevelt Business and Professional League, it was disclosed at a conference of committee workers held at headquarters, 52 North Broad street.

Charles B. Shelton, Georgia state chairman of the league, and J. Hope Tigner, in charge of the Fulton county drive, extended public congratulations to L. Marvin Roberts, chairman of the Buckhead district committee, when he turned in 52 signed membership cards. Mr. Roberts is a member of the drug firm of Wender & Roberts, Buckhead, and he told the officers Wednesday that he is not yet through turning in new members.

Enthusiastic reports were turned in by several district chairmen who reported substantial lists of new members. Among those who turned in excellent reports were Aubrey Milam, councilman-elect from the eighth ward; Deputy Sheriff J. Gordon Hardy, T. W. Fowler and A. L. Etheridge, of East Point; James L. Respess, Russell Bridges, Mrs. Eva Drew and Ben T. Huiet.

Mr. Shelton announced the appointment of J. Sid Tiller, A. Steve Nance and D. N. Goodlin as members of the executive committee of the league in Fulton county to handle labor groups.

Following is a list of Buckhead members:

Mrs. L. W. Camp, Buckhead Dry Goods Company; A. A. Stovall, C. Webb, W. G. Patrick, Barney Wallace, J. O. Smith, A. D. Holmes, J. D. Ragsdale, Buckhead theater, D. E. Pinkard, Carl A. Bueren, H. L. Mann, Robert E. Dorough, C. T. Lancaster, J. H. Nunan, Frank M. Stevens, D. P. Shuman, R. M. Dillard, W. A. Brand, C. J. Keith, B. R. Miller, John Allen, W. L. Paris, J. W. Picklesimer, W. M. Bad Weather Blocks Mrs. Roosevelt's Flight

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Bad weather which caused cancellation of air passenger service over the Alleghanies today forced Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to abandon her plan to fly from New York to Pittsburgh to catch up with her husband's special train for the campaign trip through the south. She was to have taken off at 5 p. m.

Instead of flying to Pittsburgh, she said, she will go by train to Indianapolis, leaving New York early this evening and joining the governor's party shortly before noon tomorrow.

She plans to leave the governor's party in Atlanta Sunday and fly back to New York to meet her classes again on Monday.

ADDITIONAL CURRENCY ADVOCATED BY BORAH

Idahoan Urges 'Reflation' Mortgage Refinancing, Ban on Bonus.

SHELLEY, Idaho, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah, republican, Idaho, told an audience at a "potato day" celebration here today that the government would be justified in issuing five billion dollars additional currency.

"I don't care what they call it, I am for more money," he said. "They can call it inflation; I call it common sense.

"That's something that neither one of the candidates for president in the present campaign will dare mention. They will mention it before the depression is over."

With money in hiding and credit withdrawn, Senator Borah said, the farmer cannot market his crop. He declared the issuance of more money was not inflation, but "reflation," which he described as putting the wealth back on a proper basis.

Saying the American farmer is under a load of 25 to 30 billion dollars debt, the senator declared the "country never can come back until the farmer is out of debt and he never can get out of debt under present conditions."

He urged that finance companies, insurance companies and banks be brought into agreement to refinance farm mortgages.

Admitting this is a "difficult problem," he said the "United States government has something to do with the federal land bank system.

"Has there been any liberalization in the federal land bank system? I have not been able to notice it. Federland land banks are not only foreclosing but taking every form of security they can get. There ought not to be a single foreclosure so long as the farmer is honest, until the government devises some method of raising the farmer out of his present difficulties.

"Tax on the farmers has increased during the last 15 years over 300 per cent," he continued. "We have been holding bureaus and creating commissions at Washington until we are approaching a place where the soviet government of Russia may feel envious of us."

He said the only remedy was in organized protest at the ballot boxes.

"I have been and still am opposed to what they call the bonus," he went on. "Speaking for myself and with entire respect for the brave boys who went to the front, I am opposed to payment for the $2,500,000,000 bonus as long as the United States treasury is anywhere in its present condition."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A proposal to distribute automobile windshield stickers bearing the slogan "This Ford Votes for Roosevelt" to "counteract" Henry Ford's advice to his employes to vote for President Hoover, was announced today by Jerome T. Harriman, through the National Progressive League.

"Henry Ford may be able to coerce his working men, whose wages he has several times reduced under the Hoover administration, into voting to re-elect Hoover," Harriman said, "but he cannot intimidate the Ford owners, who are much more numerous."

TEXTILE AID PLANS OFFERED BY COFFIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Howard Coffin, of the advisory commission of the war-time council of national defense, advocated before the seventh annual convention of the Cotton Textile Institute today "industrial co-operation with teeth in it" as a solution for the troubles of the cotton industry.

Citing the benefits that have come to the automotive industry since 1915 following co-operative agreements, Coffin said that "the way out of the economic doldrums of the cotton industry is even more effective and whole-hearted co-operation than has yet been directed by the industry's problems."

Coffin said that practically all sources, including President Hoover and the American Federation of Labor, have recognized the need for revision of the anti-trust laws to eliminate obstacles in the way of economic planning. He said the tendency to be suspicious of the efforts to stabilize industry has diminished considerably in recent years and he added that practically everyone recognized the necessity for planning. Coffin, however, expressed disapproval of bills pending in congress to this end, stating that they were "unsound."

Directors elected to serve three years included: Howard Baetjer, Baltimore, Md.; C. M. Bailey, Clinton, S. C.; Julius W. Cone, Greensboro, N. C.; Stuart W. Cramer, Cramerton, N. C.; J. C. Evins, Clifton, S. C.; F. B. Gordon, Columbus, Ga.; B. B. Gossett, Charlotte, N. C.; George Lanier, Langdale, Ala.; John A. Law, Spartanburg, S. C.; K. P. Lewis, West Durham, N. C.; George P. Ray, Danville, Va.; J. H. Separk, Gastonia, N. C., and W. J. Vereen, Moultrie, Ga. J. A. Miller, Atlanta, Ga., was elected to a one-year term as a director.

Deputy Shot to Death Halting Liquor Truck

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 19.—(AP) Melvin Brackman, 42, Miller county deputy sheriff, was shot and instantly killed and Deputy Sheriff J. C. Crain was seriously wounded tonight when they stopped a truck to search for liquor.

The shooting occurred in the Sulphur river bottoms about 30 miles from here. The two deputies had been making liquor raids for the past two days in that section and were going from Bloomburg, Texas, to Black Diamond, Ark., in the southern section of Miller county.

Lindley M. Garrison Dies in New Jersey

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Lindley M. Garrison, former vice chancellor and secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, died suddenly tonight. He was 68 years old.

Cause of death was not immediately learned.

Mr. Garrison was secretary of war from March 5, 1913 to February 10, 1916, when he resigned. He was vice chancellor in New Jersey from 1904 to 1913 when he was named a member of President Wilson's cabinet.

Mr. Garrison was born in Camden, November 28, 1864.

COMMITTEE BEATS REPEAL MEASURE IN 'BAMA SENATE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Climaxing an hour's debate, the senate temperance committee today gave an adverse report to the Mullins bill seeking to repeal Alabama's 17-year-old prohibition statute and legalize any alcoholic beverage permitted by the laws of the United States.

The motion to adverse the bill carried 4 to 2, with Senator Craft, of Mobile, joining Senator Mullins, of Tallapoosa, author of the measure, in seeking a favorable report.

Senators Bonner of Wilcox, Darden of Coosa, Brown of Russell and Hubbard of Pike, favored the adverse motion.

Speaking for 30 minutes in support of his proposal, Senator Mullins said "when prohibition was enacted in Alabama we were told it would empty our jails. Now we find our prisons and jails overflowing with men sent there largely for violation of prohibition laws.

"I believe the chances are better than 10-to-7 that congress at the next session will modify or repeal the Volstead act. If Roosevelt and Garner can lead the way, can we do less than follow?" . . .

DEBT NEGOTIATION FAVORED BY HERRIOT

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Premier Herriot was reported today to have informed the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that France's war debt to the United States is a matter for negotiation.

He made this statement, it was said, in reply to a question by Deputy Henry Haye, who asked the premier whether he expected to pay the war debt.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE STRIPED TIGER
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great animal artist, Paul Bransom... inspired by the savage ferocity of the striped tiger, known throughout the world as the terror of the jungle. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Dry Fight Two-Thirds Won Says Mrs. Marvin Williams

W. C. T. U. Leader Says Liquor Use Is Fast Decreasing in United States.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The liquor consumption curve, "steadily rising for 60 years in spite of state after having enacted prohibition laws, is now spinning downward like a spent rocket," says Mrs. Marvin Williams, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Georgia.

The union is holding its annual convention here, with sessions scheduled for Thursday and Friday also. Miss Jeannette Rankin, former congresswoman, is on the program for a speech Thursday night, while Amos W. Woodcock national prohibition director, will speak Friday night.

Addressing the convention tonight, Mrs. Williams, in the text of her address, said "the W. C. T. U. wages the battle for a clear brain on many different fronts, but none so fierce as where the opponents are cigarets, dope, whisky!"

She said the organization "stands unalterably opposed to repeal and to any referendum of repeal to a vote of the people."

Prohibition Director Amos Woodcock, she said, testified before a congressional committee that "the government has approximately estimated" the liquor consumption "in the following manner which seems accurate as is humanly possible. 'The government measured the amount of hops, barley, sugar, corn, etc., raised and imported last year in the United States, and then substracted from that amount the amount known to have been used in legal enterprises.' The remainder, he said, if all made into liquor could amount to less than one-third of the liquor consumed the last year of saloons. Two-thirds of the way from the starting point, one-third of the way from the goal, cannot be said to constitute failure," Mrs. Williams said.

She said, "We declare unequivocally that the 18th amendment has not failed and we base that contention on uncontroverted facts. The purpose of the amendment was, by making all manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages illegal, thus to reduce the consumption of alcohol to a minimum, until through processes of education and evangelism the nation should reach the ultimate goal of total abstinence." She then cited the testimony of Mr. Woodcock.

"If we are consuming only one-third as much liquor as we did before prohibition, certainly there can be nothing in wet statements that there is more drunkenness than ever before. That is self-evident.

"Of course, we have had recently a lot of news stories and editorials coming out of Atlanta and quoting the chief of police as declaring that the situation in our capital city is becoming intolerable and is fast getting completely out of hand. What can Atlanta expect when she puts the seal of her ballot approval upon a wet mayor who declares over and over that the law cannot be enforced, that the police are certain to find enforcement an impossible thing and that it should never have been the law any way? This he says of the 18th amendment. But we would remind the mayor and his wet friends that the police force of Atlanta have a primary duty in the enforcement of the bone-dry law of the state of Georgia, passed by Georgia citizens in the interest of Georgia homes. The mayor and the chief took an oath to enforce that law. Let the citizens of Atlanta demand that the mayor quit talking so much about the 18th amendment and enforce the laws of the state of Georgia. We note that the chief blames the depression with some of the lawlessness. Atlantans just haven't any money nor any jobs, so they spend a lot of money for illegal booze and get arrested! What logic! Let it be said once for all, 'prohibition enforced by prohibition officers has never yet failed!'"

She urged that prohibition be let alone "for at least a quarter of a century, that American business, American schools, American churches and the American home may speed on and on along the highway of time until we shall have left behind all carping doubt and criticism, and there shall remain only a memory of the wreck and ruin and disaster which liquor once brought.

She said the W. C. T. U. opposed repeal, "and any referendum of repeal to a vote of the people for the following important reasons:

"1. Since science has declared alcohol to be a narcotic, habit-forming poison, we hold that no government has the right to license the poisoning of its citizens, even with their consent.

"2. We hold the taxation of such a poison for revenue to be a crime. What right can a government possibly have to 'unleash the murderous instincts of its citizens' and then try and sentence them for resultant crimes?

"3. So long as our Heavenly Father and His arch-enemy, the devil, are at war on this earth, a referendum on a moral question can settle nothing."

WOODCOCK TO SPEAK IN ATLANTA SATURDAY

Amos W. W. Woodcock, Washington, national director of the prohibition bureau, will deliver an address at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Rich's tea room, it was announced Wednesday by Robert E. Mell, president of the Allied Businessmen of Atlanta, sponsors of the meeting.

Invitations have been sent to all civic club presidents and reservations can be made through John W. Crenshaw, 705 Citizens & Southern Bank building. The address will be nonpolitical in nature.

SCHOOL HEADS' GROUP TO GATHER IN MACON

Association of Superintendents To Hold Annual 2-Day Convention.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Many prominent educators of the state will meet here October 21-22 for the annual convention of the Georgia Association of Superintendents, of which H. T. Singleton, superintendent of Calhoun county schools, is president.

The theme of the meetings will be "Some Practical Problems Facing Education in Georgia."

After the welcoming ceremonies Friday morning there will be addresses by J. E. Mathis, superintendent of Americus schools and president of the Georgia Education Association; Dr. Ralph Wager, of Emory University, and Dr. George Works, University of Chicago, and director of the survey of state institutions of higher learning in Georgia.

Speakers at the afternoon session include Superintendent A. G. Cleveland, Valdosta; Mrs. Kate Brown, Henry county superintendent; W. L. Downs, state high school supervisor; Superintendent L. M. Lester, Blakely; Miss Mary Postell, of Atlanta; Superintendent John Harris, of Charlton county, and Superintendent W. J. Andrews, of Stephens county.

The visitors will be guests of Wesleyan College Friday night at a banquet and a program. Dr. William L. Poteat, president emeritus of Wake Forest University, will speak at the evening session, which also will be featured by the election of officers. J. Scott Davis, Hamilton McWhorter, Ralph Newton, of Waycross, and Mrs. Helen Gurr, Terrell county superintendent, will speak at the concluding session Saturday morning.

PROSECUTION RESTS AT TRIAL OF BANKERS

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—After three days of introducing evidence in the trial of R. O. McNair and B. M. Garrett in connection with the failure last spring of the First National Bank of Arlington, the prosecution rested its case in United States district court here this afternoon. McNair was president and Garrett vice president of the defunct institution.

Oree Cunningham, cashier of the bank, was the principal government witness today. He had pleaded guilty to two indictments charging various violations of the national banking act, including embezzlement of funds over a period of years.

There are 22 counts in the joint indictment against McNair and Garrett, charging them with misapplication of funds, making false entries, making false reports and conspiracy to violate the banking laws. Cunningham testified that McNair and Garrett acted with him in the commission of several of the acts to which he has pleaded guilty.

The defense has summoned more than 30 witnesses and will begin introduction of their testimony tomorrow morning. Trial of the case is expected to continue throughout this week.

Georgians Offer To Bet Ford, Farm to Auto, Hoover Loses

BY J. C. WILLIAMS.
Editor Greensboro (Ga.) Herald-Journal.

GREENSBORO, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP) Two young Greensboro businessmen have offered Henry Ford, auto manufacturer at Detroit, a "friendly wager" of a 201-acre Greene county farm against a Model V-8 Ford automobile that Franklin D. Roosevelt will be elected president of the United States on November 8.

The two men, Carey Williams, general manager of the Greensboro Herald-Journal, and J. B. Winslett, druggist, own jointly a farm in this county.

Their offer as sent to Mr. Ford today is as follows:

"We notice where you are interested in the re-election of President Hoover, and we would like to make the contest a little more interesting by offering as a friendly wager a 201-acre Greene county, Georgia, farm against a Model V-8 Ford that President Hoover will not be re-elected on November 8.

"In 1919, under the last democratic administration, this 201-acre tract of land was valued at $10,000. There is today approximately 250,000 feet on pine timber and 50,000 feet of hardwood timber on the place. The tenant house is in fair condition.

"In the event of President Hoover's re-election we feel that we will lose the place anyway and would much prefer you owning it than it being sold by the sheriff.

"If you are interested in such a wager, you may verify our reliability through your local Ford dealer, the Greene County Motor Company, or the Bank of Greensboro."

State Deaths And Funerals

EXTRA SESSION URGED FOR COMMON SCHOOLS

BAXLEY, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—An extra session of the legislature to provide funds for operation of common schools and payment of teachers' salaries has been asked of Governor-designate Eugene Talmadge by the Appling County Teachers' Association.

The resolution, made public by C. E. Padgett, county school superintendent, made the request for the extra session contingent upon approval at the general election of the proposed constitutional amendment which would make Talmadge's term of office begin January 1 instead of next June. The amendment also would provide for a brief session of the legislature at that time for organization and introduction of bills.

The teachers asked Talmadge himself to frame a legislative proposal which would provide the funds without levying additional taxes.

"We make this request," the resolution said, "on account of the fact that schools are now run in the rural sections for short periods of time annually, and the teachers are unable to get their pay . . . and when checks or warrants are issued they have to resort to all sorts of financing and discounting to get either trade or cash for such checks as may be given them, thereby entailing great loss to them of their small salary that they are paid."

ROME OFFICER TRIED ON MURDER CHARGE

ROME, Ga., Oct. 19.—W. N. Cochran, one of three suspended Rome policemen charged with murder in connection with the death of Cothran Warren, negro, went on trial for his life in Floyd superior court today, Judge James Maddox presiding. Cochran, with two other defendants, C. E. Warren and John Adams, demanded separate trials.

Evidence given by Mrs. T. B. Goodwin, eye-witness of the shooting, was that the officers raided a crap game in which Cothran Warren and four other negroes were participating. When the negoes fled the officers opened fire. Mrs. Goodwin testified there were three officers shooting but could not identify the one whose bullet struck the negro and inflicted the fatal wound. Robert Dean, another of the negroes who fled the game, was wounded.

The defendant, in a statement, said he did not get within 65 yards of the scene of the crap game and fired his pistol in the air not in the direction of the fleeing negroes.

The trial will be completed Thursday morning with Adams and Warren trials to follow.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE MEETS IN ELLAVILLE

ELLAVILLE, Ga., Oct. 19.—The Americus, Ga., conference of the A. M. E. church continued its session in the St. John church here today. Bishop W. A. Fountain, A. M. Ph.D., is presiding.

The following transfers were announced by the bishop: J. R. Talinferro R. H. Porter, C. H. Matherson. Bishop Johnson addressed the conference today. Winefred Johnson, of Plains, Ga., president of World Prayer Meeting Union; J. I. Lowery, W. T. Johnson, of Mississippi; J. W. Dennis, J. I. Stringer, C. C. Crouch and S. H. Rhone were introduced to conference. Dr. J. H. Hall, of Columbus, preached for conference here tonight.

YOUTH DIES OF WOUND INFLICTED IN JANUARY

Assailant Surrendered to Sheriff Early This Month in Griffin Court.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Troy Hand, 17, wounded in the back with a shotgun charge last January, died in a hospital here today.

From the time of the shooting until October 3 when he walked into the courthouse and gave himself up to Sheriff McWilliams on the opening day of the superior court term, officers had sought Edwin Bates, another youth. They said Hand was shot during a quarrel with Bates.

One shot penetrated Hand's spine. When he was first wounded physicians hoped to save his life, but for the last several months they had worked against hope. The boy's body gradually wasted away until at death he weighed less than 30 pounds.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced.

PULASKI COUNTY WINS HONOR AT MACON FAIR

MACON, Ga., Oct. 19.—A huge crowd of out-of-town visitors thronged the exhibition halls of the Georgia State Exposition Wednesday. Announcement of the awards in the county agricultural displays and the judging of the Jersey cattle show were the principal items on the day's program.

First prize in the county displays in the agricultural building went to Pulaski county, it was announced Wednesday. O. D. Hall, of Hawkinsville, is in charge of this exhibit. Second prize went to Pike county, in charge of G. H. Martin. Other prizes among these displays were as follows: Crisp county, Miss Mary McGee, Cordele, in charge, third; Spalding county, John Harlow, Griffin, in charge, fourth; Monroe county, H. G. Wiley, Forsyth, in charge, fifth, and Lamar county, F. B. White in charge, sixth.

The county displays hold the center of interest in the agricultural building. They show a comprehensive collection of farm produce and each has distinctive features.

Pulaski county, first prize winner, has a particularly impressive display showing the perfection of crops grown in that section. In one corner is shown the effect of forest fires on the naval stores industry.

Each county display has a multitude of products—fine grains, fine peppers, cotton, apples, corn, hays, dairy products, pumpkins, persimmons, eggs and a variety of other specimens.

ATHENS SECRETARY, C. D. TERRELL, PASSES

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 19.—C. D. Terrell, secretary of the Athens Chamber of Commerce, died here today. He was ill several days.

Mr. Terrell was formerly city manager at Brunswick, and was with L. W. Robert, industrial engineer, Atlanta, before coming to Athens. He has lived here about three or four years.

Mr. Terrell was a native of Newton county. He is survived by his wife and two children, C. D. Terrell Jr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson. Funeral services will be conducted in Athens at 11 o'clock Friday.

YOUTH NEAR DEATH OF GRIDIRON INJURY

WEST POINT, Ga., Oct. 19.—Willard Crowder, 17, a tenth-grade student at Langdale High school, is in serious condition at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Crowder, after injuries sustained in football practice on Monday.

Young Crowder was struck by both knees of an opposing player. That he was seriously injured was not known until early Tuesday morning when he suffered a hemorrhage. His recovery is now regarded as doubtful.

Coat Thief Offered Trade for the Pants

VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 19.—W. L. Holder, wholesale paper dealer and former member of the city council, wants to trade with a petty thief who recently stole a coat from his automobile.

The coat was a good one and Holder has two pairs of trousers belonging to the coat. He offers to either buy the coat back at a fair valuation or sell the trousers to the thief on the same basis, that the suit need not be permanently separated.

Holder, while a member of the council was chairman of the police committee, and he has made his offer to trade through police headquarters.

DR. E. R. ANTHONY SR. PASSES AT GRIFFIN

GRIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 19.—Dr. E. R. Anthony Sr., 80, died at his home here late Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Anthony was born in Greenville, Ga., and moved to Griffin 50 years ago. He was county physician for 40 years and for several years was a member of the state board of medical examiners. He was a former president of the Georgia Medical Association. He graduated at Auburn and at the University of Georgia.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Cartledge, here. Dr. J. B. Turner and Dr. Paul Watson will officiate with interment in the Griffin cemetery. Dr. Anthony is survived by three children, Mrs. Cartledge, Dr. J. R. Anthony and Dr. E. R. Anthony Jr., and by a nephew, Render Terrell, of Greenville.

ATLANTA, GA., OCT. 20, 1932.

THE GENERAL AND THE TEXAS.

Permanent preservation of the famous old engine Texas, one of the outstanding relics of the War Between the States, is made possible in the suggestion of Mayor Key that city council place title to it with the state.

The race between the Texas and the General, resulting in the capture of the federal spies which had seized the latter, was one of the most thrilling incidents of the Civil War. The daring of the federal raiders and the intrepidity of the Confederates who raced through burning bridges in their pursuit, lend undying luster to the bravery of the men of both sides.

The raid was made on the line of the state-owned Western & Atlantic railroad and both engines were its property. For many years the General has stood in the depot at Chattanooga as an everlasting memento of that historic incident, having been reconditioned by the present lessees of the state road.

It is but fitting that the other engine involved in this famous pursuit should stand at the southern end of the railroad in Atlanta. Instead it now rests in the basement of the cyclorama building at Grant park, rusting and disintegrating, and, left as it is, will soon be but a memory.

President Hill, of the N., C. & St. L., lessee of the state road, has offered to recondition the historic old engine, as was done in the case of the General, restoring it to its exact condition when it roared over the tracks from Cartersville to Ringgold in pursuit of the fleeing federals.

So restored, it would be placed in a conspicuous position in the Union depot in Atlanta, to be seen by every traveler coming to, or through, the city on trains entering that station.

No more eloquent memorial to the inspiring memories of the indefatigable determination and dauntless courage of the men on both sides of the War Between the States exists than these two historic old engines. Especially are they an undying monument to the soldiers of the Lost Cause.

Mayor Key's suggestion, if favorably acted on by council, would make it possible for one of these old engines to be placed at each end of the state-owned road, both belonging to the state but in the care of the lessees of the road.

It is a wise suggestion and it is to be hoped that council will favorably act upon it at the earliest possible date, in order that the Texas may stand, fully restored, in Atlanta, as does the General in Chattanooga, as an everlasting reminder to the present generation of the courage and devotion to principle of their forbears.

THE ATLANTIC CELEBRATES.

In many respects the 75th anniversary celebration of the Atlantic Monthly is an interesting event.

Possibly no other publication in America has presented the names of so many illustrious writers as has this magazine, whose 900 issues date back to the decade before the War Between the States.

It was launched in the famous old Parker house in Boston in 1857 at a dinner attended by James Russell Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and others whose names have been immortalized by the passage of time.

It was called into being because of the feeling that a crying need existed for a new political and literary comment periodical through which the people of the country could better acquaint themselves with the fundamental facts underlying the issues of the day.

It came into existence at a moment of great crisis and panic—a condition remarkably analogous to the present.

James Russell Lowell was named editor of the new magazine and its list of contributors in its 75 years of life reads like a cross section of the history of American literature.

In the announcement of its anniversary, the Atlantic proudly calls attention to the fact that throughout its long life it has "steadily sailed the course charted when it was launched. In its changes it has managed somehow to carry with it more intangible properties than editorial and business staffs and office furniture. The more it changes, the more it remains the same thing."

Perhaps only in the background of staid New England could such a magazine have prospered. While famous contemporary publications like Putnam's, the Century and the Knickerbocker flourished and then became silent, the Atlantic has continued on its conservative and restrained way.

HOOVER FAILS.

Few public addresses have aroused such divided comment on the part of the press as the speech of President Hoover at Cleveland Saturday night, this division extending even into the ranks of the republican newspapers of the country.

It is acclaimed by intensely partisan newspapers, such as the Chicago Tribune, the New York Herald-Tribune and the Philadelpia Public Ledger, as a masterpiece of unanswerable logic, while other less intense republican organs are frank enough to acknowledge the self-evident weakness of many of the arguments.

Democratic newspapers as a unit have, while admitting that for once the president has exhibited something in the nature of a "fighting spirit," busily engaged themselves in riddling the speech as being one in which "dangerous" issues were avoided, while many of the direct statements and claims were unsupported by facts or figures.

It is significant that the politically independent newspapers have, as a rule, taken the democratic viewpoint of the speech. The position of this group is well illustrated by the feeling of the Baltimore Sun that "the president's speech at Cleveland Saturday night had about it an air of desperation which makes one recall that famous plea for tolerance, 'Don't cheer, boys; the poor devils are dying.'"

The net result of the speech, the Sun thinks, is that "in an effort to demonstrate that he is a miserably misunderstood and maligned man, Mr. Hoover not only hurled his ammunition at his opponents in reckless disarray but, in his frenzy, managed to blow himself up completely."

The Sun takes cognizance of what it evidently feels is an improper use by the president of "abusive adjectives" and his "persistent claims of personal leadership" to which he is not entitled. It expresses, as follows, the hope that the democrats will not be disposed to reply in kind to charges about "deliberate falsehoods" and "contemptible statements:"

Rather they should take the broad view that when a man is in a box where, to justify a record, he is under the necessity of proving diametrically conflicting contentions several times in a single speech, he should be viewed with the sympathy with which any human being in torment should be visited. It may be asked, of course, why the president, in the face of a record that demonstrates that he must have been wrong very often, does not concede as much and get on from the business of arguing over and over again that "things might have been worse" to statement of some plans by which they might be better. To ask as much, however, is apparently to ask that Mr. Hoover become some one else. One of his inherent limitations seems to be an inability to conceive an error on his part.

It would seem that, from the apparent lack of effectiveness of both the Des Moines and Cleveland speeches by the president—if, indeed, they have not had the effect of actually losing votes—he would have been wise to accept the advice of those of his cabinet who fought to the last against his speech-making tour.

Certainly the republican cause was given a setback by the disproval, even by administration officials, of some of the statements he made at Des Moines, and by the fact that it gave opportunity for the sizzling attack by Senator Reed from the same platform only a few days later. Now, it would seem, the same unfortunate results for Mr. Hoover are to be expected from the Cleveland speech.

Hoover is to make another trip into the midwest; is to tour New England; is to go to California before the election, according to rumors—all based on frantic S. O. S. calls from these sections.

A bitter fight is predicted in England over the new tariff plan suggested by the Ottawa conference—and the bitter pill will be the United States'.

Fifteen minutes are declared to be long enough for a "beauty" makeup. Not in some instances—nor in 15 years.

Now that the state fair is open, Macon is said to be fair-ly crazy, so to speak.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Alarmist Rumors.

All sorts of rumors are current in France about a statement alleged to have been made by M. Herriot, the prime minister. A weekly paper called Candide published a story in its gossip column, according to which M. Herriot had made the following statement in the senate lobby, when the question of Germany's demand for the right to arm was being debated: "I do not know whether war will break out tomorrow or in six months. I shall spend every atom of my energy in the hope of saving peace, but honestly I cannot say that I do not see the war coming."

It is unfortunate that M. Herriot should not so far have taken the trouble to deny such rumors with the necessary emphasis. It is widely hoped that in one of his political speeches he will put an end to his alarmist gossip, which might easily provoke a sentiment of panic all over Europe.

Left Behind.

They seem to have showed an unusually discerning sense of moral values in Belgium by making Mme. Piccard, the wife of the world's biggest and best balloonist, a Chevalier of the Order of Leopold in recognition of the "fortitude and spirit of self-sacrifice she displayed during her husband's ascent."

Such a tribute must be rare in the history of decorations, which are generally bestowed on heroes for doing things and not on the heroes' relations for sitting patiently in the background and worrying whether the performers will ever return. The actual heroes escape all this worry; they have to be up and doing (in Professor Piccard's case 10 miles up), which is generally less distressing than sitting still and thinking. And if they do not come back, that ends the whole affair so far as the heroes are concerned; there are no regrets left for them to face.

"They also serve who only stand and wait"—and in adventures of this kind the service must be a grim enough ordeal. It seems rather creditable of the Belgian authorities to have remembered in their honors list one of the waiters as well as the illustrious performer whose aerial engagements left her 10 miles down below, says the Manchester Guardian.

I felt at the time I might be placed in a false position.

Advised of the secretary's denial, Norris said in Saginaw, Mich.:

"Certainly he would deny it. What else could he do in the face of such an accusation."

Norris, who is campaigning as an independent republican for Governor Roosevelt said in his speech last night at Cleveland that the administration had shown "unrelenting opposition" to the bill to prevent use of injunctions against strikers and accused the republicans of falsely claiming for the chief executive credit for its enactment.

He said Doak had called Richberg, who is attorney for the 21 railway unions and brotherhoods, to Washington and while discussing the legislation "suggested he might be able to exert a great deal of influence" to obtain a judgeship for the attorney.

Norris said Richberg quoted Doak as saying he was acting "on behalf and at the suggestion" of President Hoover.

"Being without the immunity which attaches to his libels when he speaks in the United States senate," Doak said in a formal statement, "Senator Norris in this instance hid behind what he claimed was a quotation from another individual, namely Mr. Richberg.

WIDOW DEMANDS FULL EXONERATION

each when Solicitor Higgins announced in open court the evidence was insufficient to warrant first degree murder charges which are, ordinarily, nonbailable in North Carolina.

Mrs. Reynolds and Walker both testified at the inquest the former's husband, 20-year-old heir to one-fourth of the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune, had threated to commit suicide.

She offered in evidence a "suicide note" and a "will," presumably written by Smith a number of years previously, in which there were references of self-destruction.

Sheriff Transou Scott, chief peace officer of Forsyth county, who refused to accept the tentative finding of suicide and continued his investigation, declined to make any comment today.

Why Risk Contact With a Frenzied Thief If the Property Isn't Yours?

By Robert Quillen

America's wars are not made by statesmen alone, but rather by public indignation and popular clamor.

Yet the indiscretion of statesmen may so irritate the people of another land as to cause unfriendly demonstrations, and these in turn may arouse our people to a frenzy of patriotism that will force the statesmen to make war.

Something of that kind is happening now, and once more our youth will be sent to the slaughter pen if our arrogant virtue persists in policing the world.

This time the victim is China and the pillaging Hun is little Japan. This time the weak must be protected from the strong because America's markets are threatened.

Observe the material of which war is made.

The Japanese, great in number but poor in resources, seized from China the vast territory of Manchuria—greater in extent and richer in resources than our middle west.

Their excuse was their need. Needing space for growth and resources for war, they coolly stole a neighbor's land in violation of treaties to which America is a party. Other excuses don't matter.

America made many protests. Officially the protests are based on the violation of treaties; actually they are inspired by the fact that Chinese territory seized by Japan will no longer afford a market for American goods.

These protests offended Japan. The Japanese are proud and sensitive—which means that they resent being an inferior race and are keenly aware of their own dishonor.

A sense of guilt makes them arrogant, touchy, suspicious, quarrelsome. Determined at any cost to keep what they have stolen, they continually protest their innocence of wrong and dare the world to interfere.

They are ripe for war. They see spies everywhere. Their papers denounce America daily. Their nerves are on edge. Thy are like a thief who sees a menace in every shadow and keeps his finger on the trigger.

Americans are scarcely aware of the danger, for their minds are on other things. But one official blunder might plunge us into war over night.

There is no need of war. The destiny of nations is not settled in a day. The menace of Japan can safely be left to China and Russia. These two will do what is necessary when the time comes.

If Americans would save their sons and their purses, they must speak softly. The best way to deal with an infuriated neighbor is to let him alone until he cools off.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

THE MINIMUM RESUSCITATION EFFORT.

By means of a modern instrument of precision, the electrocardiograph, contractions of the heart have been shown to continue in some cases as long as 30 minutes after apparent death has occurred. By apparent death we mean cessation of heart beat and breathing so far as we can detect by the ordinary methods of examination. This fact has a bearing on the occurrence of death from drowning, asphyxia, electric shock and poisoning. It has no bearing on the occurrence of natural death from disease or exhaustion.

In the state which doctors call shock, whether it be due to an accident, a great fright or other unpleasant emotion, a necessary surgical operation, or excessive bleeding from any cause, the victim is limp, pale, cold, unconscious or but feebly conscious, and has a weak, rapid running pulse and only the shallowest of breathing—the ordinary observer may believe the victim is dead. Then the doctor comes along and listens for the heart beat and applies other routine tests. The doctor, I say frankly, is sometimes terribly uncertain whether to pronounce the victim dead. Even if he decides that death has occurred, the electrocardiograph may still show the heart is still alive, contracting.

Doctors can't carry an electrocardiograph in the emergency bag. But there is no need of such a refinement, if people will adopt a reasonable rule in such emergencies. The rule is a simple one and it gives the victim a fair chance. Here is the rule:

> In every instance where artificial respiration is applied the effort must be continued without interruption for two hours unless resuscitation is accomplished sooner.

A reader reports a scandalous instance of sudden death of a house maid while using an electric cleaner. Her brutal, ignorant employers, made no attempt at resuscitation but let the victim lie where she fell on the floor till a bonton doctor arrived, and the ignorant brute pronounced her dead at sight and dismissed with a wave of his hand the idea of applying artificial respiration. If I were king of this country the maid's employers would be prosecuted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter for their failure to apply artificial respiration during every minute while waiting for the arrival of the doctor, and I would publicly strip the doctor of his license and send him for a term in the prison school for doctors guilty of unprofessional conduct.

The only way anybody can know he knows how to apply artificial respiration in the correct manner is to apply it on a volunteer subject. Any Boy Scout or Girl Scout will teach you how.

SHIPWRECK TACTICS SCORED BY WRITERS

Holmes, Richard Washburn Child, Ida M. Tarbell, Henry Bruere, Virginia C. Gildersleeve, Frederic R. Sawyer, John Erskine.

Following this protest, Child said he planned an organization to be known as the American Stability Vigilantes to spread its doctrine.

As an example of "shipwreck politics," the former ambassador to Italy and former republican said:

"A typical example of such politics is contained in the published statement of the governor of Oregon in behalf of the past administration. The governor of Oregon said that to exchange Roosevelt for Hoover leadership would 'not only defer for years the return of prosperity but might plunge the country into another crisis.'

"This is propaganda of rule or ruin. It is an insult to the judgment of the great American majority. In these times, both those who intend to support Roosevelt and those who intend to support Hoover owe it to our unemployed and suffering masses and to the United States not to use this fabricated treason to our welfare."

tical experience like Mr. Hoover." He said he "supported Woodrow Wilson because I expected he would devote himself to the improvement of the economic machinery of this country, . . . but a sudden change of events compelled him to switch all his energies toward war and international problems."

"It was the same with Mr. Hoover," he continued. "When he was elected he expected to organize the machinery of prosperity, but the sudden turn of events laid upon his shoulders the most terrible depression the world has ever known.

"Woodrow Wilson," he said, "was allowed to go ahead and carry out his program, and for the very same reason Herbert Hoover should be al-I think he will.

"He has faced the enemy for three years now; he knows all the tactics of the forces of destruction. Why bring in a new recruit and retire this seasoned leader? Especially since President Hoover has already got the massive forces of defense and recovery into action.

Hoover Asks Help.

"I have a great sympathy for Mr. Hoover. I know the size of the job he has been carrying. But he is not asking for sympathy. He is asking for help to complete his job, and I believe he is going to get it.

"I am not saying that Herbert Hoover can work miracles.

"I have known a number of presidents and I have never yet known one who could. Mr. Hoover is carrying a greater burden than Abraham Lincoln carried—and he is carrying it in a way that places him beside Lincoln in sacrificial service.

"The American people are conservative. They do not run after every new-fangled remedy. And when they do attempt to do anything radical they want to see it controlled by experience and common sense. Herbert Hoover is the very embodiment of common sense and reliability.

"There are no people in this country who know more about the depression than the automobile workers. We have felt the full force of it. I think the men engaged in the automobile industry are as intelligent as any class in the country.

Creed of Laudation.

"What do we automobile workers say? We say this:

"'Herbert Hoover cannot work miracles. But he had the opportunity to make some colossal and disastrous mistakes. He was clutched at from every side to do panic-stricken things.

"'But Mr. Hoover kept his head when others lost theirs.

"'No act of his has been dictated by panic or politics.

"'And the result is that we are now beginning to feel the lifting power of his well-thought-out program.

"'Every act of the president has been in the interest of employment.'

"That is what we are saying.

"We have a congress which comes from the people and represents the people. It usually acts for the best interests of the people. It will be necessary for the president and congress to work together during the next four years. For that reason we need good men everywhere in office. We should not forget to elect a good congress in our effort to elect a good president.

Money Question.

"The next big job is to improve the money system. I would like to see it done by a man of practical experience like Mr. Hoover.

"Congress alone is given constitutional control of our entire money system. No private financial interest should have anything to do with it. The money question is coming to the front in this country, just as certain as can be, because the money question bears directly on our present difficulty."

The money question, Mr. Ford said, "bears directly on our present difficulty. Congress did not keep its constitutional control over money. It farmed out the national money system to private hands. It would never dream of farming out naval defense, tax collection, or the postal service the same way.

Raps Private Money System.

"Congress should take back full control of money and give the United States a public money system as opposed to a private money system.

"A money system managed as our rivers and harbors are for the promotion of the people's business; managed as our postal service is—for the service of the people's business; managed as our weather service is—for the protection of the people's business. That is what we need, and that is what we may have if congress will take over the control originally delegated to it by the constitution.

"I am convinced that our money system is antiquated. . . . If Mr. Hoover, during his next four years, will give his mind to this matter, I think he will completely establish his fame as a great president.

"It is only common sense, when a man like Mr. Hoover has been educated by experience, when he has got control of the thing he is fighting, when he is beginning to show results—it is only common sense to let him finish his job."

LA FOLLETTES BACK DEMOCRAT TICKET

an official progressive "taboo" on President Hoover, former Governor Walter J. Kohler, who defeated the senator's brother, Governor Philip La Follette, for renomination, and John B. Chapple, the young Ashland editor who nosed out Blaine.

It was evident, Senator La Follette said, that Hoover would block progressive measures in congress while Roosevelt "indicates a willingness to co-operate with progressives on legislative action to meet the extraordinary (economic) crisis.

"I shall, therefore, vote for Governor Roosevelt because I believe he offers the only immediate hope for the relief of 10,000,000 unemployed men, women and children, and 6,000,000 farmers, who with their families, are threatened with the loss of their entire stake in our economic order," the senator said. "If he is elected I shall feel free to oppose any of his policies which are not in accord with my own convictions."

ROOSEVELT LAYS DEFICIT TO G. O. P.

by the democratic candidate into territory that has long recorded its votes in presidential elections for republicans came at the end of a day that took him on an automobile trip into West Virginia and Ohio.

He went directly from the field to his train to continue his campaign trip across southern Ohio to Indianapolis where he will speak again tomorrow.

Speaking under overcast skies to the huge crowd in Forbes field, the democratic presidential candidate said:

"Before any man enters my cabinet he must give me a two-fold pledge of:

"Absolute loyalty to the democratic platform and especially its economy plank.

"Complete co-operation with me, looking to economy and reorganization of his department."

A day of automobiling in the West Virginia hill country, climaxed by a demand to know of the citizens of Wheeling if they were "afraid" to change presidents, brought Governor Roosevelt back to Pittsburgh tonight for his first speech in Pennsylvania since he opened his campaign.

The long drive over the winding roads took the democratic presidential candidate through almost a score of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio towns where crowds clustered along the main streets. It was broken for lunch at Wheeling and a short address in the high school stadium on an island in the Ohio river.

There his question that went shouting through the amplifiers to the crowd brought rolling back a chorus of "noes."

In his Pittsburgh address Governor Roosevelt said he hoped that it would not be necessary "to increase the present scale of taxes, and I call definite attention to the fact that as soon as the democratic platform pledge is enacted into legislation modifying the Volstead act, a source of new revenue amounting to several hundred millions of dollars a year will be made available toward the balancing of the budget.

"I refer specifically to a federal tax on beer which would be raised through the sale of beer in those states and those states only which by state law allow the sale of beer.

"At the same time I reiterate the simple language of the democratic platform which opposes the return of the saloon."

Not Balanced.

Mr. Roosevelt said the budget was not balanced at the present time "and the whole job must be done over again at the next session of congress.

"No one who will take the trouble to read that speech (the recent one by Speaker Garner) will doubt that the patriotic determination of a willing congress to balance this budget at any cost was frustrated by the same kind of concealment and vacillation that produced the staggering deficits of the years ending June 30, 1931 and 1932," he said.

The New York governor said the treasury statement at the end of the first quarter of this fiscal year on September 30 showed an excess of expenditures over receipts of $402,943,002 and that for the corresponding quarter of the last fiscal year the deficit was only $380,495,584.

"There is therefore strong indication that we are in for another staggering deficit," he said. "If the present rate continues, the true deficit as of June 30 next year will be over $1,600,000,000, not as large as it was in the unprecedented fiscal year of 1932, but so great that it makes us catch our breath.

"I regret to say that the appeal of this administration for applause for its soundness and courage last winter is simply not based on facts."

False Assurance.

He argued that "under repeated insistence that the budget was being balanced, congress gave our treasury—without hesitation or limit—every cent of revenue it asked for and that, at the end, the administration assured congress and the country that the task had been accomplished."

"I have already shown how unrealiable these constant assurances are," he added. "It is not seemly to conjecture motives but I think it is fair to say the whole record of administration policy in the last four years reveals that it has been afraid to trust the people of the United states with the true facts about their affairs.

"While the president claims that he did finally recommend new taxes, I fear that his courage came two years too late and in far too scanty measure. It explains 'prosperity around the corner.' It explains two complete concealments of deficits and the insufficiency of the action taken last winter.

"It is an error of weakness and an error which I assure you I shall not make."

The candidate said "Our federal extravagance and improvidence" in addition to imposing a tax burden individuals and business could not bear, because of "the unorthodox federal financing" impaired the whole credit structure.

"Instead of financing the billion dollar deficit of 1931 in the regular way," he said, "our government simply absorbed that much of the lending capacity of the banks and by so much impaired the credit available for business."

Finances Deficits.

Most of the newly-created government credit, he said, "has been taken to finance the government's continuing deficits."

He quoted from a document he said had been published a week ago and signed by both Alfred E. Smith and Calvin Coolidge:

"All the costs of local, state and national government must be reduced without fear and without favor."

Mr. Roosevelt said that "for my distinguished opponent" 1931 was the year when all "his distinctive 1928 economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together," adding that foreign loans to expand export trade could no longer be made, retaliation arose against the tariff, and debtor nations abandoned specie payments.

"As a direct result of all these influences, our export markets dried up, our commodity prices slumped and our domestic business was declining at a more rapid rate than business in some of the backward and crippled countries," he sad. "Unemployment also began to rise here in even greater proportions than in Europe."

He asserted that to argue that no American policy was in the least to blame for the economic disturbances was "like ascribing measles to its spots rather than to its characteristic germs."

"I want to say with all sincerity that I recite this record with reluctance," he said a moment later as he concluded his views of the succession of events that preceded the economic troubles.

Praise of Industry.

"Politics or no politics, I pay my tribute to the devotion of the president. It is not true to say that he has not been unremitting in his efforts and I for one have never heard it said.

"But I do indict his administration for wrong action, for delayed action and for lack of frankness and courage."

He added that the administration's "appeal for sympathy" was based on a denial that its policies had failed.

"In such circumstances," he added, "I should fail utterly in my duty to link them directly to the havoc which they have wrought and which they threaten to continue."

As he turned to a discussion of what he, himself, proposed to do, the governor said he would approach the problem of "carrying out the plain precept of our party" to reduce federal expenditures by 25 per cent with the idea that Washington should take from the states "nothing more than is necessary to keep abreast of the march of our changing economic situation."

"We can make savings by reorganization of existing departments, by abolishing many of the innumerable boards and commissions which over a long period of years have grown up as excrescences of the regular system," he said. "These savings can probably be made to total many hundreds of millions of dollars a year."

Tax on Beer.

These savings plus a tax on beer, he said, were aimed at a definite balancing of the budget.

"At the same time," Mr. Roosevelt added, "if starvation and dire need on the part of any of our citizens make necessary the appropriation of additional funds which would keep the budget out of balance, I shall not hesitate to tell the American people the full truth and recommend to them the expenditure of this additional amount."

At Wheeling the candidate asserted that "the spectre of fear" had been placed before the people by the republican candidate and the republican speakers.

"You have been told that things might have been worse and will be worse if I am elected to office," he said. "But I say to you, 'Yes, things might have been worse; indeed we all might have been destroyed. But on the other hand remember that things might have been better, should have been better, and will begin to get better with a change of administration on the Fourth of March."

Mr. Roosevelt said the federal reserve system, "the product of a democrat," had prevented complete collapse, and called the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as much a democratic as a republican measure.

Democrats Praised.

"We may fairly say that the two things which have saved things from being worse are both the result of the constructive foresight of the democratic party and its leaders," he said.

The governor added that in the case of both institutions, the fundamental purposes and principles had not been carried out by the present administration.

He said the Hoover administration "encouraged speculators, strangled foreign markets by indefensible tariffs, and accomplished nothing for agriculture communities."

He related that he already has advanced various farm relief, railroad, public utility, tariff and business proposals, and added:

"But I have not advocated and I will never advocate a tariff policy which will withdraw protection from American workers against those countries which employ cheap labor or who operate under a standard of living which is lower than that of our own great laboring groups."

"The democratic program is practical and I pledge to you that it will be carried out with speed and dispatch," he continued. Concluding, he asserted:

"I refuse to believe that the people of the nation can be made to fear false bogies. The choice is deeper than that. It is indeed one between restored order and dangerous drift, between constructive planning and the forces of mismanagement."

Ready for Change.

Several times during his talk, boys and girls in a grandstand across the field shouted "Hoover." At another juncture, when Mr. Roosevelt said "I believe we are ready for a change," persons in the crowd responded: "You bet."

As his automobile procession passed into Wheeling, circulars were distributed, prepared by the Ohio county republican executive committee, asking what he would do about various specific tariff duties and where he stood on the bonus.

Before he left the city for the return drive, word came that Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, an independent republican, had indorsed the Roosevelt candidacy. He declined immediate comment but his aides said he probably would have something to say later.

Leaving Wheeling for the return trip, the governor's route led him along the banks of the Ohio river, through the fertile valley, to Steubenville, Ohio, to be joined by Governor George White, and thence back into West Virginia to travel to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke briefly at Steubenville as he sat in his automobile in front of the courthouse.

"I have been saddened by what I saw today—closed mines and factories," he said. "I hope when I come back everything will be running.

"My distinguished opponent says things might be worse if I am elected. I say they will be better."

Senator Bulkley, of Ohio, was also among the leaders who met the nominee in Steubenville. Cheers filled crowded streets as the governor passed through them.

His speech tonight in the steel city was set for delivery in Forbes field, the baseball home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, from a speaker's stand erected on the second-base line. Throughout the day the sky was overcast and rain threatened as the time approached for his speech.

LAMMOT DU PONT BACKS HOOVER FOR RE-ELECTION

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 19.—(UP)—Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company and chairman of the board of directors of General Motors Corporation, tonight issued a statement announcing his intention of voting for President Hoover in the coming election.

Although declaring that there is a similarity in the admitted stands of both candidates and finding this similarity "most striking in the economic situation and prohibition," du Pont said that analysis would establish that "there is only one course to follow—to vote the republican ticket."

PRESIDENT APPROVES DETROIT ITINERARY TRIP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—President Hoover today formally approved an itinerary for his trip to Detroit, where he will speak Saturday night, calling for 13 stops of his special train in West Virginia and Ohio.

During the day appearances are scheduled at Charleston, Huntington and Keneva, W. Va., and at Ironton, Portsmouth, Waverly, Chillicothe, Circleville, Columbus, Delaware, Marion, Fostoria and Toledo, all in Ohio.

ROOSEVELT MEMBERSHIP IN LEGION IS UPHELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Officials of the hall of records of the New York department of the American Legion said today that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is listed as a member of three Legion posts in this state.

Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, in a letter released last night through the republican national committee, challenged a statement by the democratic candidate for president that "I am a Legionnaire."

FARLEY CHARGES SCORED BY HARVEY FIRESTONE

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Harvey S. Firestone Sr., chairman of the board of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, today branded as "political propaganda" the statement from James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, charging Firestone and other rubber company officials with carrying on a campaign of "intimidation" among their employes in the interests of the republican party.

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the company is carrying on a campaign of intimidation among its employes for President Hoover," Firestone said.

NEWTON BAKER ARRIVES TO SPEAK FOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, arrived in New York today to confer with James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, on dates for a number of speeches he is to deliver on behalf of the presidential candidacy of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT ADVOCATES POWER RESOURCES FOR PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League, made public today a letter from Governor Roosevelt saying he would continue "to demand that the remaining power resources of our country be kept for the benefit of the people as a whole."

MAIL CARRIERS USED BY G. O. P., DEMOCRATS AVER

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A statement issued today by the county headquarters of the democratic party charged that mail carriers were used "to obtain information apparently to be utilized by the republican national committee in a whispering campaign aimed to drive important industries into line for the republican national ticket."

HOOVER MAY SPEAK IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Republican eastern headquarters announced tonight that it is "likely but not certain" President Hoover will deliver a campaign speech in New York city; that he is considering making an address in Boston, and that he has been urged to take the stump in Philadelphia and Newark, N. J.

The final decision on whether he will appear at Madison Square Garden is contingent, it was explained, on what is decided about the proposed Boston, Newark and Philadelphia speeches.

ing he was an officer. The shooting began.

"From the marks on the trees, and on the ground, it appears that both sides did some shooting, but I don't know who fired the first shot.

"There were two marks on the ground, at a point near the gulley where the officers were, that evidently had been made by rifle shots.

"Strickland fell dead. He was shot four times, twice in the breast, once in the leg, and one shot grazed an arm. I helped them carry him to his home at the old Strickland home place about mile from the shooting. He has a wife and one daughter who teaches school at Winter Haven, Fla.; two brothers live in the neighborhood, Mozart and Maynard Strickland.

"Hancock telephoned me and said he was ready to give himself up if I wanted him. I told him to go on home—he lives in Columbus—and that I would notify him if he was wanted. He said he also notified the deputy prohibition administrator, Mr. Dismuke, at Macon, who is in charge of the middle Georgia district. Dismuke told him he was coming over here to make an investigation, but I haven't seen him yet.

"The second man ran when the shooting started. He didn't shoot, nor did he get shot. He is at his home about a mile from the place. The shooting took place about a mile west of the old Strickland home place near Chipley, pretty close to the border of Meriwether and Troup counties, in Meriwether.

"There was no whisky in the still, and no fire was under it. It was a primitive looking, cheap sort of affair. There was one barrel of beer mash near by.

"Hancock told me Strickland fired first, but Brooks says the other side fired first. I don't know.

"No inquest will be necessary. There will be no arrests unless a warrant is sworn out. Strickland's brothers did not say anything about swearing out a warrant."

SHOOTING "JUSTIFIABLE," DISMUKE WILL REPORT

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dismuke tonight said he would officially report that the shooting today in which John Strickland was killed near Chipley, Ga., was "justifiable," as far as the officers are concerned.

Dismuke said his report also would include a statement that all the officers were in a gulley and that Prohibition Agent J. E. Hancock raised up and warned Strickland against using his gun, after which, Hancock was quoted by Dismuke as saying, Strickland aimed and Hancock fell back into the gulley. Strickland fired twice, Hancock told Dismuke, and all members of the party fired. It was not known which bullets killed Strickland. Dismuke said the shooting was "purely self-defense."

MAN CALLS ON GIRL, IS SHOT IN SHOULDER

J. B. Tallant, 23, of 477 Formwalt street, was treated at Grady hospital Wednesday night for a bullet wound in the shoulder, received, he told police when he was fired upon by an unidentified man when Tallant attempted to call upon a young woman on Marietta road. He could assign no reason for the shooting.

HOWELL ADDRESSES DEMOCRATIC WOMEN

Executive Committee Chairman Commends Organization for Party Labors.

Unswerving loyalty of all groups is necessary if the democratic party is to retain the affection of the people of Georgia, Chairman Hugh Howell of the democratic state executive committee, told the Fulton County Women's Democratic Club at its meeting Wednesday at the Piedmont hotel.

"The democratic party always has been high in the respect and regard of the people of Georgia and it is to be hoped that your organization and all other party units will work to see that no other party ever takes its place," Mr. Howell said. "The women of Fulton county are to be highly commended for banding together to assist the party leaders in their work. We hope through your organization and similar organizations to reach every woman voter in the state and to see that the party complies with their desires on good government."

Miss Eleanor Orr, secretary of the state committee, addressed the club on 'Party Loyalty" while Mrs. George Hillyer told of a recent visit she made to the headquarters of the democratic national committee.

At the request of Mrs. Edgar Alexander the club voted to seek to raise funds for carrying on the national campaign. A committee was appointed with instructions to seek contributions to the national party treasury. These conributions are to be turned over to a representative of the national committee who will be here Sunday with the party nominee, Governor Roosevelt.

Mrs. Z. V. Peterson was chairman of the committee presenting Wednesday's program.

DEKALB URGED TO AID CAMPAIGN OF CHEST

An appeal for whole-hearted support by DeKalb county citizens of the Community Chest campaign in that area was issued Wednesday by Leon O'Neal, president of the DeKalb county chapter of the American Red Cross, who pointed out that the Red Cross is enabled to continue its work of relieving the needy only through the Community Chest and its various agencies.

O'Neal pointed out that during the first nine months of this year the monthly average number of families served through the chapetr offices in Decatur was 400, as compared with 72 cases a month in 1929 and 148 cases a month in 1931. He emphasized that co-operation of the Chest and its agencies made available to needy citizens of DeKalb the relief efforts of 12 other affiliated organizations.

Waits, Power Heads Confer on Cut Today

Alderman W. W. Waits, chairman of the electric lights committee of council, to which was referred a resolution calling on the Georgia public service commission to force a five-cent trolley and bus fare for Atlanta, will confer with officials of the Georgia Power Company this afternoon regarding a tentative compromise plan, it was reported Wednesday.

Details of the plan were not divulged, pending outcome of the conference, but hope was expressed by Mayor James L. Key and others that some program may be evolved to test the claim that a reduction would actually increase revenue from the traction service through bolstered popularity for the street cars and busses.

MATRONS TO SPONSOR TEA AT CROW STUDIO

The Young Matrons class, composed of Mesdames J. K. Ottley Jr., Robert Sams, Russell Bellman, Hugh Carter Jr., T. C. Morris, A. T. Lynch and Ross Tresader, will sponsor a tea at the Crow Studio of Physical Culture and Recreation, 102 1-2 Luckie street, next Saturday afternoon as the guests of Miss Nannie B. Crow.

The members of the Young Matrons class will assist in serving, and tea will be poured by Mrs. Ross Tresader. Members of Miss Crow's little girl class, including Misses Mabel, Sue and Ann Markowitz, Doris Swan, Barbara Birch, Coleen Kenimer and Harriet Garner will serve cakes and mints. During the afternoon a musical program will be presented by Mrs. Deagan, who is associated with Miss Crow, and violin solos will be rendered by Miss Elizabeth Koppe, a member of the business women's class, among whom are Miss Lucille Malone, Miss Mary Ladshaw and Mrs. J. E. Murphy, of the Pilot Club.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS WILL HEAR HOWARD

Young democrats of Fulton county Wednesday were called upon to rally to the assistance of the national ticket, an organization meeting, to which all democrats between the ages of 21 and 40 were invited, being planned for 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Piedmont hotel.

At a pre-organization meeting held Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce, Joe W. Ray, former president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was elected temporary chairman of the organization, which will be known as the Fulton County Young Democratic Club.

William Schley Howard, well-known lawyer and former congressman, will address the organization meeting Friday afternoon.

FOREMAN SUIT SEEKS TAX ASSESSMENT CUT

An injunction against "excessive and unjust" city tax assessment for 1932 on his property at 102 South Pryor street was sought Wednesday by R. L. Foreman, who alleges that while his own assessment was not reduced, the assessments on either side of his property were reduced from 12 to 20 per cent from 1931.

Mr. Foreman asked the court to declare the 1932 assessment void and to restrain the city from collecting the tax. Judge G. H. Howard cited the city to show cause October 29 why the prayers should not be granted.

ROME MAN IS FOUND DEAD ON HIGHWAY

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Apparently the victim of a hit and run driver, the body of Frank Newell, 27, of Rome, Ga., was found beside a highway near here Wednesday, all four limbs broken and crushed. It was several hours before authorities established the identity. Two pictures were found on the body, one of a woman and stamped Sweetwater, Texas, the other of a woman and infant.

How many Different Words can you Spell with the letters in this Lucky Star?

Don't skip or jump any spaces, just move one space at a time, from any letter to any adjacent or touching letters in any direction. Simple, isn't it?

You have never played a more fascinating game; it's simple too, you don't even need a dictionary. We will furnish you FREE with one copy of the Official Lucky Star Word List, which contains all the words to be found from the star. Words not found in the list will not count.

This is truly a game for the whole family. The most fun you have ever had. Here is a game that yields big cash rewards for play.

Start Now!

Don't put it off. Mail in the coupon now for your free copy of the word list, get started—think of all the things you could do with $1,500 and if you are prompt you may win the new Chevrolet in addition to the first prize. You have just as good a chance as everybody else, there are no experts to compete against you. This is the first time the Lucky Star game has ever been offered in the South.

Read These Instructions Carefully

Form as many words as possible from the letters in the star. Start with any letter and move one square at a time, as many times as desired, to any adjacent or contiguous letters IN ANY DIRECTION; that is, upward, downward, sideways, and/or diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other either on the sides or at the corners. S-32 is adjacent or contiguous to S-20, T-21, I-22, T-33, E-43, P-42, and A-41. However, it is not adjacent to E-31, because it is separated from the latter by a blank space.) Do not skip or jump any letters or spaces. For example, starting in with S-32, we can form the following simple words and many others:

(b)	S-32, I-22, T-21, E-11	spells	SITE
(c)	S-32, T-33, E-43, E-51, R-44	spells	STEER
(d)	S-32, E-43, A-34, T-33	spells	SEAT
(f)	S-32, A-41, P-40	spells	SAP

As you will observe in example (a) above, the same letter may be used more than once in a word, but do not double any letter. In example (c) above, we have used two E's, E-43 and E-51, to make the word STEER, because at this place in the star we have two adjacent squares, each containing the letter E. But we cannot start with S-32 and make the word STEEP by doubling up E-43, thereby using the same space twice in succession in the same word. When you have formed all the words you can starting with any given letter in the star, then start with another letter, and so forth, and you will be surprised how easy it is, and what fun.

THE RULES

This contest is open to all residents of Georgia and adjoining states, including Mississippi and the Virginias, with the exception of employes of The Constitution and the Southern Cultivator, immediate members of their families, or persons who have won a prize of $500 or more in any previous contest conducted by The Atlanta Constitution during the past three years.

As explained in the list of prizes there are three classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution to compete for one of the Class "C" prizes. Class "A" and "B" prizes are open to those who qualify their word list with subscriptions, as stated in the general rules.

The general and complete rules of the contest and the official word list, together with subscription rates and full qualification instructions, will be supplied to all who register their names in the "Lucky Star" game.

One copy of the official word list will be furnished FREE without any obligation on the part of the person registering. Additional copies of the official word list, rules and regulations, will cost 25c each. No official word list will be given to anyone who does not register in this contest.

This contest will close at 6 p. m., Saturday, November 12, 1932. All lists of words must be delivered to The Atlanta Constitution, Contest Dept., Constitution Building, Atlanta, Ga., on or before that time, or if mailed must bear postmark showing no later date than midnight of that date. Ten days will be given thereafter for unqualified contestants to qualify their answers or make good any subscriptions previously submitted and not accepted by The Constitution.

Register immediately by sending your name and address for official word list and complete rules, qualification requirements, etc. It will start you on the way to win $1,500 cash and an automobile for promptness.

M'CUEN RECALLED BY POWER GROUP

Secretary Advised To Quit G. O. P. Committee Duty, Return to Work.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The power commission today advised Joseph R. McCuen, its secretary, to terminate his work with the republican national committee in New York and return to his post here.

Chairman Smith wrote McCuen, who had been on a payless furlough, that the commission unanimously had adopted a resolution prohibiting certain political activities by employes and added:

"The others of the commission all feel that the spirit of this order would require you to discontinue at once your connection with the republican national committee and resume your duties with the commission."

Under the resolution, no presidential appointee or holder of a non-civil service post with the commission will be permitted:

"To hold a position as a member of any political committee that solicits funds;

"To display such obtrusive partisanship as to cause public scandal;

"To attempt to manipulate party primaries or conventions;

"To use his position to bring about his selection as delegate to conventions;

"To act as chairman of a political convention;

"To assume the active conduct of a political campaign;

"To use his position to interfere with an election or to affect the result thereof;

"To neglect his public duties."

Adoption of this resolution followed a recent statement by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, pointing to McCuen's absence from Washington for what he described as political work. The senator suggested that the commission "carefully consider whether the secretary's leave ought not to be extended indefinitely."

Full responsibility for granting a payless furlough to McCuen from September 3 to November 5 was taken by Chairman Smith. In his letter to the secretary he said he had advised Senator Walsh the services of McCuen were needed in Washington but that the condition of the commission's finances was such that he was impelled to grant the leave.

"In short," he quoted from a letter to Walsh, "I regarded the furlough of Mr. McCuen as solely an economy measure, with some sacrifice of efficiency, but with the avoidance of salary cuts elsewhere. Had the current appropriations been adequate to meet the pay roll I would not have approved this absence of Mr. McCuen, as I told him when he made his application."

Stomach Ulcers

3-Day Relief—No Operation

Men suffering from stomach ulcers caused by gastric hyper-acidity or less serious troubles from the same cause are always irritable, despondent, and hard to please. No matter how tempting the food, the sick man with no appetite, or who suffers after eating, is grouchy and even against his own will is unappreciative. His condition can surely and simply be corrected in a remarkably short time through the use of Von's Pink Tablets especially prepared for the purpose. The above, of course, also applies to women. If you or any member of your family are so afflicted don't suffer longer. Get Von's Tablets from any Jacobs' drug store, or write today (use postal card) to Atlanta Von Company, 742 Walton Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for free symptom booklet and other valuable information.—(adv.)

Suffered Ten Years Then Found Sargon

Recommends It Because It Proved Worth in Her Case

"Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the most wonderful medicines I have ever used. I say this because they have brought back my health after I had suffered for ten long years. My liver was torpid and my complexion sallow. My entire system was filled with poison. I was dreadfully nervous and was losing my strength and energy. Sargon ended my troubles as no other medicine has ever done. But the greatest blessing of all was the way the Sargon Soft Mass Pills relieved me from constipation from which I had suffered for so many years."—Mrs. Alexander Malcott, 3405 W. Sixth Street, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Red and Blond Hair Thrive on Same Head

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Eleven-month-old Rex Wilford Price Jr., of Long Beach, has bright red hair on one side of his head and is distinctly blond on the other, which is giving scientific men hereabouts considerable material for speculation.

The child is otherwise normal, except that one of his originally blue eyes is exhibiting a tendency to turn brown.

The baby's mother said his hair was red at birth, that it all fell out when he was a month old and that a few weeks later it returned, thick and silky, in different, equally divided colors.

FRANK WARD O'MALLEY SUCCUMBS IN FRANCE

He had come here not long ago with Mrs. O'Malley to put their children in school.

Mrs. O'Malley said he would be buried here in accordance with a wish he once expressed to be buried where he died.

O'Malley was one of the best known figures of that era which sometimes has been called "the golden age" of American journalism.

He worked on the old Morning Sun in New York, first as reporter, then as special writer from 1906 to 1919. In the years after that he was a frequent contributor of humorous articles and stories to magazines. He also wrote several plays and books, the last entitled "The Swiss Family O'Malley," published in 1928.

THOMAS B. BUTLER.

McCOMB, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Thomas B. Butler, 63, for 30 years a southwest Mississippi business leader, died last night at his home here after an extended illness. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon with interment here.

He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Fred Schleet, Natchez, Miss., and six sons, Dr. H. Anderson Butler, Memphis; Dr. T. B. Butler Jr., San Antonio, Texas; Dr. G. G. Butler, McComb; Dr. Edwin M. Butler, Atlanta, Ga.; Marion Butler and Tarver Hatten Butler, McComb.

CAPTAIN R. L. PEYTON.

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Captain Robert L. Peyton, 56, senior assistant surgeon at the Soldiers' National home since 1922, died today of cerebral hemorrhage.

Officials found his partly-clad body in his room at the hospital after he had failed to answer a call to breakfast.

His home is in Jackson, Miss. He is survived by two sisters, Miss Laura Peyton and Miss Lucretia Peyton, of Jackson, and a brother, Lieutenant Colonel Bernard Peyton, of Washington, D. C.

OSCAR E. LINDER.

DRUG CLERK TESTIFIES IN DR. STARNES' TRIAL

Government evidence against Dr. W. A. Starnes, who is charged with violation of the narcotic law, probably will be concluded this morning in federal district court, District Attorney Clint W. Hager, said Wednesday night. The trial is expected to last through Friday.

Testimony of Dr. P. A. Williams, narcotic agent, occupied most of Wednesday's session of court. Dr. Williams said that Dr. Starnes purchased approximately 92.533 grains of morphine, an average of 117 a day, during the two years prior to his arrest on July 30. E. A. Mallory, of the John B. Daniel Drug Company, testified to the purchase by Dr. Starnes of two cartons of eight bottles each of morphine, and said that he gave the serial numbers of the bottles to narcotic officers.

Dr. Williams had testified previously as to the finding of two of the serial-numbered bottles on an addict after the addict was seen closeted with Dr. Starnes. T. B. Wiggins, narcotic agent, also testified Wednesday.

ALUMNI OF MERCER PLAN HOMECOMING SATURDAY MORNING

Mercer University alumni are all set for another annual home-coming occasion on Saturday, October 22, when Macon will stage a downtown parade in honor of the returning grads and honor guests, which will include Governor Richard B. Russell, Governor-designate Eugene Talmadge, United States Senators Walter F. George and John S. Cohen, Roy LeCraw, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Mayor James L. Key, and other state-wide leaders, Dr. Louie D. Newton, president of the alumni association of the university, announced Wednesday.

Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the university, has called a meeting of the trustees at 9:30 o'clock, eastern time, Saturday morning in the university chapel. At 11:30 o'clock a special delegation of Macon citizens, headed by Mayor Glen Toole, will meet the Atlanta cars at the Wesleyan College entrance, and escort them through the downtown parade and on to the campus for the barbecue at noon, and thence to the stadium for the game.

O'CONNOR WILL STRIKE AT GERRYMANDERING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Representative O'Connor, democrat, New York, announced today he would introduce a bill in December to reenact the provision of the 1911 reapportionment act requiring that congressional districts be composed of "contiguous and compact territory."

O'Connor in a formal statement said he would do this "in view of the surprising decision of the supreme court of the United States in the Mississippi congressional reapportionment case."

"Surely," he said, "congress cannot permit a situation to exist whereby the un-American practice of gerrymander can be carried on in certain states in violation of the constitutional guarantee of equal representation."

Rock Costly to Negro.

Throwing a rock through the windshield of a motorist cost Willie B. Speir, 20, negro, four months in jail Wednesday when he appeared before Judge Jesse M. Wood in criminal court of Atlanta. Willie was tried for malicious mischief.

STRICT ECONOMY ORDERED BY KEY

City Employes To Get Wages Today, Perhaps for Last Time This Year

As 4,000 city employes this morning receive a total of about $225,000, representing the semi-monthly pay roll for October and possibly the last pay day city employes will have this year, departments of the municipality will go on an "absolute necessity and essential basis."

Mayor James L. Key Wednesday put division heads on notice that they would save time and trouble for themselves by not making requisitions for anything but bare essentials and necessities, saying that unless a requisition is absolutely necessary "it will go into the waste basket."

Key also called on employes of the municipality to aid in defeating the proposed constitutional amendment which would bar taxation of intangibles by cities, counties or school districts of the state, warning that approval of the amendment would mean a further curtailment of $600,000 in Atlanta's revenue and that other cities and counties of the state would suffer proportionately.

Possibility of a salary holiday was seen through the fact that the city now owes Atlanta banks $1,800,000, in addition to interest and sinking funds on outstanding bonds, which must be repaid by the first of the year. Taxes are coming in slowly and although there seem to be enough fi. fas. outstanding to guarantee payment of all obligations, there appears little certainty that the money will be paid in time to make further salary payments.

Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church, urged department heads to support the Community Chest drive. His statement was made at the same time that Key delivered the economy ultimatum to division superintendents at a conference held in the mayor's office during the morning.

Chinese Kidnapers Ask Place on Police Force

SHANGHAI, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Japanese intermediaries at Mukden were reported today to have reached an agreement to effect the release of Mrs. Kenneth Pawley and Charles Corkran, British subjects who were captured several weeks ago by Manchurian bandits.

The agreement provides for payment of 130,000 yen (about $32,500), 250 pounds of opium and a supply of winter clothing for the bandits. In addition, it was said, the bandits demanded incorporation in the Manchukuo police force.

The Japanese intermediaries promised to send the money and opium after the captives had been released, but it was said the bandits insisted that the ransom be paid simultaneously with the liberation of the prisoners.

BRILLIANT PARADE TO HONOR NOMINEE

Roosevelt Visit To Be One of City's Most Momentous Events.

Added indications that the visit of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to Georgia Sunday and Monday will be one of the most momentous occasions in the state's history was given Wednesday with the announcement that the nominee's trip to Warm Springs Sunday would be in the nature of a hero's home-coming and the parade here Monday one of the most outstanding ever seen in the south.

Hugh Howell, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, who is acting as chairman of the Roosevelt reception committee, announced that he had received information from Warm Springs that more than 100 leading citizens of Meriwether county would come to Atlanta to meet Governor Roosevelt and escort him to the resort, while from the mayors of all the cities between Atlanta and Warm Springs came word that their respective cities would turn out en masse to greet the party's nominee.

The route and personnel of the parade were made public Wednesday after Adjutant General Charles H. Cox had submitted them to Chairman Howell for approval.

"Our plans now are practically complete," Mr. Howell said. "We will be busy these last few days perfecting the arrangements but I think we are safe in saying now that Sunday and Monday will be two days that Governor Roosevelt and all Georgians will long remember."

5TH DISTRICT MASONS TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Prominent Masons and noted speakers will give addresses at the twenty-ninth annual convention of the fifth district Masons at the Masonic Temple, Peachtree and Cain streets, beginning at 8 o'clock Friday night, when Malta Lodge No. 641 will be the official host, according to announcement Wednesday. In addition to Masons from Atlanta, many out-of-town lodge men are expected to attend.

Among the prominent speakers on the program will be Thomas C. Law, Eugene D. Thomas, Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, J. Wilson Parker, of Fairburn; J. W. Gormack, all high Masonic officials, and Dr. D. W. Daniel, of Clemson College, a noted speaker. All Masons in the district were invited to attend.

OIL COMPANY LOAN ATTACKED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Eugenio Mendez, chief of the Vera Cruz deputies, demanded in the chamber of deputies last night that Secretary of Finance Pani be called to explain the $10,000,000 tax advance loan American oil companies are reported to be negotiating with the government.

He asked that the deputies be informed why Mexico needed the money, and what "compromises" were being made to obtain it.

The request was ignored by the chamber.

RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE :: :: A New Justice :: :: :: :: :: :: By Zane Grey

Lassiter pulled up his foam-covered horse outside the court house, and leapt from the saddle. A cold, grim avenger, he stalked toward the door of the room where Judge Dyer was dispensing his one-sided justice.

The court house door burst open. A menacing figure for an instant darkened the entrance. Dyer looked down that long room and was as a man turned to stone. Two of his henchmen reached for their guns. Everyone knew that Lassiter meant to get the ringleader responsible for the abduction of little Fay.

Looking like death itself, Lassiter strode slowly up the aisle. His hands swung near the butts of his big, black guns. Onlookers went cold to the marrow. The only sound in the room was the swish of Lassiter's leather holsters against his chaps. There were seconds of awful quiet before Dyer's men summoned the nerve to draw.

Lassiter crouched. Quicker than eyesight his hips were wreathed in smoke. His red-spurting guns belched an instant before the shots of Dyer's men split the sinister silence. Dyer faced his Nemesis.

IF I WERE YOU

By P. G. Wodehouse

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Just after Anthony, Fifth Earl of Droitwich, had become engaged to Violet Waddington, heiress of Waddington's 97 Soups and hard-boiled as a fashion plate, Mrs. Price, Tony's old nurse, drank too much—which was not unusual—and babbled a secret. She said that when Tony and her son Syd were babies she switched children; that Tony was her child and Syd was Lord Droitwich. Syd, who had a barber shop in London, insisted upon claiming the title, and Tony's family, which included his brother, the Hon. Freddie Chalk-Marshall, and his uncle and aunt, Sir Herbert and Lady Lydia Bassinger, decided to try to make the cockney barber so uncomfortable while "educating" him up to his new position that he would chuck the whole affair. Tony asked for the barber shop keys and left Langley End, his country estate, for London. This method of handling Syd had been suggested by Polly Brown, a pretty American girl who was a manicurist in Syd's shop. At the end of two weeks Tony was head over heels in love with Polly.

At the beginning of a busy Saturday afternoon Tony told Meech, who was in charge of the barber shop, to put out the "Shop Closed" sign, as he had gotten sandwiches and a bottle of champagne at the public house on the corner and he and Miss Brown were going to have lunch. The talk switched to Meech's being engaged to marry Led on by Tony, the barber detailed how he proposed to two women and then asked Tony, "Haven't you ever been engaged sir?" Now go on with the story.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

"Are we going anywhere?"

"Of course we are. You must spend the afternoon in the open on a fine day like this. I'm a businessman, and I figure I'll get more work out of you if you have plenty of fresh air in your lungs."

Polly looked at him oddly.

"You mustn't spoil me," she said. "Remember, I've got to go on earning my living after you're an earl again."

"You will have it that I'm going to be an earl again. Personally, I don't feel it. I rather fancy you will find me here forty years from now, working away in the shop in a skullcap and a full set of white whiskers. The lovable old barber, what? I can hear people saying, 'Oh, you must patronize that quaint old blighter. He's quite a character.'"

"Forty years from now you'll be a gouty old earl, telling everybody the country is going to the dogs."

"You think so?"

"I know it."

Tony nodded indulgently.

"Well, if that's your story, as Mr. Truefitt said to Meech, I suppose you're right to stick to it. Can't see it myself. But we're wandering from the point. Where do we go this afternoon in the old sidecar? The river? Sunny Sussex? Give it a name."

A queer little twisted look came into Polly's face.

"I don't think I'd better go out in the sidecar any more," she said in a small voice.

"Why not?"

"Oh, I don't know."

"Why not, Polly?"

Polly met his eye bravely, though her lips were trembling.

"Well, listen," she said. "When I was a kiddy, I used to be sent out to my grandfather's farm in Connecticut for two weeks every summer. And, gee, did I love it? It was like heaven. But one year I refused to go any more. You see, I loved it too much, and I knew how awful it was going to be when it was over."

She broke off and looked away. Across the table Tony gave a gasp. He reached for her hand.

"Polly! . . . Do you mean . . .? Oh, hell!" said Tony.

He released her hand abruptly. The sound of an opening door and a current of Mott street air on the back of his head had warned him that they were no longer alone.

Tony turned, annoyed. His first thought was that George Christopher Meech had returned, and it was his intention to speak firmly and bitterly to Mr. Meech. Then he perceived that he had been mistaken. The intruder was Slingsby.

The butler was resplendent in the morning coat and bowler hat in which he took his walks abroad when in the metropolis. He was puffing gently, for the fine weather had tempted him to make the journey from Arlington on foot, and his condition was not of the best.

"Hullo!" said Tony.

"Good afternoon, m'lord."

There was respectful benevolence in Slingsby's eye. A shepherd, inspecting a lost sheep which he had always regarded as a social superior, would have looked the same. The decision of Sir Herbert Bassinger to run up to London for a couple of weeks had met with the butler's unqualified approval. He had had much to endure since Tony's departure from Langley End, and he had longed to see him again and confide his troubles to him.

Observing that a meal was in progress, he dropped with smooth efficiency into his lifelong role. Advancing to the table without further words, he picked up the bottle, looked at the label, winced, and poured wine into the glasses. This done, he took up his stand in a professional attitude behind Tony's chair.

"Now, now, Uncle Ted!" said Tony, "you mustn't wait on us."

"I prefer to wait on your lordship."

"I'm not your lordship. I'm your nephew."

"I prefer to regard your lordship as your lordship."

Polly, with womanly tact, solved a difficult impasse.

"We've finished," she said. "At least, I have. Have you?"

"Quite finished," said Tony.

Polly rose and began to tidy the table. She did it expertly, gathering up the paper and debris with a minimum of disturbance. She waved away Tony's offer of assistance.

"Sure you can carry all that?"

"Quite, thanks."

"Not too heavy for your frail strength."

"I'm stronger than I look," said Polly.

She pushed open the "Ladies' Department" door and went through. Tony got up and lighted a cigarette.

"Nice of you to look in," he said. "I heard the family were up in London. How's everything at home?"

A heavy frown marred the placidity of the butler's face.

"There is only one word for it, m'lord," he replied, somberly, "Itchabod!"

Tony puffed thoughtfully.

"Itchabod, eh?"

"Yes, m'lord."

"You mean things aren't going well?"

"No, m'lord."

"Well, I don't know what's to be done about it." Tony seated himself on the table. "You see, my dear chap . . ." The butler winced. "You see, my dear chap," Tony went on, ignoring his distress, "we've got to face facts. You know and I know that I'm not Lord Droitwich. . . ."

It was not Slingsby's habit to interrupt the family, but he could not refrain from doing so now.

"I know nothing of the kind, m'lord. I've watched that young Syd, and nobody's going to tell me he's an aristo rat. A man with the blood of noble ancestors in his veins," said Sling by, warming to his theme, "might possibly use a fish knife for the ontray, but he would never take a piece of bread and mop up his gravy with it."

"Oh, he'll train on. You must give him time."

"I'd give him ten years," said the butler viciously, "if I 'ad my way."

He would have spoken further, but at this moment the Ladies' Dept. door opened again, and through it came a figure which smote the words from his lips.

"Ho!" he said. "You, eh? I want to see you."

Ma Price gulped silently. She was a very different woman from the alternately jaunty and lachrymose person who had zigzagged about the ancient interior of Langley End two weeks ago. True, she seemed lachrymose now, but the tears that threatened were not vinous tears. They proceeded from spiritual anguish rather than from alcoholic stimulant. She was all black satin and agony.

Polly, following her through the doorway, saw the butler's portentous figure looming like a thundercloud.

"Please don't be mad at her, Mr. Slingsby," she pleaded. "She's not happy."

Another gulp escaped Ma Price. It was the equivalent of a "Hear, hear!" at a public meeting. She had not passed an enjoyable two weeks. Tony's suggestion that her emotions must be those of one who has touched off a keg of gunpowder was accurate. If anything, it did not go far enough. She felt as if she had punched a hole in a dam and were watching thousands perish in the valley below.

"And what right has she to be happy," he demanded remorselessly, "the way she's acted?"

Ma Price sniffed miserably.

"I'm sure I never meant no 'arm."

"Of course you didn't," said Tony. He went to her and put an arm about her ample waist.

"That's all very well, m'lord." Slingsby was like a figure of doom. "But, mean it or not, she's done it. I tell you, my blood fairly boils when I contemplate that young Syd. I've not been accustomed," said the butler bitterly, "to serving in houses where the so-called head of the family offers in the middle of luncheon to examine the guests' scalps and see why their hair is falling out."

Polly gasped.

"Did he do that?"

"He did. And he told Sir Gregory Peasmarch that, if he wasn't careful, he'd soon be 'aving to wear a fur rug."

"Fur rug?"

"A toopay, m'lord," explained the butler.

Tony was impressed.

"I must make a note of that," he said. "Useful. Good telling phrase to work off on the customers."

"Ah, cheer up, Mrs. Price," urged Polly.

"Whatever 'ave I bin and gone and done?" moaned the stricken woman.

The butler glowered coldly.

"I'm telling you what you've been and gone and done. You've 'urled 'is lordship 'ere out of his ancestral home, and you've planted in his place a 'ideous changeling who calls His Grace the Duke of Pevensey an onion."

"Not old Pevensey?" cried Tony, delighted.

"Yes, m'lord. To his face. His Grace was speaking—rather authoritative, as his custom is—and young Syd told him to remember he wasn't the only onion in the mince."

"Just what I've been wanting to tell him myself for years."

"Oh dear, oh dear, oh dear!" moaned Ma Price. She looked with concern at Polly. Clearing the table, Polly had left the champagne bottle. She now picked it up and moved to the door. "You be careful of that stuff, Polly," said Ma Price. "Keep off it! The 'arm it does!"

SLOW RECOVERY SEEN IN BUSINESS

Low Tide Reached Early Last Summer, Survey of Nation Discloses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Standard Statistics Company presents as a composite expression of opinion of 530 representative business concerns throughout the United States, the belief that "the crisis of the depression and the low point of business activity were passed early last summer."

The results of an extensive field survey by the statistical organization's workers, to be published tomorrow, however, sounds a note of conservatism, in also pointing out that it was found to be the consensus of opinion that "all that can reasonably be expected for the remainder of 1932 and for the full year 1933 is very gradual improvement."

This consensus, Standard states, represents a composite of unbiased confidential opinions submitted to its field workers, who queried corporation executives in all sections of the country and in all lines of endeavor. Exhaustive confidential questionnaires were then filled in by the field men, and general summaries made.

Opinion that the worst was over was almost unanimous, but if the conclusions that further improvement would be gradual "are not outstandingly encouraging to those who had hoped for a rapid return of prosperous conditions, at least it is important to know that unmistakably signs are at last visible of a throwing off of the depressed feeling to which business has been subjected."

The recent improvement in general business, the data indicated, generally speaking, "was strictly to accommodate seasonal increases in demand and to prepare distributor inventories for such increases." The survey adds, "there is, to be sure, a fairly general opinion that the upturn recently was fundamental and that a further expansion will be witnessed in late winter or early spring. For the immediate future, however, production schedules will be based strictly on orders for replacement of stocks and to fill seasonal needs."

Of companies reporting, 68.6 per cent experienced an expansion in September, over August, and only 13.2 per cent, a decrease. Of the firms estimating October production, 50.6 per cent expected an increase over September, and only 20 per cent expected a reduction. Of the companies showing gains in September, 42.5 per cent showed gains greater than the usual seasonal increase, 39.7 per cent showed increases less than the normal seasonal, and 17.8 per cent showed gains in line with reasonable seasonal expectations.

BOSTONIAN ELECTED MILK DEALERS' HEAD

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Charles F. Whiting, of Boston, was re-elected president of the International Association of Milk Dealers at the concluding session of their three-day convention here today.

Other officers elected were Henry N. Brawner Jr., Washington, D. C., vice president; Dr. B. D. Peck, Chicago, treasurer, and R. E. Little, Chicago, executive secretary.

Directors elected were Peck, H. A. Cronk, of New York; C. E. Gray, San Francisco, and Merritt Adamson, of Los Angeles.

CLAIMS FILED AGAINST KREUGER MATCH FIRM

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Claims aggregating more than $460,000,000 were filed in behalf of the American Kreuger & Toll today against the bankrupt International Match Corporation, and a claim of $165,000,000 was made by the Dutch Kreuger & Toll.

The time limit for filing claims under the bankruptcy law expired today. The Kreuger & Toll claim is the largest.

TWO PERSONS SOUGHT IN LOUISIANA FUED

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Two mysterious callers with a shotgun were hunted today after one of them last night had shot Ernest Delgado, 72, and his son, Frank, 12, in what officers supposed was a feud over information given to federal officers three years ago about a still by Delgado.

The father was wounded in both legs and his son was hit in the back. After the shooting the attackers fled in the darkness and the injured walked nearly a mile before they could reach aid.

NEW ROAD CONTRACTS AWARDED IN FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Florida highway commission today awarded contracts for $450,000 worth of road work, to be paid for largely with federal aid funds allocated to relieve unemployment in this state.

G. O. P. LEADER FREED IN EMBEZZLEMENT CASE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Maurice Maschke, republican county chieftains for nearly three decades, and four other politicians, were acquitted today of charges of embezzling $177,273 from the county treasury after a trial that lasted for five weeks.

TWO SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two persons were slightly injured in automobile accidents in and near Atlanta Wednesday night, Grady hospital reports showed. Allison R. Williams, 40, of 1283 Briarcliff road, an electrical engineer, was cut on the head and about the hands and arms when his car, which he was driving east on Ponce de Leon avenue, struck a parked auto near Hunt street. Williams was treated at Grady hospital.

J. O. Curtis, 32, of 1392 Morningside drive, was cut on the face when his car went over an embankment near Armour, Ga., a suburb. He was treated at Grady hospital and arrested by county police on charges of driving while drunk and violation of the state prohibition law.

Mrs. J. Smith, 35, of 190 Forrest avenue, stuck needle in right hand.

G. W. Etheridge, 23, of 261 Hunter street, cut left hand with ax.

C. J. Henderson Jr., 2, of 1029 Wylie street, stuck nail in hand.

A. P. Stubbs, 32, of 413 Fifth avenue, broke right hand.

Famous Lime Tree Felled by Storm

PYRMONT, Germany, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The famous 1,000-year-old lime tree in Castle Park, well known to tourists, was felled by a gale today. The tree had a diameter of seven feet.

LUTHERANS TO MEET IN SAVANNAH IN 1934

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The 1934 biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America will be held in Savannah, Ga., it was decided today by the convention of the church.

At the 1934 meeting the church will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the landing in Georgia of a group of Lutheran immigrants from Germany, who founded the town of Ebeneezer, near Savannah.

On of the last reports presented to the convention was that of the committee on church architecture. The Rev. Dr. Luther Reed of the Lutheran Seminary at Mount Airy, Philadelphia, chairman of the committee, read the report just before the sine die adjournment at noon. He said a $45,000,000 building and improvement program affecting Lutheran churches in various sections of this country and Canada is "awaiting better times." It will be undertaken, he said, "as soon as conditions improve."

The convention voted to grant constituent synods the right to accept ordained ministers from other denominations with or without re-ordination, as the synodical authorities see fit.

Griffin Woman Pours Out Gratitude to Thor's Vitamin Compound for Her Recovery

Health, Strength and Happiness Restored by New Yeast, Copper, Iron Treatment After Other Means Had Failed.

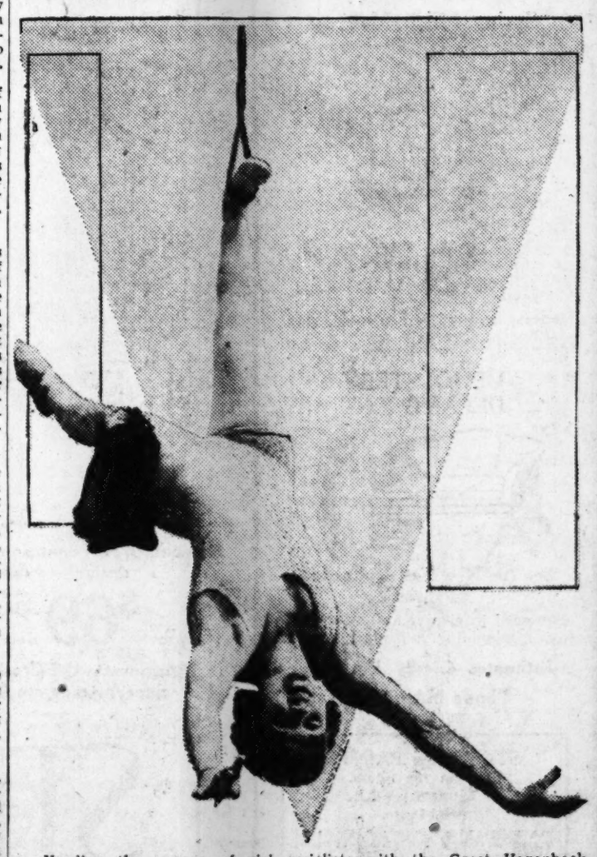

Instead of dosing themselves with old-fashioned drugs and violent cathartics thousands of chronic sufferers from indigestion, constipation, and a weak, rundown condition have turned to the simple, easy and economical corrective provided by Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast vitamins, copper and iron. By supply in concentrated form not only one but all three of these precious health-giving elements, Thor's Vitamin Compound helps to nourish shrunken tissues, strengthens the entire intestinal tract, and acts in a natural way as a general conditioner of the entire system.

Weak, rundown folk who have been ailing for years are often astonished at their rapid improvement in weight, energy, appearance, and mental alertness after only a short time on Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, copper and iron. Mrs. Rilla Smith, well-known resident of 121 Chapel St., Griffin, Ga., says:

"I was so weak and nervous that I had frequent spells of trembling when I would have to drop everything and lie down. I could scarcely eat for indigestion, or rest for nervousness. I tried many treatments without benefiting my condition, but Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, copper and iron seemed to go straight to the source of my troubles. Four fifty-cent bottles restored my health to splendid condition and I eat, sleep and feel finer than in years. I gained weight, too, and am so much stronger my housework is no trouble. I can never express my gratitude to this grand medicine."

If you are suffering from indigestion, weak, thin blood, and a nervous, rundown condition, get a bottle of Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, copper and iron from your druggist and take two small tablets before each meal. If, after one week, you do not show a gratifying improvement, he will gladly return your money. Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, copper and iron costs but fifty cents and is guaranteed everywhere.—(adv.)

Air Aristocrat of the Circus

Heading the groups of girl aerialists with the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, coming to Atlanta Saturday, is Sally Siegrist, member of the famous Siegrist troupe of flyers, one of the outstanding aerial acts in circusdom. If a vote for the most popular girl with the big show was taken among the 1,100 people, Sally would come awfully close to getting 1,100 votes. She is of the old circus aristocracy, the fifth generation of flyers, and the crowds acclaim her daily as the greatest aerial gymnast of all time. Other featured aerial displays include the Clarkonians, the Wingard Trio and the Cronin Sisters.

NORMAN THOMAS HITS U. S. BANKING SYSTEM

Socialist Urges Kentucky Voters To Support Him at Polls.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19.—(UP) Norman Thomas urged upon conservative Kentuckians tonight his election as socialist president of the United States. He said only a socialist president could rebuild the country's banking system, which he called "the most corrupt and incompetent feature of American Life."

He said the Insull collapse, the Kreuger disaster and innumerable bank failures proved that socialization of the banking structure was necessary.

The socialist program, he said, would attrack the banking problem with the five following reforms:

1—Socialization of the federal reserve system.

3—Publicly owned municipal and state banks.

4—Reserve banks empowered to lend directly to municipal, state and federal authorities which operate socialized public utilities.

5—A central financial administration connected with the federal reserve system and also with a national economic planning council with "steadily increasing powers over the issuance of credit and the direction of investment into industrial channels."

A COLD PASSES THRU 3 STAGES!

It is Twice as Easily Stopped in the First as in the Second or Third Stages!

A cold passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 2 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once it gets beyond the Dry Stage it is far more difficult to relieve. Therefore, treat a cold promptly.

The best thing you can take is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, because it does the four things necessary, in the way required. It opens the bowels. Kills the germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the relief you want—complete, thorough and decisive! Trust to nothing less.

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. No narcotics. No bad after-effects of any kind. Relief with comfort! The whole world knows Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane-wrapped. Get it at any drug store. There is nothing "just as good."

On the Air

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, will be heard in a campaign speech over WGST and the Columbia network tonight from 7:15 to 7:30. The address, to be given at Columbus, Ohio, will form part of Thomas' active campaign which has included numerous speeches in cities throughout the country. Formerly a Presbyterian minister, he has been the leading figure of his party for several years.

A musical program dedicating the new Washington (D. C.) outlet of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Station WJSV, will be presented under the direction of Andre Kostelanetz tonight from 9 to 9:30 over the nation-wide Columbia network and WGST.

The program will be composed entirely of American themes, opening with a medley of the official songs of the United States army, navy and marine services. These will be followed by the Largo from Dvorak's "New World Symphony;" "Father of Waters," from Grofe's "Mississippi Suite," and "G'wine to Heb'n," by Wolfe, sung by Evan Evans, baritone, with orchestral accompaniment.

Helen Board, soprano, and a male chorus will offer "Ma "Li'l Bateau." Concluding selections will be the "Dagger Dance," from Victor Herbert's "Natoma," a special vocal and string arrangement of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," and a medley of American national tunes, including "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," "Dixie," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Vaughn De Leath will offer a group of vocal novelties, including a revival of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and "K-K-Katy, My Beautiful Katy," when she presents her Melody Circle on the WGST-CBS network today at 4:45 p. m. The versatile songstress also will sing "Grandfather's Clock" and "Down in Jungle Town," with orchestral interludes of "Malinda's Wedding Day" and "Pony Boy."

The Boswell Sisters will put their inimitable swing and pitch into a harmony version of "Minnie the Moocher's Wedding Day" when they perform with Norman Brokenshire and Nat Shilkret's Novelty orchestra in the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" tonight at 8. Shilkret's offerings will include Irving Berlin's new number, "How Deep Is the Ocean?" and a "Rhythmic Dream."

Ida Bailey Allen, home economist, will discuss "Putting the Garden to Bed for the Winter" during her program today from 9:15 to 9:30 a. m. over the WGST-Columbia network. Mrs. Allen also will describe the procedure she is following in closing her summer home and the appropriate flower decoration for both town and country houses. "The Nightingale," a lyric soprano, and Miss Belez, violinist, will contribute a musical background.

Miss Helen Gude Weds Mr. Rourk At Sacred Heart Church Rectory

The marriage of Miss Helen Gude and John Westcott Rourk, of New York city, formerly of Savannah, took place Wednesday morning in the rectory of Sacred Heart church and is of cordial interest to hosts of relatives and friends. Father John B. Doonan, of New Orleans, performed the ceremony at 10 o'clock in the presence of immediate relatives and a small company of intimate friends.

Miss Peggy Gude, the bride's sister, was her only attendant, and Dr. Nathan L. Teague acted as best man for Mr. Rourke. Miss Gude wore a stylish model of henna-colored wool, introducing white angora collar and cuffs. Her hat was a becoming model of black felt and she wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Lovely Bride.

The bride, whose beauty is of the titian type, was smartly attired in a three-piece Lucien Lelong ensemble of bottle green wool. The coat introduced a cape of brown squirrel and the blouse was of white satin. She wore a Jean Patou sailor of brown felt and the accessories were in matching tones of brown. Her shoulder bouquet was of orchids. The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. A. Valdemar Gude, with whom she entered the rectory.

Mrs. Gude's costume combined black crepe with white crepe and she wore a black felt hat and a shoulder spray of Joanna Hill roses. Miss May O'Brien, maternal aunt of the bride, was gowned in green crepe, worn with a black felt hat, and her shoulder bouquet was of Talisman roses. Mrs. A. Valdemar Gude Sr., paternal grandmother of the bride, was gowned in gray crepe and wore a hat of gray velvet and a shoulder bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Katharine Rourk, of Savannah, sister of the bridegroom wore a black velvet costume and a black velvet hat. Her shoulder bouquet was of Joanna Hill roses. Mrs. Harry Hasson, of Jacksonville, Fla., maternal aunt of the bride, wore black crepe and a black felt hat and a shoulder spray of yellow roses.

After the ceremony Miss May O'Brien entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Piedmont Driving Club, her guests numbering the immediate relatives, and afterward Mr. Rourk and his bride left by motor for New York city, where they will establish their residence.

Mrs. Rourk is the elder daughter of Mrs. A. V. Gude Jr. and the late Mr. Gude, and although she never made her debut in society she has been exceedingly popular and admired. She graduated from Washington Seminary and was a member of the Pi Pi Club and attended St. Genevieve's convent in Asheville, N. C. She is a sister of Miss Peggy Gude and of A. Valdemar Gude Jr. and she is a great-niece of Miss Annie Flynn. Mr. Rourk is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rourk, of Savannah. He graduated from Georgia School of Technology and is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. He is connected with Jacobson & Co. in New York city.

Mrs. Harry Hasson, aunt of the bride, and Miss Harriet Hasson, her cousin, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Katharine Bourk, of Savannah, and Father John Doonan, of New Orleans, composed the list of out-of-town guests attending the Gude-Rourk rites.

St. Louis Visitor Is Feted Guest.

Mrs. Charles T. Mabry, of St. Louis, Mo., is being feted at a series of parties during her visit to Mrs. W. B. Ellington at her home on Ormewood avenue.

Mrs. Ellington entertained 25 close friends of Mrs. Mabry at tea Tuesday at her home in honor of her guest. Miss Louise Williams presided at the tea table. Fall flowers were effectively used in decorating the reception rooms.

Mrs. Mabry will share honors with Mrs. C. W. C. Moore, of Talladega, Ala., the guest of Mrs. J. F. Camp, at the luncheon at which Mrs. Tyre Watson will entertain today at her home on McLendon avenue.

Mrs. Floyd's Tea.

Study Course Program Inaugurates Series.

Taking Wednesday's program of the study course series of the Atlanta Music Club as a criterion for the study course programs to follow, general predictions are that this series, on the third Wednesday morning in every month, will rival the morning musicales in popularity, for the program yesterday held the large morning audience in absorbed interest from the concise and short discussion of the development of the sonate form, the program subject, by Mrs. Howard Claude Smith Jr., the club's president, through the sonata program, abounding in artistry and beauty of composition, presented by Miss Irene Leftwich, pianist; Miss Claire Harper, violinist; Mrs. Charles Chalmers, pianist, and the Atlanta Philharmonic String quartet, composed of Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, first violin; Miss Rose Thompson, second violin; Miss Senta Mueller, viola, and Thomas Hutcheson, cello.

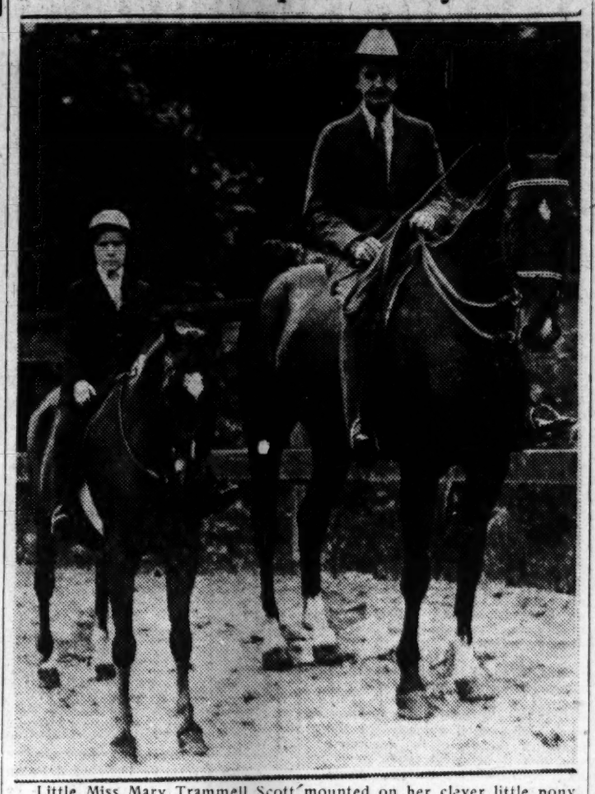

Miss Leftwich showed a decided flair for interpretation of the classic style in Scarlatti's "Sonata in D Major," played with clarity and daintiness; in the "Sonata in E Minor" (pastorale), by the same composer, where exquisite purity of tone reigned, and in the Haydn "Sonata in D Major," wherein was revealed the true artist's temperament and feeling.

Miss Harper and Mrs. Chalmers combined their talents into a lovely performance of Brahms' "Third Sonata for Violin and Piano (in D minor)." This work, extremely difficult technically and musically, was brilliantly rendered from the "allegro," through the emotional "adagio," and the "un poco presto" with its attractive rhythmic and harmonic structure, to the final note of the "presto agitato." Here were two superior artists merging their individualities into a superb performance.

The Atlanta Philharmonic String quartet has never been heard to better advantage by this reviewer than in Wednesday's program, when they played Beethoven's "Quartette in F Major," including all movements save the third, the "scherzo" movement. They played with fine synchronization and tonal blending, and with a definite unity of feeling and reverence for context that was praiseworthy. Keen interest has always centered around their growth and development, and their splendid and artistic performance yesterday was enthusiastically received. MOZELLE HORTON.

Woman's Division Holds Meeting.

Woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce met for dinner Monday evening in the Chamber building. Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Mrs. R. O. Kerlin and Miss Florence Butler were welcomed as new members to the division.

Miss Nora Allen sang "Rose of My Heart" and Miss Allen and Floyd Fuller sang the "Prison Scene" from Il Trovatore, accompanied by Professor E. Volpi. Mrs. Susie Caldwell presented the claims of the Community Chest. Announcement was made of the Spanish class under the direction of Dr. Cecil Stockard.

Miss Elma Burnette spoke of the new class in economics. This class is composed of members of the woman's division and the Junior Chamber, and it meets every Thursday evening at the Evening School of Commerce, the specific topic being "Unfair Trade Practices." Credit will be given for work accomplished in the class.

A feature of entertainment was a "white elephant sale," at which Miss Susie Wailes, garbed to fit the part, acted as auctioneer.

The division voted to direct its Thanksgiving offering this year to the children's ward of Grady hospital. Mrs. S. A. Blake was appointed chairman of a committee to have charge of this project with the following assistants: Mrs. D. R. Stauffacher, Mrs. F. M. Robinson and Mrs. R. O. Kerlin.

Ladies' Riding Class Interests Army Set.

Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' League Meets This Evening

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' League this evening will feature Edgar Howerton, of the Atlanta Conservatory; Griffith string quartet, Dr. James F. Watson, of Atlanta School of Oratory, and Mrs. Richard Battle, who interprets economic problems.

So keen is the interest in the newly organized glee club that league members invite other clubs in the Y. W. C. A. to join. Under the direction of Edgar Howerton a chorus of over 40 voices will be trained to appear publicly. Mr. Howerton attained remarkable success with glee clubs at Wesleyan College, Mercer University and Duke University. For those preferring public speaking to singing, Dr. James F. Watson offers a class in public speaking which creates poise and charm and cultivates a pleasant speaking voice. Dr. Watson was formerly president of American Philosophical Research Society and is author of textbooks on education and expression.

Continuing the series of studies on government, the next three meetings will be devoted to the three party platforms, presented impartially by speakers who will invite discussion. Mrs. Richard Battle will outline the major issues of the republican platform this evening and will bring a refreshing dissertation upon the much-discussed planks. The fellowship period, immediately following supper at 6 o'clock, will be featured by players from the Griffith School of Music. In addition the girls will enjoy moving pictures of European scenes shown by Mr. Adams, of the Cunard Company.

One of the most popular classes is social dancing, with Miss Eugenia Dozier, of the Atlanta Conservatory, directing. Others enjoy the swimming class conducted by Mrs. C. E. Drummond, of the Y. W. C. A. staff.

Miss Flora Hatcher, business girls' secretary, invites any business girl interested in joining "Y" clubs to secure further information from her office, 37 Auburn avenue. These classes and activities are offered at nominal rates, with supper each Thursday evening, 25 cents and dues, $3 per year, covering all expenses.

Miss Virginia Torrance Elected Head of Girls' Cotillion Club

Reading from left to right the trio includes Miss Frances Barnett, secretary; Miss Marion Wolff, treasurer, and Miss Virginia Torrance, president, of the Girls' Cotillion Club, the election having taken place Wednesday at the Piedmont Driving Club. Miss Mary Jernigan, who was elected vice president of the social organization, does not appear in the picture. A dance will be given during the December holidays by the Girls' Cotillion Club, and the event will be of social importance to the younger society contingent. Photo by George Cornett, staff photographer.

Miss Virginia Torrance was elected president of the Girls' Cotillion Club at the annual meeting held yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, and the corps of officers elected to serve with her were Miss Mary Jernigan, vice president; Miss Frances Barnett, secretary, and Miss Marion Wolff, treasurer. The retiring president is Mrs. Everard Richardson Jr., whose one-year term of office was concluded at the meeting held yesterday.

Miss Torrance is a popular and attractive member of the organization, and is endowed with executive ability and unusual charm. She is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Torrance, and the sister of Mrs. Arthur Rylander, of Americus, the former Miss Corneille Torrance, Cobb Torrance and Bascom Torrance Jr., of New York.

Miss Torrance received her education at Washington Seminary and at Sweet Briar College, in Virginia. During her college days she was an outstanding student. She was chosen editor of the publication, Missemma, at the seminary and was a member of the O. B. X. sorority. Making her bow to society several winters ago, she was formally presented at a brilliant reception given by her mother at the Torrance residence on Delmont drive.

Plans were discussed for the ball to be given by the club in December, but no date was set for the affair, which is the organization's only social activity during the season.

Hollingsworth-Gregory Wedding Solemnized at Druid Hills Church

Druid Hills Presbyterian church was the scene of the sunset ceremony which united in marriage Miss Evelyn Pearce Hollingsworth and Paul Edison Gregory yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Dr. Wade H. Boggs, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Preceding the wedding ceremony an appropriate musical program was rendered. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was used and the Mendelssohn wedding march was used as the recessional.

The church was elaborately decorated for the occasion with quantities of palms, foliage plants and white chrysanthemums. The back of the pulpit was banked with palms with floor baskets of white chrysanthemums arranged in the midst of the foliage. Six-branched candelabra were placed at intervals on the choir rail alternating with baskets of white chrysanthemums. A basket of these lovely blooms was also arranged in the center of the altar. The pews reserved for the families were marked by clusters of white chrysanthemums tied with wide white satin ribbon.

Topaz Tinted Gown.

Miss Jean Cooke, maid of honor, was gowned in topaz tinted rough crepe, fashioned with an empire waistline and slipper-length skirt. A short jacquette, trimmed with ruching of brown velvet around the armholes, was fastened to the bodice of the gown with a crystal clip. She wore a hat of brown velvet made with a narrow brim turned up sharply in the back and finished with a small bow of the same material. Completing her costume were brown accessories. She carried a sheaf of yellow and bronze-shaded dahlias tied with ribbon in these tones.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Hillis Chilton and Miss Elizabeth Patterson, wore gowns of peach-tinted salamanda crepe, made on similar lines to that of the maid of honor, with high waistlines and short jacquettes, which were fastened down the middle of the front with crystal buttons. They wore hats of brown velvet with narrow brims turned up in the back and trimmed with small velvet bows in the front. Their accessories were brown and they also carried bouquets of yellow and bronze-shaded dahlias tied with ribbon in these tones.

Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Columbus Jefferson Hollingsworth Sr., was gowned in white satin cut on severely plain lines, princess style, with a yoke suggestive of the empire period and the long court train built in the skirt which reached to floor length. Her veil was made cap-shape and confined to her hair at either side by a dainty spray of orange blossoms, and clusters of orange blossoms were caught at intervals on the tulle which fell in diaphanous folds over the long train. The bride's bouquet was fashioned of white rosebuds and valley lilies showered with valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth entertained at an informal reception at their home on Highland avenue. Mrs. Hollingsworth was gowned in black chiffon crepe trimmed at the neck and sleeves with lace. She wore a small hat of black panne velvet caught with a rhinestone ornament and completing her costume was a shoulder bouquet of valley lilies. Mrs. William C. Hair wore a gown of Wales blue chiffon crepe with a blue velvet turban and matching accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of valley lilies.

Attractive decorations prevailed throughout the reception rooms with various colored fall flowers being used. In the dining room pink roses and and yellow dahlias adorned the buffet and consoles. The center of the dining table was ornamented by a mound of these flowers encircled by six silver candlesticks holding light green tapers. The wedding cake, which was an exquisite creation embossed in yellow and pink, was placed on the serving table and surrounded by pink and yellow roses.

Mr. Gregory and his bride left by motor for a trip to Florida after which they will reside at 960 Highland avenue. For traveling, Mrs. Gregory donned a suit of brown rough woolen, made with a short wrap-around cape and trimmed with rows of small gold buttons. She wore a brown sailor hat and matching accessories.

Kirkwood P.-T. A.

Kirkwood Pre-school Association meets Thursday afternoon, October 20, at 3 o'clock in the Kirkwood school. A program of interest to parents of the pre-school group has been arranged and will cover every important phase of pre-school work. A number of pre-school children will entertain with readings. N. A. P. S. Board To Meet Friday.

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, Decatur, and Charles Frederick Stone, of Atlanta, have been elected new members of the board of trustees of the North Avenue Presbyterian school. Dr. Marion McH. Hull, chairman of the board of trustees of the school, announces a meeting of the board Friday afternoon, October 21, at 3 o'clock.

Wednesday at chapel in the high school, Miss Leslie Gaylord, professor of mathematics at Agnes Scott, spoke on the practical value of mathematics. Miss Gaylord was introduced by Miss Frances B. Hatcher, head of that department at N. A. P. S.

New members of the Cecilian Dramatic Club will be announced Friday in chapel. All those who are interested in joining will try out Thursday, and the club will select those who most nearly fit the types required for their plays, the first of which will be given in November at the Tech Y. M. C. A. The faculty advisors for the club this year are Misses Mary Ellis and Ethel Pharr. Mrs. Winfrey Peek is the coach of the Cecilians.

Debutantes Admire Exquisite Flowers

The attractive bevy of debutantes pictured above are admiring the exquisite array of orchids, dahlias, roses and other autumn flowers being displayed today at the "open house to flower lovers" at the Colonial Flower shop, at Peachtree and Twelfth streets. Misses Elizabeth Whitten and Emily Inglis are seated on the first row, and the group on the back row, from left to right, includes Misses Elinor Smith, Barbara Lowe, Teresa Hanger and Nancy Keeler. Tallulah's Two Poignant Needs Have Been Supplied at the School

At the February meeting of the board of trustees of Tallulah Falls school it was stated that the two most poignant needs of the school were a small infirmary and a deep well to supply an abundant and unfailing supply of pure water. At the semi-annual trustees' meeting held at Henry Grady hotel Wednesday announcement was made that these two great needs had been supplied. "By the generosity of some wonderful friends of Tallulah Falls school a beautiful little health clinic has been built and completely furnished and is now in active service," said Mrs. John K. Ottley, president of the board, who presided over the meeting. "It is of rough gray boulders and weathered timbers in the style of the other Tallulah buildings and nestles among the trees on the slope of a hill just as if it had grown there. Its furnishings are the best procurable. We are tremendously proud of it.

"The deep well is being bored and we hope to strike a deep flow soon and end the school's most desperate need. During the recent drouth only sponge baths could be taken in any of our eleven buildings, and we do believe that cleanliness is an important adjunct of education as well as of godliness. With the new health clinic building and plenty of pure, fresh water we feel that nothing in the world can stop Tallulah."

Mrs. Ottley stated that the trustees did not know just who would give the school the well, but felt perfectly sure that someone would welcome the opportunity to do so much good for a moderate sum of money.

New Trustee.

Mrs. Clifford Smith, of LaGrange, one of Georgia's leading clubwomen, was elected to membership on the board of trustees. Mrs. Bolling Jones presented resolutions of sorrow upon the loss of Miss Rosa Woodberry, one of the school's early trustees and a dearly loved co-worker. She proposed a resolution of regret at the passing of Mrs. Joseph Madison High, "great citizen and much loved friend," whose death in the spring of 1932 occurred since the regular meeting of the trustees. A vote of appreciation was passed for the bequest to Tallulah Falls school from Mrs. High of $1,000 to establish the Mary Frances Grier scholarship fund in memory of her beloved mother. Mrs. A. P. Brantley, life-long friend of Mrs. High, and chairman of this fund, reported use already being made of a portion of this bequest.

The Nellie Peters Black perpetual scholarship was reported as paid in full and guaranteed for perpetual maintenance. This scholarship, which is the memorial to the late much-loved Mrs. Nellie Peters Black of her daughters, Mrs. John F. MacDougald, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Lamar Rucker, of Athens, was the first perpetual scholarship established under the plan which was a feature of the Greater Tallulah campaign for physical expansion and financial permanence for the school. Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, trustee of the Beck educational fund, told of extension to Tallulah Falls school of certain scholarships from this foundation.

Special Objective.

Mrs. T. O. Tabor, of Elberton, chairman of junior clubs of Georgia Federation, with Mrs. Stewart Brown as co-chairman, announced that work for Tallulah Falls school would be the special objective of Georgia's junior clubwomen this year. The fact that the junior gifts would all be used to establish the Stewart Brown scholarship at Tallulah would undoubtedly inspire the girls to do their very best since Dr. Brown's generosity in giving health to so many Tallulah children by removing their tousils and adenoids at his hospital in Royston well-merited this recognition. Mrs. Tabor stated that a further inducement to good work was the prize of $10, which would be awarded the junior club making the largest per capita gift during the year, and the board expressed hearty approval of these plans.

The awards of Tallulah Falls gavels in the districts was incomplete as many of the districts are still holding their autumn conventions, which will terminate in early November. The only gavel awards reported to headquarters up to date are the Every Saturday Club, of Atlanta, from the fifth district; the Bartow Woman's Club from the old tenth district and the Macon Woman's Club in the sixth district. Other awards will be given publicity later.

Mrs. Ottley asked a special vote of thanks to John C. Grabbe, manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co., for the generous gift of a beautiful new green-and-red wagon, freight included, which had been made to the school and to the good old mule, Frank Tallulah, who stood in unaccustomed idleness for many weeks with his wagon hopelessly broken and no money in the treasury to buy another. Mr. Grabbe's gift was heartily cheered.

Special Gifts.

Mrs. Ben F. Parker, president of Young Matrons' Circle, presented a check for $1,200, as the circle's gift to the school at this time, the sum of $800, having been given in February. Mrs. Charles T. Winship announced $1,274.50 as the personal scholarship gifts of the year. Both of these announcements were cheered to the echo and the Young Matrons' Circle declared to be the life-saving circle of the Tallulah Falls school.

Junior Horse Show.

Mrs. Walter T. Candler, general chairman of the Junior Horse Show to be held for the benefit of Tallulah at Mrs. Wheeler's ring, at the Biltmore Riding Academy, on Roxboro road on October 29, beginning at 1 o'clock, announced plans completed for a wonderful show of Atlanta youngsters and their ponies, and invited everybody to come and spend a delightful afternoon. She suggested that a junior horse show for Tallulah would be a wonderful way for the junior clubs in other towns to make some of the money for the Stewart Brown scholarship. Other Young Matrons' Circle officials present were Mrs. Martin Kilpatrick, first vice president; Mesdames William Akers, Lawrence Willet, Bernard Neal and Eugene Harrington.

Radiant With Flowers.

The dinner was made radiant by quantities of beautiful flowers. Mrs. Gholston brought some from Comer, and others came from Atlanta. The special admiration of the meeting, composed of garden-minded women, was a marvelous group of dahlias from the collection of John A. Hynds, on Habersham road, which are cared for by Mr. Hynds, personally, and many of the varieties propagated by him. The special star of the collection was "Habersham Lady," a marvelous infolding flower of deep red and cream, which was originated on Habersham road.

Additional Guests.

Additional guests joined the trustees at 7 o'clock for dinner, at which Mrs. R. Wayne Patterson, education chairman of Georgia Branch Colonial Dames, was presented and appreciation expressed for a scholarship maintained at Tallulah for a number of years by this association. Mrs. Blewett Lee, an old Atlantan, recently returned from a long residence in New York to make her home again in Atlanta, was welcomed as the donor of the G. J. Foreacre scholarship. Newly-elected officers of Georgia Federation were especially complimented at this dinner, as Mrs. J. W. Gholston, of Comer, president, and Mrs. W. W. Stark, of Commerce, general federation director from Georgia, were guests of honor. New district presidents present were Mrs. Herman De La Perriere, of the ninth; Mrs. Walter Armistead, of the tenth.

Those present at meeting and dinner, all of whom were presented, were Mrs. J. W. Gholston, of Comer; Mrs. W. W. Stark, of Commerce; Mrs. E. M. Bailey, of Acworth, vice president Georgia Federation; Mrs. John Monaghan, of Pelham, recording secretary; Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, of Athens, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Morris Bryan, treasurer.

Trustees present were Mesdames John K. Ottley, Walter Lamar, Z. I. Fitzpatrick, L. G. Hardman, Price Gilbert, Price Smith, Samuel M. Inman, Charles J. Haden, Bolling H. Jones, A. P. Brantley, James E. Hays, Lamar Rucker, Howard H. McCall, James E. Hickey, J. Lindsay Johnson, Eugene Harrington, J. W. Gholston, John F. MacDougald, Walter Armistead, of Crawford; Ralph Butler, of Dallas; A. C. Moye Jr., of Cuthbert; Herman De La Perriere, Hoschton; Harvie Jordan, Charles Goodman, S. V. Sanford, Robert Rambo, Blewett Lee, R. Wayne Patterson, Lawrence Willet, Bernard Neal, Ben Parker, Walter Candler, T. O. Taber Jr., Martin Kilpatrick, Charles T. Winship, William Akers and Rix Stafford.

Progressive Club.

Progressive Grove No. 361 of Supreme Forest Woomen circle, meets Monday evening, October 24, at 7:30 o'clock, in the hall of Henry Grady hotel. Visiting members of the society are invited. Mrs. Loretta Viola Hayes is guardian and Mrs. Belle H. King is financial and recording secretary.

Junior Circle No. 38 meets at 7 o'clock on the same evening, with Miss Mary Maurine Brooks as junior guardian and Mrs. Inez Floyd as junior supervisor.

Oakhurst P.-T. A.

Oakhurst P.-T. A., of Decatur, will sponsor a Halloween carnival Friday evening, October 21, in the school auditorium. Members, especially the daddies, and the public are invited.

IT SAVED HER DAUGHTER

IT IS the daughter herself—Miss Rose Lama—who willingly gives the facts in a letter.

She says, "My mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was younger. But I wouldn't. If I had, I might have been a well girl now. I suffered terribly every month."

Finally the girls in her office convinced her. She tried it at last. Now she is on the way to greater health and happiness. Mothers—tell your daughters. And daughters—take your mother's advice. Suffering is unnecessary.

Sweepstakes Prize Won by Mrs. Dunn At Rose Club Show

Gorgeous crimson roses effectively arranged in a black glass bowl entered by Mrs. William Dunn was awarded the sweepstakes prize at the Rose Garden Club flower show held yesterday at the Brookhaven Club. The judges were Mesdames William Akers, Bolling Sasnett and Carl Lewis.

Mrs. Willard McBurney captured a quartet of ribbons displaying a dainty miniature flower arrangement, a spray of colli cerpa, with red and white berries and glossy foliage, stately dahlias and a platter of autumnal fruits in colorful array. Pine cones and trailing ivy adorned the huge silver platter.

Mrs. Fred Cooledge Jr. was awarded the blue ribbon for her interesting display of cacti which she had raised from seed and included many varieties. Mrs. Charles Marshall captured second place for her miniature basket of flowers and Mrs. Charles Evans won a ribbon for her crimson dahlias placed in a dull pottery bowl. Tall green stalks and perfect blossoms of Mrs. Elwyn Tomlinson's dahlias won a blue ribbon while Mrs. Walter Wilson was presented the blue ribbon for her miniature garden where tiny blossoms, green turf, and walks completed a perfect whole.

Mrs. J. H. Hines, the efficient president of the club, presided at the luncheon given following the flower show. She introduced Miss Martha Slaton who spoke on French gardens. Red and pink roses graced the long table where covers were placed for 58 guests. A birthday cake topped by four pink tapers graced the table, the club celebrating the fourth year of its organization. A huge vase of dahlias culled from the garden of Mrs. Carl Lewis and presented to the club was a feature of the decorations.

Mrs. Swagerty Speaks To Grant Park Club.

Mrs. J. D. Swagerty, secretary of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, will be guest speaker at the Grant Park Women's Club meeting to be held Friday afternoon, October 21, at 3 o'clock in the palm room of the Georgia Power Company, on South Boulevard.

Her subject will be "Citizenship," and Mrs. N. A. Lanford is program chairman and will provide musical selections for the entertainment of club members.

B Sharp Music Club.

The B Sharp Music Club met at the home of Dewey Hitchcock Jr. Saturday. The following officers were elected to serve during the year: Dewey Hitchcock Jr., president; Barbara Benefield, vice president; Frances Mann, secretary; Bonnie Jean Marler, treasurer; Janet McCrary, musical chairman.

Bonnie Jean Marler was awarded the practice prize for the month. Janet McCrary received the prize for the contest. The members present, who are pupils of Aida Tedder de Bray, were Dewey Hitchcock, Doris Young, Martha Grogan, Virginia Holley, Harold Hardin, Jane Hamby, Otis Hamby Jr., Janet McCrary, Bonnie Jean Marler, Marthalyn Bruce, Doris Thomason, Frances Mann, Robert Hill, Elaine Hill, Johnnie Mae McDaniel and Dorothy Benson.

Scarboro—Webb.

Mrs. Benjamin Harvey Hill, of West Point, formerly of Atlanta, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Hill Scarboro, to George Davis Webb, of Atlanta, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., the wedding to be quietly solemnized at an early date.

Gleaned From the Notebook of Women's Division of Atlanta Community Chest

"Just suppose," said one of them on the woman's committee gathered to discuss the progress of the organization, "just suppose that there were again turned loose upon Atlanta 38 drives for funds during the year. I shudder to think of it."

"More than that," answered another. "We've learned an invaluable lesson of working together, of co-ordinating our services, of fitting in the needs of one organization to another. We have learned to call upon one another for specialized advice and help, in working out plans for maladjusted people."

"Do you know," interrupted a third, "I verily believe we used to fight over our various agencies and loves? For instance, you, Jane, never could see anything but the Old Woman's Home, and Susie put all her energies into the Home for Incurables and just didn't know why in the world we were interested in funds for any other organization; and Mary remembered the beginning of the Family Welfare Society and her sympathies were there; and Belle thought there ought to be day nurseries for children while mothers were at work, but couldn't seem to understand that there were some children without mothers or with unfit mothers."

"Yes, and we wrangled from the euchre period to bridge and auction . . . just a little bit through auction."

"Don't forget to put theater periods in your chronology; 'legits,' 'ten-twenty-thirts,' motion pictures, movies, down to talkies. . . . Well, it's all over now and we are really beginning to understand the whole plan of social service. I think we have even come so far as to admit that trained social workers are better fitted for case work than we are, don't you all?"

"Of course, we have, but . . . it's mighty nice to be among the board of directors, if not officers of our agencies, and have first-hand information of what actually takes place, and hear the infinite pains and knowledge and tact it requires to arrive at the truth of a pitiful story and relieve the distress."

"We certainly have been taken advantage of many and many a time; it's nice that we can now look back on the blackness of our ignorance and realize that we are learning that great lesson of the combination of heart and head."

"My, is it 12 o'clock? Back to work. Scram girls, scram, to use the language of flaming youth!"

AROUND LOCAL CONTRACT TABLES

by Whitner Cary

Slams and Overcalls.

Going out of the city does not help Fred Shaefer's and Bill Dickey's tournament bridge. This pair returned from a very enjoyable trip just in time to parade to the post in Mrs. Emma McDaniel's tournament. They need not have hurried back, as they finished well down among the also rans. Both have been going fairly good in recent tournaments, however, and maybe it was a natural reaction. A. M. Dunn probably never played duplicate until two months ago. Since his first appearance he and Mrs. J. G. Russell, his favorite partner, have been first in two of Mrs. McDaniel's tournaments. Many more experienced players are still looking for their first win in any tournament. Winning the Red Book prize for the most interesting hand sent in during the month has not helped Joe David to win any tournaments. Remember a few weeks ago when every article had something recorded about his winning one or more tournaments? Since he won that prize he has failed to crash through in a single one. All of which shows that when $250 is dumped into your hands in this time of restricted diet it has its effects. The best bridge I ever played was in Augusta at the southeastern tournament when I was on limited rations. Two tournaments and one or two second places fell to me and my shrinking waistline. The moral of which is eat plentifully and see others win cups. Did you know, that Mrs. Annie Adair Foster is on the team which is leading the pack at the Mayfair club's team-of-four tournament series? She and Jack Oakhurst bid Culbertson as if Eli and his wife were watching every move. Billy Barrett, once known as a semi-resident of this city, is now engaged in hard study of the law at Athens. I consider this real news. Rumor has it that he will not be with us as much during the winter as was his custom last spring. This may or may not be considered a blessing, all according to whether he is holding big cards or not. Henry Channing should be back in the city any day now. The popular Henry has been on a business tour of the middle west and likely has had little chance for much bridge. He should be like unto a roaring lion when he next sits at a bridge table.

I notice that a very interesting writer of this city mentions in his column that the more he sees of tournament contract the greater is his respect for Lady Luck. One would gather from his article on the subject that in his secret heart he believes that luck and not skill triumph in any tournament.

Your commentator has often stressed the fact that in any one tournament in which a limited number of boards were played (say 20) that the winning pair generally was blessed with a certain amount of good breaks. But over a series of tournaments these breaks will even and at the conclusion of the series the better players will be at the top.

I have often made the statement that if the two greatest players in the United States entered a Cavendish Club tournament on any particular Friday evening the odds against those two winning that one tournament would be at least two or three to one. I will go further now and say I think the odds would be at least five to one. But let those two great players take part in 10 of these tournaments and they would likely pile up the greatest score over the long distance. They should win one or two and finish well up in the rest.

Occasionally in this city you see a tournament won by two players of rather mediocre ability. But these players seldom repeat and as a rule finish far down in most of the tournaments.

Fortunately for my side of the argument we have tangible proof in Atlanta to back up my theory that over a stretch the better players will be either at the top or near it. Some weeks ago the Cavendish Club ran a series of 10 tournaments to decide the individual championship of that club. Points were given in inverse order to the first six who finished in each tournament. At the conclusion of those 10 I call your attention to the order of finish. John Hardisty, Mrs. Spotswood Grant, Mrs. Marie Parker, Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, Mrs. Carl Vretman, Mrs. Gladys Peabody, Mrs. W. C. Coleman and Fred Shaefer. There, brothers and sisters, are the first eight. In this series of tournaments practically every good player in Atlanta participated. Glance over that list. You don't see a weak player in it and the eight are certainly among the high-ranking players of this town. The first eight places and not a single poor player in the lot. I close my argument with writing those eight names. The bridge players will appreciate the force of it and to those not knowing bridge ability there is little use to try to convince.

The week has started off briskly with plenty of tournament action. The start was made with a very close team-of-four tournament at the Mayfair Club. This was the second of a series of these affairs, the accumulative points to govern in the final awarding of the championship.

The winning combination turned up in Mrs. Emma McDaniel's team consisting of herself, W. H. Edwards, R. L. Turner and Carl Fraser. This quartet played good, sound, steady bridge throughout the afternoon and the victory was well deserved.

While on the subject of the Mayfair Club it might be well to state that the finals in the series of four tournaments which have been run at that club will take place this weekend. The finals will consist of all the pairs which have come first and second in the series.

Monday evening the fourth and last of the series was run in two sections. Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Wright tied with D. T. Martin and Mr. Newberger for first place in section 1, while Mr. and Mrs. Heistand won top honors in section 2. The following well-known players will take part in the finals: Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Wright, D. T. Martin, Newberger, Mr. and Mrs. Heistand, Joe David, C. O. England, Erskine Jones, W. H Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bunger, Mrs. Emma McDaniel, Mrs. B. C. Dickenson, Mrs. R. L. Lowder, C. M. Fewell, Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale, Mrs. Paul Reid and Bill Dickey.

Mrs. Elwin Clarke's weekly tournament Monday evening resulted in Larry Caudill and R. L. Porter carrying off first honor in the north-south competition and Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Marcus winning in the east-west section.

Twenty-eight blood-thirsty and glory-hunting brothers and sisters gathered Tuesday evening at Mrs. Emma McDaniel's studio to give battle. When the dead had been buried and the wounded cared for it was found that Mrs. J. G. Russell and the dean of Atlanta bridge players, A. M. Dunn, had scampered home with 100 1-2 match points. This was a very fine score and topped the second pair, Mrs. Gladys Peabody and Whitner Cary, by 81-2 points. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Turner, with 88 points were third.

Mrs. McDaniel's tournaments have proved so popular that she intends to hold two each week. Her regular Tuesday evening affair will be held as usual. In addition, she will hold an afternoon tournament each Saturday afternoon. The evening tournament which has been held on several occasions in two sections will in the future be limited to one section of not over seven tables.

Mrs. J. C. Rader will hold the first of her regular tournaments at her home on Saturday evening. Those desiring to enter can phone her at Hemlock 1646.

Richard Gray III To Honor Team.

Richard Gray III will be host at a wiener roast Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Gray Jr., on Peachtree road. His guests will include the members of the "Bumble Bee" football team, and the party will follow the gridiron clash between this team and the "Mighty Midgets," of Athens, which takes place at 2 o'clock in the Rose Bowl at Georgia Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray will assist their son in the entertainment of his guests, who include Dick Gray Jr., Calhoun Witham, Forrest Adair III, Sarge Andrews, Dudley Shepherd, Jim Gallogly, McLaws Keifer, Carling Dinkler Jr., Sid Jeter, Lawrence Crankshaw, Homer Young, Montague Boyd Jr., Buddy Ruffner, Joe Lyons, Steve Campbell and Jack Campbell, Tom Bothwell, of Decatur, student at Georgia Tech, is the coach for this team.

Mrs. Melton Speaks To Hapeville Club.

Mrs. W. F. Melton, chairman of literature for the fifth district federation and the Atlanta Woman's Club, will speak to the Hapeville Woman's Club this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Hapeville auditorium. Hapeville P.-T. A., the Book Club and Social Club members will be special guests.

Mrs. D. B. Evans will be in charge of the musical program and little Miss Connie Lee McInnis will dance. Tea will be served by Mrs. Luther Connie and her committee. The public is invited to attend by Mrs. Chester Martin, president of the club.

Wilmerding—Russel.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A marriage license was issued here today to Mrs. Caroline Wilmerding, formerly of Atlanta, and James G. Russel, a broker, of 55 Park avenue, this city. The couple announced they would be married sometime this month, in this city.

Mrs. Wilmerding, who gave 10 Mitchell place, this city, as her present residence is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wilmerding. She and her first husband, Victor Harrison Berlitz Jr., were divorced in Reno, Nev., in February, 1931. Mr. Russell, a native New Yorker, is the son of James H. and Julia Goodwin Russel.

Miss Lucas Feted.

Mrs. Willis Callaway was hostess at tea Tuesday at her home on Barnett place, complimenting Miss Jean Lucas, popular debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas. Miss Jane Cunningham and Miss Cornelia Callaway assisted in entertaining.

The guests included Misses Lucas, Mary Adair Howell, Mary Meador Goldsmith, May Latimer, Charlotte King, Russell Stovall, Pattie Porter, Liza Tway, Constance Adams, Frances Boykin, Rosalind Vereen, of Moultrie; Mrs. Robert Martin and Mrs. Arthur Lucas.

Benefit Bridge.

E. Rivers school P.-T. A. will hold a benefit bridge party in Rich's tea room at 3 o'clock Friday, October 21. Tables are $1 and many prizes have been given for the occasion. Players must bring their own cards. Mrs. Jack Pappenheimer is in charge of arrangements.

A. B. C. Club Officers.

Miss Elizabeth Kiely was hostess to the A. B. C. Club Monday afternoon at her home on Peachtree place. An election of officers resulted as follows: Misses Virginia Mackey, president; Virginia Smith, secretary, and Marie Black, treasurer.

Additional Parties Are Planned To Honor Popular Debutantes

Miss Frances Boykin, president of the Debutante Club, will be honor guest at the tea at which Mrs. Lester L. Shivers and her daughters, Mrs. Richard Hardwick, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Russell McKinney, of Chattanooga, Tenn., will entertain Monday, November 7, at the Piedmont Driving Club. Mrs. McKinney will assist in entertaining at the formal debut party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Boykin for Miss Boykin November 8. This debutante was a bridesmaid at the summer wedding of Mrs. McKinney, the former Miss Louisa Shivers.

Miss Emma B. Scott and Llewellyn D. Scott, principals of Washington Seminary, will entertain at tea Wednesday afternoon, November 23, in the reception rooms of the seminary on Peachtree road as a complimentary gesture to all the members of the Debutante Club. With the exception of the army debutantes and two others, all the season's buds were former seminary students.

Miss Mimi O'Beirne will be hostess Sunday evening, November 20, in honor of Miss Sue Burnett. Mrs. Roy Collier's luncheon for Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith, which has already been announced, has been changed to Tuesday, November 15. The Debutante Club will meet today at 12 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mrs. J. Cliff Collins and Miss Ernestine Collins will entertain at a tea October 29 in honor of Miss Gertrude Askew. Assisting Mrs. Collins and Miss Collins will be Mrs. E. G. Vockroth, who will serve tea; Mrs. W. Henry Smith, who will serve coffee; Miss Evelyn Collins, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Florence Bellinger and Miss Mary Glover Thompson.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Free Bids.

Although defensive bidding by the opponents very often tends to interrupt the line of communication between you and your partner, it can also very often be used to your advantage in reaching the proper game or part-score contract. The fact that the opponents have made a Defensive bid will very frequently enable you to draw more delicate and precise inferences as to your partner's holding, when there has been an intervening bid between your Opening bid and your partner's response.

Free bids by the better Contract players are never made with doubtful or shaded holdings. If I, as your partner, open the bidding with one spade, Second Hand bids two hearts, and you now bid two spades, I will know that your hand definitely contains one full Raise for my spade bid, and possibly a little more. If I had opened the bidding with one spade, and Second Hand had passed, I would know that you, on a doubtful hand, would strain a point to keep the bidding open for me, and either give me a shaded Raise for my spade bid or respond with a negative no-trump. Naturally, I would not take your Raise too seriously, and would take into consideration that you might have a minimum or even a shaded holding—that is, unless you took further action later. But the fact that the opponents have now put in an Overcall, which enables you to pass, since the bidding will come around to me again, allows me to place greater faith in any free Raise or free Takeout that you may choose to insert at this point.

Certain Contract players bid on only one basis—that is, they continually try to overcall the opponents and secure the final declaration for their side. Bidding of this kind is based on a faulty major premise. When I open the bidding and the opponent on my left overcalls, the assumption is that we are the attacking side for the time being and that we hold the balance of power. Therefore, there is absolutely no reason for my partner to give me a shaded Raise merely for the purpose of overcalling the opponents, as he is only giving me false information and is taking the control away from the hand which should have the control—namely, the Opening bidder's. He may force me to carry the bidding too high—his bid may bring the bidding to such a level where I cannot show my other suit—or he may stop me from making a Takeout Double, which his hand would be justified in permitting to stand, and thereby securing a large penalty. If I open the bidding and Second Hand passes, I naturally want my partner to strain a point to keep the bidding open for me and he will do so with many doubtful holdings, merely to give me another chance. But these same Responding Hands, which I expect to give me a chance with no intervening bid, are immediately released from the obligation of bidding when Second Hand overcalls. Any bid now made by my partner tells me that he has a fair hand and that his response is not in any way shaded; and to go a little further, I am told by it that if I, the Opening bidder, make a further effort to reach game, my partner will probably co-operate with me.

I am not advocating timid passing by my partner just because there has been an Overcall—there are some hands in which it is necessary for even the Responding Hand to get in his bid at the first opportunity, as the partner of the Overcaller may now jump the bidding to a point where it is too high for me to rebid, and we may miss a game. But, as a general thing, it is very bad practice to sacrifice the opportunity for clearly classifying your hand by making a free bid, which would occur if you started making free bids on mediocre holdings. When your partner has opened the bidding, you are no longer in a defensive position, despite your own comparatively weak holding, and it is no longer necessary to try to hamper opponents' bidding at the expense of misleading your partner.

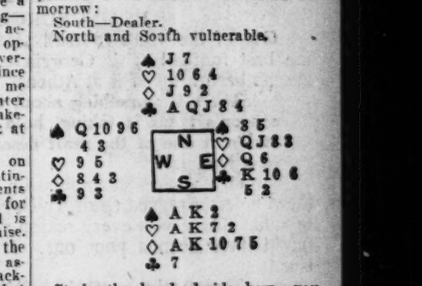

I might be so bold as to make the following statement: A Raise from one to two in a major, when there has been an Overcall by the opponents, is somewhere between a single and a double Raise; whereas, a Raise from one to two without opponents bidding might very well be somewhere between a pass and a single Raise.

In short, make your free bids mean something, and in those cases where an opponent's bid gives you a chance to pass it around to your partner, who holds the controlling hand, do so.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

Friendly Counsel

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Caroline Chatfield: I am a young widow who has been forced, after having been well to do, to earn my living. I am in an office of a close friend of my husband's, and he has told me to go out to luncheons when I am invited and several times when my friends have come by for me in the afternoon he has told me to go on for the day. I have had no experience with business, but I am uneasy for fear I am not doing right. On the other hand, I have two little girls and I am anxious to hold my social position for them. I can not leave my children at night, so my only chance to go around with my old crowd is in the daytime. I have seen so many people drop out and the waters have closed over them. I do not mind for myself, but I feel that I should like my daughters to go with the people I have known. My friends know nothing of business and when I attempt to refuse on the grounds that I should not be away from my work so much they treat me as though I am not grateful for their efforts to hold me in the crowd. I can not think of any middle ground, as it seems I must either go when they ask or stop altogether. What is the best thing for me and the children?

YOUNG WIDOW.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

BETTER BRAN FLAKES

He tells this one on himself:

He gave a party for his friends. And hired a fellow who could play that piano—minor notes—Twee twee twee twa twa—and all that sort of thing.

And along about midnight the piano player told his employer that the guests were getting ready to go and he reckoned he'd played enough.

But the host wanted more music. He insisted on it. "You play until I tell you to stop," he said. "I don't care if they do leave, you play until I tell you to stop."

A little later he sat down and, being tired, went to sleep. He awoke hours later. The lights were on. He was alone. But somewhere there was music. "Many Happy Returns of the Day—"

The fellow was still tickling the ivories—at a good price per hour—and it was 4:30 in the morning. He'd kept the faith.

And did his employer yell "Stop?"

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME.

The history of that Tennessee-Kentucky feud is interesting. Every time the Vols have started on a championship jaunt Kentucky has tied them.

It happened first in 1916 when Tennessee won one of her few (at that time) victories over Vanderbilt. Tennessee had it—until the Kentucky game turned out to be a zero-zero tie.

In 1928 the Neyland forces were gathering steam. Alabama and Vandy were beaten. Kentucky tied them, zero and zero.

Came 1929. The Vols again licked them all, including Vanderbilt and Alabama. They were 4 to 1 favorites to beat Kentucky. Kentucky tied them, 6 and 6.

Alabama won from Tennessee in 1930 and so the Vols kicked Kentucky around, there being nothing at stake.

Nothing could stop the Vols last season. They murdered Alabama and Vanderbilt. Tulane was undefeated, but Tennessee was the favorite. The Rose Bowl bid was already in Neyland's pocket—actually—but contingent on the Kentucky game.

Kentucky tied them by blocking a kick in the last few minutes to play.

If football contains any more dizzier chapter in the pigskin volumes of history than that one you keep it. I couldn't endure reading it.

This year the Vols seem to be on the way again. But the only way they can beat Kentucky, according to that history, is to lose to Vanderbilt.

REAL GEORGIA SPIRIT.

Out of the 1932 football season at Georgia should come the best football spirit Georgia has ever had—and there has always been a lot of it at Athens.

There is something about the manner in which this season's team is taking hold and carrying on which makes it one of the most deserving teams Georgia has ever had.

Usually, when a championship team departs, ten men in all, there is left a ragged spirit which requires two or three years to rebuild. There was every reason why this year's Georgia team might have been a poor one. Ten of the 1931 regulars finished up.

The starting outfit in 1932 lost the first tilt to a foe they were supposed to beat; were routed in the first half of the second game, but came back with a glittering finish, and outplayed Tulane. In the third game, Georgia got away to an early lead only to see a forward pass tie the score in the last quarter.

This was enough to have discouraged the left-overs from last year's team and to have made the new players slow down. But one gathers that the boys at Athens have just begun to fight. Buster Mott and Homer Key, who were a part of the 1931 storm troops, are carrying on like real soldiers in the face of fire. And the new players are following them.

There is a very, very trite saying which declares that it is easy enough to give a dental display when life flows along like a ballad by Irvin Berlin. But the lad worth while is the one who gives you a grin when things are tough as sin.

Georgia had one of the nation's great teams for the past three years. Alumni developed chests like pouter pigeons. This year's Georgia team probably will not get as many cheers nor pack them in at the gate, but it is a team which deserves them.

The Vanderbilt Commodores are doped to win by a touchdown or so on Saturday at Nashville. But the Bulldogs don't know it.

When the sixtieth minute of play comes around the Commodore is still going to feel the pressure. It's the sort of a team one can cheer.

It looks as if Harry Mehre and his staff will do the best job of coaching they have done with the 1932 outfit at Athens.

THE POOR PHILLIES—YEAH?

Al Lopez, Brooklyn catcher, and other baseball men who were in Atlanta Wednesday, fell to discussing the baseball attendance of last season. The Forlorn Phils, managed by Burt Shotton, came up as a topic.

"Philadelphia has always been a National league town," said Nap Rucker, the very left-handed Brooklyn scout. "The Athletics have never been the drawing card they are popularly supposed to be. One hears more talk about them outside Philadelphia than in the city itself.

"The Phillies have a loyal group of fans who go to their games regularly. They always feel they are the better team. One never hears of the Phils being in trouble. They don't make much noise, but they keep going along."

Which recalled the visit of Ed Pollock, Philadelphia sports writer, here last spring when Shotton's crew played an exhibition here.

"The Philly fans always believe the Phils can beat the Athletics," he said. "They won the annual spring series the years the Athletics were winning the World Series.

"And you'd hear Philly fans claiming their club could take the Athletics in easy fashion."

Loyal fans are the greatest asset any ball club can have. And the fact that the Phillies have kept them speaks volumes for the wisdom of the club officials.

NO COMPLAINT FROM MEHRE.

There must be a mistake somewhere. Some of the southern papers are saying that Harry Mehre objected to the play on which North Carolina scored to tie Georgia last Saturday, claiming a Tarheel player was offside.

This is most unjust to Coach Mehre. He made no such assertion, saying instead that the officials were in a better position to see than he and that even had the player been offside it had no effect on the success of the play.

It was just a tie game and the Georgia coaches and team took it without complaint.

STOOL PIGEONS, TOO.

Max Schmeling, the world's best heavyweight fighter, is reported to have invented a new type clay pigeon, but his manager, Dot Yussel, isn't interested because he can't arrange to have stool pigeons shot at instead.

SANDLOTTERS NEED OFFICIALS.

One of the finest organizations in Atlanta, the sandlot football league, needs some help from young men who are competent to serve as officials. There is no finer place to start than with the youngsters. A number of present-day "big league" officials began work with them. It is excellent training. Any man who feels competent is asked to call Lewis Cook at Dearborn 1177-J.

LOUISA ROBERT ENTERS MIAMI AQUATIC MEET

Olympic Coach Predicts Great Future for Atlanta Girl.

By Jack Troy.

It seems only yesterday that the press wires were flashing the distressing news that Miss Louisa Robert, talented young Atlanta backstroke swimmer, was to be operated on for appendicitis at Los Angeles and could not compete on the United States swimming team in the Olympics after making the grade in final qualifying trials at Jones Beach, L. I.

But the ides of October find Miss Robert "back in the swim," literally speaking. She is practicing three times a week and soon will be entering competition again.

Miss Robert has accepted an invitation to compete in the water sports carnival at Miami, annual event which opens the winter season at the famous Florida resort. Miss Katherine Rawls, 14-year-old Olympic champion, and Ray Flanagan, noted swimmer, are among others who will take part.

AROUND XMAS.

The event will be held around Christmas time. And meanwhile, Miss Robert, a student at Agnes Scott, will continue to train weekly and regain the form that swept her in two years of competition to the top in women's swimming circles of America.

W. H. Handley, coach of the women's Olympic swimming team, was author of the statement during the Olympics that Miss Robert would be a serious threat for national swimming honors in 1933.

This statement was predicated on the grounds that Miss Robert had grown two inches in height and would be 18 years old. The additional height, he believed, would give Miss Robert a more powerful stroke.

Since Handley spake these words of encouragement, Miss Eleanor Holm, national backstroke champion, has signed a seven-year moving picture contract with Warner Brothers, leaving the field relatively clear for Miss Robert. The only serious competitor appearing on the blue horizon for Miss Robert is Joan McSheehy, New York star.

Louisa has defeated her once. That was in the semi-finals at Jones Beach. In the finals, Miss McSheehy finished second to Eleanor Holm, with Miss Robert a very close third. And there was the additional factor that Miss Robert drew the outside lane on the rough, wind-chopped course.

KNEW NO TRICKS.

That was the first real competition for Louisa and she was not up on the tricks of the veteran swimmers, such as the methods of getting headstarts on starts and turns. But now she knows.

Starts and turns are being concentrated upon.

With her additional height and experience, experts believe Miss Robert capable of swimming the 100-yard backstroke in 1:12, which will beat any competition existing in women's swimming today.

And so the brilliant and attractive young star, who, a short time ago, was singing in the rain of bitter disappointment at not being able to take part in her first Olympics, is looking ahead to a bright and cheery future. Her unconquerable spirit will be of inestimable aid.

Since the operation Miss Robert has grown stronger and better. A hitch in her side that persisted long before she went under a surgeon's knife, is gone.

Authorities of Agnes Scott are expected to grant permission readily for Miss Robert to take part in periodical swimming meets. For she will be swimming under the school's banner and the resultant prestige will be well worth the while.

SENIORS REACH SEMI-FINALS

Semi-final matches in the second annual Atlanta seniors' golf championship tournament will start this afternoon and continue through Friday afternoon on the Ansley Park course. Bob Jones Sr., medalist, plays N. W. Tracy, a fellow East Lake player, in a feature of the quarter-finals.

The defeated players in each flight will form consolation flights and will play today and Friday in the consolation semi-finals.

Quarter-final results:

FIRST FLIGHT.

R. P. Jones beat P. G. Lombard, 3-2.
N. W. Tracy beat W. M. Stafford, 9-8.
T. T. Williams beat C. M. Frederick, 6-4.
James Floyd beat Frank Sampson, 2-1.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Gus Monroe beat H. Clay Moore, 6-5.
Russell Bridges beat Tom Martin, 1 up, 19 holes.
J. Q. Barton won from J. S. Raine by default.

THIRD FLIGHT.

Tom Pitts beat Strother Fleming, 1 up, 19 holes.
M. D. Huff beat C. W. Rexford, 4-3.
Graham Johnson beat Tom Paine, 1 up.
Dr. C. N. Hughes beat Milton Dargan Sr., 1 up.

FIRST FLIGHT.

Jones vs. Tracy.
Williams vs. Floyd.

FIRST CONSOLATION.

Lombard vs. Stafford.
Frederick vs. Sampson.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Monroe vs. Bridges.
Burton vs. winner, McCorley-McCrea.

SECOND CONSOLATION.

Moore vs. Martin.

Pitts vs. Huff.
Johnson vs. Hughes.

THIRD CONSOLATION.

Fleming vs. Rexford.
Paine vs. Dargan.

Sandlot Eleven Ruled Ineligible

Ruled out of the league for using ineligible players, the Oakland City Red Elephants have been dropped from the 120-pound division of the Rotary Club-Sandlot football league. In the first game last Saturday, Oakland City defeated the Grant Park Jackets, 19 to 0, but the game was protested. After investigation by officials of the league it was found that Oakland City had used ineligible players in the game. The official decision was the award of the game to Grant Park by a score of 1 to 0, and the elimination of Oakland City from further participation in the tournament.

Two teams have applied for entrance—the South Side Terrors and the East Lake team. It will be decided Thursday night which of these two teams will be entered. The new team will play out the schedule assigned to Oakland City.

MAYES RESTING.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Rhydon Mayes, sports editor of the Thomasville Times-Enterprise, who is seriously ill at a local hospital, was resting somewhat better today, but his condition remained critical. Mr. Mayes has been ill for several weeks following an operation. Several blood transfusions have been made.

This Baseball 'Convention' Just Happened To Meet Here

Wilbur Good, former manager of the Crackers and a former major league star, drove up from Florida Wednesday to see about marketing his orange crop. He brought along Al Lopez, Cracker catcher in 1929 and now a Brooklyn star, and Manual Onis, friend of Lopez's and a Florida league catcher. In Atlanta they met Nap Rucker, Brooklyn scout and pitcher of the old days; Red Hall, Macon player under Good. Cecil Travis, third baseman for the pennant winning Chattanooga club, was also in the hotel lobby. And Earl Mann, former Macon, Atlanta and Hartford secretary, was also there but refused to get in the picture. Left to right, Onis, Lopez, Good, Rucker, Travis and Hall. AUBURN DRIVES FOR BIG GAME

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 19.—Auburn will close the first half of its 1932 gridiron campaign against the Tulane Greenies in New Orleans Saturday. The Tigers have already encountered Birmingham-Southern, Erskine, Duke and Georgia Tech and after the 1931 Southern conference champs are played in the Crescent City, Ole Miss, Howard, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina will still remain on the Blainsmen's card. Four up and six to go is the Auburn situation at present.

The Bengals will battle Ole Miss, Howard and Florida in Montgomery on successive week-ends, Georgia in Columbus and South Carolina in Columbia. Ole Miss will be faced October 29; Howard, Friday night, November 4; Florida, November 12; Georgia, November 19, and South Carolina, December 3.

Since the Tigers have waged war with two strong conference foes, Tech and Duke, and with two S. I. A. A. elevens, Birmingham-Southern and Erskine, neither of which offered the opposition expected from them, Coach Chet Wynne now has an excellent line on the ability of his players, and can now devote his time improving the play of his first two teams, instead of trying to improve the work of every member of the squad, as has been the case since practice started Labor Day. If the players have not shown up as varsity material after six weeks of brilliant coaching from Wynne, Sam McAllister and Roger Kiley, it is very doubtful if they will gain a place on the first two teams this year.

Captain Hitchcock, Grant and Ariail have been outstanding in Auburn's victories this year. They are great at their positions, standing out on both the offense and defense. No team in the country has a trio of better performers than Captain Hitchcock, Grant and Ariail. Sensational in any department of the game is the only way their fine playing can be sized up.

The other regulars have also come in for much praise this season for their worthy performances. McCollum, Johnson, Jones and Chambless have been mainstays in the forewall and Holmes is rapidly forging to the front as Auburn's best right tackle after spending last year and part of this season as a reserve. It now looks like he has realized his capabilities.

Two of the leading backs in the United States will be pitted against each other when Hitchcock clashes with Don Zimmerman in New Orleans Saturday. They are both peerless performers. Tulane followers are backing Zimmerman as the best all-around back the Greenies have ever had and Plainsmen supporters are paying Auburn's Union Springs typhoon the same compliment. The duel between these two will be worth the price of admission to the Auburn-Tulane fracas in the Crescent City.

Dawson Basketeers Open Season Soon

DAWSON, Ga., Oct. 18.—The Dawson Athletic Association's basketball season will probably open within the next week or 10 days, William Fulford, captain of the club said following its initial workout Monday evening in the Dawson High school gymnasium, which is to be used by the association the coming season.

Fulford also announces that the first scheduled game of the new season will probably be played in Dawson on Friday night, November 11, as a feature of the Armistice Day celebration, which is being arranged by the local post of the American Legion.

Hello, Nap--Well, Look Who's With Us Today

Rucker, Travis, Lopez, Good, Hall, Onis and Mann Meet in Atlanta.

By Ralph McGill.

It was almost like a convention. Or a play. With L. O. Moseley's Piedmont hotel front as one setting and the lobby for another.

Nap Rucker, the old left-hander, who once pitched some great baseball for Brooklyn, came around the corner with Earl Mann, former Cracker and Macon secretary and last year with the Hartford club.

They entered the lobby. And there stood Al Lopez, Brooklyn's catcher and the boy who was so popular with Cracker fans when he was wearing the mask at Ponce de Leon park.

And with Al Lopez was good old Wilbur Good, who started with the Yankees as a pitcher in 1906 and who later became one of the best hitting outfielders in the game—in the majors and with the championship Cracker team of 1925.

About that time up strolled Manuel Onis, a Cuban friend of Al Lopez and a catcher in a Florida league.

HALL STROLLS IN.

And a second later Red Hall, who was with the Crackers one spring and who was farmed by the Crackers to Macon, came strolling in.

And b'gosh if they didn't look around and there was Cecil Travis, the star kid third-sacker for the Chattanooga Lookouts, who won the pennant and the Dixie series this year. Travis lives at Fayetteville, Ga., and is visiting his sister and her family in Atlanta.

Just like that—no prearrangement about it. The Cracker case had nothing to do with it.

"I'm coming to Atlanta with fruit from my orange groves at Brooksville, Fla.," he said. "Al Lopez and Onis rode up with me. I'd like to get on in the Cracker reorganization if there's a chance, but that didn't bring me."

Wilbur Good did one of the best jobs of managing Atlanta ever had in the 1929 season and I'll always think if the club owner had bought him a couple of pitchers in August he'd have won. Yes, sir, they could look much further and do much worse than consider Wilbur Good. He had that 1929 Cracked team up there just out of second place in August—with nothing on the club but a lot of hustle and Al Lopez behind the plate.

JUST FOR RIDE.

Lopez came just for the ride. So did his friend Onis.

"The boys all liked Max Carey fine," he said. "We had a fair year. The weather was against us from the start and it was difficult to get in shape. Carey had to take time and find out just what he had.

"Next season I think Brooklyn will do much better. Carey knows all the players and will be set to start the season, whereas last year he had to take a lot of time looking over and arranging his material."

Lopez had a good year with Brooklyn, but believes he will hit more next season. He expressed some anxiety about baseball, saying that the minor leagues and their troubles were reflected in the majors.

"I hope baseball can begin a climb next season," he said. "The game has been in a depression long enough now."

Lopez knew nothing of the proposed baseball trades in which he, as one of the Brooklyn players, may figure. Brooklyn is known to be in the market to do some trading.

DEPRESSION?

And guess what Lopez found out about Atlanta. There is no depression on here. "Say," he said, "Atlanta looks busier and livelier than any city I've seen lately and that goes for New York. The people here look more prosperous and the streets, hotels and business houses appear busier and brighter than other cities." He was really impressed. And ball players have observant eyes.

Lopez came to Atlanta in 1929 and really made the club of that year. He caught in 143 ball games and hit .327, which is just about a catching record. The next season he was with Brooklyn. And a hit.

Wilbur Good has a great orange grove at Brooksville. And if some fruit dealer wants to do business with a swell man to do business with I can recommend Wilbur Good. His fruit and his promises will be honest.

Nap Rucker, who is scouting for

Good Weather Aids Prep Elevens

Boys' High, Tech High and G. M. A. football teams took advantage of the good weather Wednesday and were drilled hard in preparation for important games Friday and Saturday night at Ponce de Leon park.

G. M. A. plays Boys' High at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in another of the intra-city championship games and another chance at the northern division of the G. I. A. A. title as well. Tech High meets Riverside Military Academy, an old rival, at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Tech High's work was devoted largely to punting and passing, it being the first real opportunity of the week to handle a dry ball with any accuracy. The linemen were given special instructions on defensive work.

Boys' High, after more than an hour of defensive scrimmaging, paying particular attention to protecting the punter, spent the remainder of the afternoon scrimmaging.

G. M. A.'s team, weakened by the loss of Green, the big fullback, will remain the same as it was against Monroe Aggies last week, with B. Boulware, Stephens, Claridy, Rice, O. Boulware, Beall and Clark in the line, and Wills, Allen, Manes and Vaughn in the backfield.

Benny Bass Charges Pilot 'Sold Him Out'

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(UP) Charging that his manager, Phil Glassman, had instructed him to "lay down" to inferior opponents, Benny Bass, former featherweight and junior lightweight boxing champion, today filed suit asking that he be released from his contract with Glassman.

The Bass-Glassman contract was signed December 24, 1925, and still has over three years to run.

Bass also lists a complaint that Glassman had attempted to bring about a separation between him and his wife, and paid him only one-half or less of his earnings, instead of their agreed two-thirds.

Auburn, Georgia Freshmen to Play

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 19.—Coach Earl McFaden's 1932 Auburn plebe team will open its Southern conference schedule against the Georgia Bullpups in Athens Saturday. The Cubs have played one game this season against the frosh of Birmingham-Southern. Auburn's opening tilt ended 6-6.

The local freshmen have several individuals who should develop into capable varsity players, but since they have been running Birmingham-Southern, Duke and Georgia Tech plays since the season started, they will not have much teamwork against Georgia. Black, Fenton, Watson, Tolve, Hill, O'Rourke and Paterson look good as individual players.

V. M. I. ELEVEN, VIRGINIA MEET

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 17.—The Virginia Military Institute Flying Squadron began working out here today in preparation for the University of Virginia eleven, which will be the guest of the Squadron on homecoming day Saturday, October 22. The Squadron began work in a drizzling rain and on a wet field.

The Kaydets have dropped four games in a row all to out-of-the-state foes and will now begin their campaign against state elevens. After dropping games to Kentucky and Duke the Squadron played a very much improved brand of ball against the Citadel and then continued to show improvement against Davidson College Saturday. The remainder of the season includes four state elevens and Maryland. The Cadets should show much more improvement this week and will give the rest of their opponents a great fight.

The work of Landon Hilliard and Ed Kostainsek was worthy of mention in the Davidson clash. The veteran guard was all over the field making tackles everywhere and throwing Davidson backs for losses. Ed Kostainsek proved himself to be a good leader and a valuable man in any position on the team.

Homecoming day at the Lexington school means a large crowd and many returning alumni. Preparations are going forward to entertain the largest crowd of the season as the two ancient rivals clash in their twenty-eighth annual battle.

Emory Juniors Win From Freshmen, 13-0

"Boshie" Turman and Bruce Logue led the Juniors to a well-earned 13-0 victory over the freshmen yesterday at Emory in the first game of the season for the two teams in the interclass series. Turman and Logue completed seven out of nine passes.

The Juniors outfought their opponents in all phases of play. The third year men earned nine first downs to one for the freshmen.

After being held scoreless during the first half the Juniors came back to score six points early in the third quarter. Two passes from Turman to Logue and runs by Heidler and Whiting put the ball on the freshman 36-yard line. Turman ran around end for the score on the next play. The try for the extra point failed.

The Juniors worked their way to the freshman 4-yard line in the last quarter but lost the ball when Kendall recovered a Junior fumble. On the next play Hancock was rushed and made a bad punt. "Rat" Davis returned the punt 20 yards for the second touchdown. Turman place-kicked the extra point.

Shalloway, Stubbs and Slaughter played best in the Junior line, and Logue, Turman and Whiting were the backfield stars. For the freshmen, Dudley and Starnes in the line and Barker and Hancock in the backfield performed best.

CRACKER CLUB IS PUT IN HANDS OF BOBBY JONES

Greatest Golfer Appointed Temporary Receiver for Baseball Club.

By Jimmy Jones.

Robert Tyre Jones Jr., who won all the major golf titles the world had to offer, yesterday found himself with a baseball club on his hands when he was designated temporary receiver for the defunct Atlanta Baseball & Amusement Company in Fulton county superior court.

Thus the man who entered the baseball field in 1930 because of civic pride and interest in a winning baseball club to represent this city in the Southern association, became sole custodian of $500,000 worth of bonds, secured by the property known as Spiller's field, the club franchise and player contracts.

Proceedings brought by the Trust Company of Georgia, trustee for the bondholders, resulted in the appointment of Jones by Judge E. E. Pomeroy to take over and manage all assets of the amusement company. Jones was placed under $5,000 bond. He also issued a temporary order restraining "any and all persons from interfering with the receiver's possession and administration of the assets."

It was alleged in the petition, filed by John S. Sibley, of the law firm of Spalding, McDougall & Sibley, that interest on the bonds had been defaulted by the amusement company on January 1 and July 1 and that under indenture, all bonds outstanding, amounting to $300,000 with interest, should be declared in default and foreclosed.

Both Jones and L. W. Robert Jr., president of the defunct company, were inclined to view the proceedings as the "only way out" of a bad situation and the ultimate salvation of the club. They intimated simultaneously that things had become so involved through unforeseen circumstances that all efforts of the amusement company at salvaging the club had proved futile.

Robert lauded what he termed the splendid management under the utmost difficulties of the club's affairs during the 1932 season by F. H. (Chick) Roos, business manager of the Crackers, and D. I. (Red) Barron, manager. A statement by Jones advanced the hope of perfecting a set-up which will assure a representative team for Atlanta and added his appointment as receiver had no connection between the old regime and the new, saying that, as receiver, he would do everything possible to restore baseball in this city.

The Coca-Cola company was the largest bondholder for the baseball club, owning $300,000 first mortgage bonds upon which foreclosure was filed by Sibley.

Following are respective statements made by Jones and Robert following the action yesterday:

"We will begin immediately our efforts to perfect a set-up which will assure a representative baseball team for Atlanta next season. It will be our aim to interest parties capable in baseball matters and able to supply the necessary financial strength. My appointment as receiver does not indicate any connection between the old regime and the new except that we are all doing everything we can to restore the baseball situation here to its proper strength."

(Signed) "BOBBY JONES,
"Vice President Atlanta Baseball and Amusement Corporation."

"With reference to the receivership of Atlanta Baseball & Amusement Company, the officers and directors of this company have realized for some time that receivership was inevitable, since being unable to pay bond interest on $300,000 of bonds due on July 1, together with our team standing at the time.

"The bondholders were so notified and they have graciously allowed us to operate since that time, also assisting by the putting up of additional cash during the latter part of the 1932 season, so as to keep our team in the field.

"Prior to that time your officers and directors had advanced $35,000 of additional cash without security of any kind in an effort to keep things going. They stand to lose all of this, along with the original investment of about $75,000, which they made as a civic matter when they went into the enterprise as a group with R. J. Spiller in 1930.

"The officers and directors of the company began to realize very early, soon after the start of the 1930 season when they had taken charge, that very radical changes would have to be made if ever a success was to be made of this enterprise. The new officers and directors put in additional money at that time and started as rapidly as possible to make definite changes.

"It is most unfortunate that the tangled affairs of the company and the changes necessary had to come during times like the present. In my opinion the receivership is the best thing that could possibly happen to the baseball situation in Atlanta.

"A clean financial slate together with a new official baseball set-up would mean successful baseball for Atlanta. We still have the best baseball team in the Southern league and our patrons and community only need a reasonable amount of encouragement to back Atlanta's team to the limit. We can only speak in the highest of the magnificent way Red Barron, as manager, and Chick Roos, as business manager, have handled the affairs of the company and the management of the team during the last season. They have worked under well nigh impossible conditions, never losing their spirits and putting forth their best efforts. We feel they have paved the way for a revival of interest if the other affairs can be properly straightened out.

"The officers and directors of the old company hold the very best wishes for any new regime that might be set up to carry on baseball in our great city, and will never lose their interest.

"ATLANTA BASEBALL & AMUSEMENT CORPORATION.
"L. W. ROBERT JR., President."

Two Leaders Tied In Cotton States

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Par was administered an unmerciful drubbing today as three southern professionals shot their way into a tie for the lead in the first day's play for the $1,000 purse in the Cotton States open golf tournament being played over the Jackson Country Club course.

Ted Longworth, Texarkana, Texas; Tony Penna, Pensacola, Fla., and Nelson Giddens, Helena, Ark., each carried sparkling 68's for the afternoon 18, to finish the first day's play with 141 each. All three had 73's in the morning. In second place two Mississippi pros were tied at 143, Eddie Halbach, of Cleveland, runner-up in the 1932 state open, who carded 72-71—143, and Dick Newkirk, of Greenwood, whose scores were 69-74—143.

Third place also developed a tie between Eddie Miller, of Gadsden, Ala., and Fred Lamprecht, of New Orleans, twice intercollegiate champion and former Tulane football star, each with 144. Miller had a 76 coupled with a 68 and Lamprecht shot 71-73—144.

Frank Stevenson, Americus, Ga., 74-72—146
L. V. Dukes, Jackson, Miss., 76-71—147.
Tom Lundy, Greenville, 76-71—147.
Jack Wenzler, Memphis, 73-74—147.
Jack Keefe, Vicksburg, 73-75—148.
Madison Sutton, Jackson, 74-74—148.
Todd Houck, Memphis, 76-73—149.
Joe Burch, Mobile, 72-78—150.
Johnny Camet, Eldorado, Ark., 76-75—151.
Lewis Dantzler, Mobile, 77-76—153.
J. C. Fondren, Memphis, 77-77—154.
Billy Somerville, Selma, Ala., 80-74—154.
Danny Goss, Birmingham, 75-81—156.
Buck White, Memphis, 78-79—157.
Jimmy Fossick, Memphis, 82-77—159.

CLEMSON WINS.

YOUNG PLAYERS DO GOOD WORK FOR BULLDOGS

Griffith Is Impressive as Signal Caller; West Returns to Squad.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 19.—Some of the old familiar faces were displaced by youngsters today as the Georgia Bulldogs went rolling merrily along towards that Vanderbilt game, which looms up large on the Bulldog horizon.

There was Jack Griffith, the sophomore quarterback who played only a few seconds against North Carolina. That marks the sum total of his experience in actual battle with other teams, but, judging from the way young Jack was calling them today, he is not likely to be kept out by inexperience. Griffith is perhaps the best blocker on the Georgia squad. When he blocks a man he is really blocked. He also knows how to pick the man he's going to take out.

John West, who comes from Old Kaintuk, where they breed colonels and thoroughbred horses, was out in uniform today for the first time in four weeks. West got in defensive scrimmage and the way he played left tackle caused Harry Mehre to break out in a broad smile. Before he got the knee injury that has kept him out, West was a guard but this afternoon he played tackle and made 'em like it. With a little more experience seasoning West may be playing first-string tackle.

GUNNELS IMPROVED.

Crawford Gunnels, the other tackle, evidenced some improvement on his side of the line. Gunnels is gradually getting the hang of his work and before the year is up he should be doing some creditable work.

The Devils started out very successfully with their Vanderbilt plays but when the varsity boys got started it was "Katy bar the door." All during the afternoon the Reds kept breaking through for long gains. But when you keep the ball all the time it isn't very hard to make some gains once in a while. The Bulldogs evidenced some improvement over their defensive work of Tuesday and improvement is what Harry Mehre craves right now.

It was a bit heart-rending for the varsity this afternoon. They had to oppose some of their former confreres and it is not so easy to set your old pals back on the seat of their pants or to handle them roughly when they run with the ball. Sully Sullivan, the veteran quarterback, was calling 'em and running with the ball for the Reds today. It was the first time Sully has been on the Reds and it seemed a bit strange. Hut Parks, reserve guard, also joined the Red Devil squad today but felt at home, as Carter Townsend was with him on the Red line.

BROWN STARS.

Sam Brown, Buck Chapman and Jumping Joe Crouch made life painful for Johnny Broadnax's freshman team this afternoon, Samuel, in particular, did yeoman work. He went through the line several times and eluded the freshman secondary for plenty of yards.

Several of the Bulldog regulars failed to scrimmage today. Homer Key, Vason McWhorter and Leroy Moorehead were not in there with their teammates but they will be Thursday, when Georgia's training for Vanderbilt reaches its climax in a long scrimmage.

Coach Harry Mehre and his squad will leave Athens Friday night at 7 o'clock for Atlanta where they will catch the Dixie Flyer for Nashville.

Harry Wills Kayoes Glover in First Round

"Black Panther" Greets Blind Kid Davis, Who Handled Langford, Here.

By Jimmy Jones.

Harry Wills, the old Black Panther of New Orleans, who was one of the good pre-Volstead heavyweights, admits that he would like to survive the law and come back along with good beer.

Old Harry, now 38 years old and weighing 224 pounds, but looking in good physical condition, came to Atlanta last night for the fifth fight of what he calls his comeback. His opponent was one Battling John Glover, of Chicago, who proved to be the perfect antithesis of Wills from a standpoint of condition and went down for keeps under a short choppy right to the back of the ear in the first round of what was to have been a 10-round fight at the auditorium.

Wills' fighting style hasn't changed a bit. He still showed bursts of the old speed and those long black snaky arms sneaked out from the clinches to whack Battling John Glover across his flabby midsection and up and down the back.

Many old shadows of a bygone era of negro fighters last night hovered about that of what was once a real black panther. There was Old Billy Hooper, who used to fight them all. He was said to have been the one to discover the late Tiger Flowers and give him that name after he swarmed all over old Billy in a bout at Brunswick.

And there was old Kid Davis, now a blind derelict of what was once a good heavyweight fighter. He handled "Tham" Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, in three of his fights against Wills back before the war. Wills was young then, fresh from the docks of New Orleans, and "Old Tham" laid him out in that first fight in 1914. Kid Davis was in Langford's corner that night and again in 1915 and 1917.

"I jus' forgot to duck," Wills said last night when Kid Davis came to his dressing room to josh him about the fight. Kid Davis is now living the best he can in this friendly southern city, his native home.

"I was in Mr. Charley Rose's office one day and in walks a fellow who said he was the champion of Poland; I looked at him and told Mr. Charley that if he was the champion of Poland, I was the champion of the world."

"Do you really mean that?" asked Charley Rose. Harry said he did, so what does Charley do but match them up for a fight. They fought on August 4, and Harry knocked him out. His next match was with a big lumberjack up in the Maine woods, and he won that, too.

Wills still believes that he can come back at 38 and that he will get some good fights. He quit in 1927 after Paulino knocked him out in four. Previously Jack Sharkey had beaten him in 1926 in 13. Wills, badly beaten, went out on a foul in that round.

Wills' quick knockout of Glover was the main go of Cleve Roby's card last night which about 2,000 saw. In the semi-final Sailor Born knocked out Chink Tarpley, of Fort McPherson, in the third of a schedule eight. In other fights, Joe Mendoza, Atlanta lightweight, boxed a six-round draw with Jimmy Fowler, Marietta; Gene Thomas took a six-round decision from Battling Finch, and Dynamite Roy Dunn, colored, disposed of one Blacky Black, from Tampa, in the third.

Jones, Hudson Teams Tie

A "losers pay" dinner was turned into a "dutch" affair Wednesday night at the East Lake Country Club when the club golfers, captained by Bobby Jones and Scott Hudson Sr., ended all square in a one-day event earlier in the day.

It was a climax to one of the most successful golf seasons in the history of the club and trophies and prizes to winners in every club tourney this year were presented at the dinner by R. P. Jones, the toastmaster.

Although the details are not completed as yet, challenges were flying thick and fast at the Wednesday night dinner. Both Hudson and Jones stated they would not object to leading another such battle and their cohorts expressed unanimous approval of a return match.

WILDCAT PROWL IS THREATENED BY V.P.I. ELEVEN

By the Associated Press.

The strongest Virginia Poly eleven since the Blacksburg coaching days of Andy Gustafson will resist Kentucky's bid for its fifth Southern conference triumph Saturday.

Hopes for Dixie gridiron honors have never flown higher at V. P. I. than now. The Gobblers have won four games against creditable opposition and have shown power, speed and alertness.

Virginia Poly revealed a heavy and fast team in its victories over Georgia, Maryland and William and Mary. Kentucky has been at least a lukewarm contender for southern laurels for several years and the Wildcats, likewise, are making one of their strongest bids this season.

The Lexington eleven has defeated Virginia Military, Sewanee, Georgia Tech and Washington and Lee. It has shown some hard-running backs, a clever passing attack and one of the south's best punters in Ralph Kercheval.

V. P. I. may be able to match Kentucky's line strength and the Gobbler runners may be as fast and versatile as those of the Wildcats, but the Polytechnic team hardly can offer such kicking ability as Kentucky possesses.

This game at Blacksburg will rank as one of the most important Saturday since both teams are unbeaten and one must be eliminated from the chase.

Work on plays and formations has been temporarily halted for Knoxville and Major Bob Neyland has ordered another course in fundamentals, tackling, blocking and charging, for his Tennessee Volunteers.

Tennessee has a "breather" Saturday in little Maryville College and then another week of polishing before it faces Duke.

No let down is evident at the Alabama camp, following the Crimson's defeat Saturday, and Coach Frank Thomas' team hopes to finish its hard schedule without another setback. Alabama 1 ks for little trouble from Mississippi this week.

Georgia Tech and North Carolina hope to break their two-year tie at Chapel Hill Saturday. Their 1930 game ended 6 to 6 and last season they played to a 19-to-19 deadlock. Both teams have lost two conference games. On paper it figures a great battle.

Duke plans to bring a halt to Wake Forest's giant-killing Saturday. Wake Forest tied both North Carolina and North Carolina State, 0 to 0, and beat South Carolina, 6 to 0. Two years ago the Baptists held Duke to a 13-13 deadlock. The Duke offensive has scored on every team it faced this year and the Blue Devils will be primed for the Baptists.

South Carolina and Clemson open the week's football show today with the state fair battle at high noon in Columbia. Both teams are in good shape for this biggest game of the season in the Palmetto State.

LET'S GO FISHING.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—W. Bruce Pirnie, president of the Montague Rod & Reel Co., reported today that sales of fishing rods in the middle west are running almost 50 per cent greater than last year, one of the greatest increases ever recorded. He added that the companys' plants in Amherst and Montague City, Mass., and in Post Mills, Vt., were operating at capacity.

Lower Prices For Games Seen

By Alan Gould.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Further reduction in the price of college football tickets in some parts of the country has resulted from a continued drop in attendance, amounting so far this year to approximately 20 per cent, as compared with 1931 figures covering the country's major intercollegiate groups.

Although the attendance decrease has been widespread, several colleges in the south and far west indicate an upswing, including Stanford, Utah, North Carolina State, Duke, Auburn and Alabama.

"The decline in gate receipts for the big games likely will lead to further reduction of prices," William J. Bingham, Harvard's director of athletics, told the Associated Press.

"It is possible a solution will be found in establishing a wider range of prices for the major contests, the top price for which now is $4, plus tax, less than it was a year ago."

The situation at Harvard, where the attendance up to and including the advance sale for this Saturday's game with Dartmouth shows a falling off in excess of 30 per cent, is echoed elsewhere in nation-wide reports gathered today by the Associated Press.

BIG TEN OFF.

In the Big Ten, where attendance is estimated to be off from 20 to 30 per cent, Chicago, Minnesota and Ohio State already have taken steps to provide cheaper seats. The price was cut to $1 in the curved end section for last Saturday's Minnesota-Nebraska game at Minnesota.

Season tickets at Chicago are priced at $5 for six games as compared with $13 last season. The falling off in big game attendance is reflected in a turnout of only 22,000 for the Northwestern-Illinois game, as compared with 60,000 at Champaign two years ago, and 42,000 for Ohio State-Michigan, as compared with a normal 75,000.

The Universities of Colorado and Denver have slashed prices and banned radio broadcasting in the Rocky Mountain area, where reports show a drop of around 10 to 15 per cent in attendance.

Tennessee plans to cut admission prices outside the midfield zones as the result of a 30 per cent drop. Columbia has found New York fans receptive to a bargain scale of prices for reserved seats, tried out last Saturday, and will continue the experiment.

No further price cuts are planned in the Southwest conference, where such crowds as 23,000 for the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas and an advance sale of 21,000 for the Texas-Rice contest this week at Houston have encouraged athletic directors to believe competitive inducements will bring out normal attendance.

WEST HOLDS OWN.

Decreases in the Pacific Coast conference have been relatively "slight," the reports say, due to the balancing influence of a third increase in attendance at Stanford's games. Between 65,000 and 80,000 are expected to see the Indians play Southern California at Palo Alto this Saturday.

Southern California's reports show the Trojans are holding their own so far at the gate. The University of California has experienced a drop of less than 10 per cent and Washington about the same. St. Mary's shows a decline of 25 per cent.

Decreases have been general in the Big Six and Southern conferences, as well as throughout the east, but there are some encouraging signs in scattered reports.

Poor weather affected the turnouts for several big Southern games last week. North Carolina State, meanwhile, reports a slight increase while South Carolina and Georgia Tech athletic directors declare attendance is about the same, even though gate receipts have fallen off as a result of lower prices.

Yale's figures are considerably below 1931 and the big bowl at New Haven is not expected to have its usual sellout for the Army game this Saturday. Pennsylvania, however, as well as Princeton and Columbia have benefited at the gates from the effect of better performances by their teams.

JACKET ELEVEN IS UNIMPRESSIVE IN LONG DRILL

Coach Alex Displeased With Showing Against Tarheel Plays.

First scrimmaging against North Carolina plays yesterday was far from encouraging in so far as the work of the first Tech team was concerned.

The varsity, presenting much the same personnel as that which opened against Auburn, was given a two-hour drill against the Frosh and Grey Devils, both offensively and defensively, under Coach Alexander's direction. The latter found little to please him in the showing of his team.

The backfield of McArthur, Hart, Barron and Cherry could gain but little ground against their lowly rivals.

In fact Bob Warner, a guard on the scrubs, stole the show by knifing through the varsity line to throw the first-string backs for repeated losses. Warner's work was go good that this boy, who was out with injuries last season, may eventually earn a varsity berth.

The workout was really in the order of a double scrimmage, for the second varsity engaged the second-string scrubs at the same time. The second-string team looked some better.

The Jacket squad scrimmages this afternoon for the last time before the game entraining Friday night at 7 o'clock for Chapel Hill. Thirty-three players will make the trip and the Tech band will be down at the station to give the boys a real send-off.

Tech coaches hope the squad will display more "pep" and drive in this afternoon's workout.

Johnny Ferguson, halfback, received a painful bump on the shoulder yesterday but not serious enough to keep him out of Saturday's game. Jack Phillips, sophomore fullback, was held out of the rough work in order to allow him to recuperate from a minor hurt.

Clyde Wiliams, tackle, with a charley horse; Shorty Roberts with a sore ankle and Jerry Goldsmith with a bad knee are the only other injuries listed. All but Goldsmith are sure of being able to play.

Tarheels Redouble Training Efforts.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 19.—The Carolina gridders redoubled their efforts today, spending the afternoon running through and brushing up on their offense and coming back to the "Tin Can" tonight for a lecture on Georgia Tech offense and defensive dummy scrimmage, leaving no stone unturned in getting set to win their homecoming game here Saturday.

Tech looms a tough foe, but Coach Collins said tonight he thought Carolina would win if the boys play as well as they did against Georgia.

The first eleven was blocking and driving well in offensive dummy scrimmage, but Coach Collins took no chances of losing valuable men and kept out all players with slight injuries, including Barclay, Hodges and Collins in the line and Phipps in the backfield.

Chandler and Croom were running great in one backfield, Thompson and McCaskill in another.

Henry Burnett was getting around 40 yards regularly in punting practice, and looked very good quarterbacking for the second backfield.

McCaskill, who was converted from fullback to halfback at the same time, also looked good in his new role, as did Gordon McIver, reserve center, who was tried at left guard in Barclay's place in the varsity line.

Lake Russell Signs Mercer Contract

MACON, Ga., Oct. 19.—Lake Russell, Mercer's football coach, has signed a contract to coach football through the 1933 season, it was announced tonight by Dean C. B. Wray, director of athletics.

Russell has given Mercer the most successful teams in history, and is recognized as one of the best head coaches in the south. His schedule for 1933 already includes Army, Navy and Vanderbilt University in addition to the S. I. A. A. schedule. Mercer plays Furman Saturday, at Macon, in a homecoming game.

BASEBALL CROWD IN 'MEET' HERE

Brooklyn, was in a rare good humor. He entertained Lopez, Onis and Good at his Roswell estate Tuesday night.

DISCUSSES DODGERS.

Nap doesn't know what Brooklyn will do next year. The word is that they will drop the Jersey City club, as they did Hartford, and not have a farm. They are, however, pretty sure to try once more.

Charley Moore, who managed the Hartford and Jersey City teams, was recalled by Brooklyn.

Earl Mann, who earned fame by having the Hartford pennant raised after the league was abandoned, has made no plans for next year.

Cecil Travis has had his tonsils out since the baseball season ended. "Didn't hurt a bit. I went on home and kept eating right along," he said.

SHARKEY HUNTS.

YARMOUTH, N. S. Oct. 19.—(UP)—Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion, arrived yesterday for a moose and deer hunting expedition. Sharkey intends to spend a week or two days at Moose lake. He may vary his shooting by trying for a few woodcock and ruffer grouse.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Grantland Rice

More Maxims of Methuselah Jr.

I take the game as I find it, tangled with man or with fate,
Trying my best to be ready for whatever scrimmage may wait,
Knowing the odds must be with me, if courage remains as my mate.

I have learned little from living, except that the rose beds are few,
And fate likes to wallop the beggar who can't take a beating or two,

It may be this life would be better if there were no struggle or sin,
If there were no pain in your pleasure, no barrier crowding you in;
But who cares to tackle a golf course that has neither bunker nor whin?

I have learned little from living, except as I ramble along,
That somehow each entry must suffer before he can learn to grow strong,

The Casey Method.

The public's average mental picture of a football coach includes, among other things, elements that involve the volcanic and the dynamic. One favorite picture is the coach's final outburst of eloquence in keying up his team to a point where losing a spinal column or a neck is supposed to be a rare privilege.

This custom hasn't faded out, but at least it has begun to wane. There is, for example, the case of Eddie Casey, of Harvard. In talking to Eddie Casey you never think of the immortal lines concerning his famous namesake, viz:

"The smile is gone from Casey's face, his teeth are clenched with hate" —or even—"one scornful look from Casey and the multitude is awed." Mr. Casey, of Harvard, does not clench his teeth with hate nor indulge in any scornful looks.

I recall a year ago, on the morning of the Harvard-Army game, taking a long walk in the country with the same Eddie.

"Are you going to talk to your team?" I asked.

"No," he said, "I'm going to leave them alone. They are keen enough as it is."

Eddie Casey's system is to give his squad all the necessary fundamentals for attack and defense, slip them as many scoring plays as they can handle—and then let nature take its course. He can see no good or gain in building up an emotional or man-eating urge.

In any event, Mr. Casey's Harvard teams, since he took charge, have won nine games and dropped one, the only defeat being a field goal decision. In the next few weeks Casey's Harvard team faces Dartmouth, Brown, Army, Holy Cross and Yale. And Eddie Casey will point his team for each game as it comes along—just as Crisler is doing at Princeton. All five of these are old rivals. It hasn't any easy march but I have a feeling that Eddie Casey's Harvard team will win a majority of these contests.

The Hardest Game.

There will at least be no harder game on Saturday than the collision between Colgate and New York University.

Here are two of the strong teams of the country, well supplied with man power, and both well coached. Colgate seems to be favored with a fast, varied attack, but there is almost no choice, for New York University is a hard team to move against for any consistent drive. There is a good chance now for a soft field and in this case both teams will have trouble ramming the ball across.

There will be a large number of impacts on Saturday and at least three contests will carry their full share—Colgate-N. Y. U.—Purdue-Northwestern and Stanford-Southern California.

These are three of the high tension meetings. There will also be some robust action when Fordham's powerful outfit mixes with Michigan State. The latter team has two star backs to throw against Fordham's stout defense. The same thing applies to the crash between Kentucky and V. P. I. and the Tulane-Auburn party, all four of these competitors being among the unbeaten up to date. All in all, this next Saturday will be one of the most interesting of the year.

First Base Value.

Only a few years back there were more outstanding shortstops in big league baseball than any other job could show.

Now the switch has turned in the direction of first base. Nominations for the most valuable all-around player came to a sudden halt at Jimmy Foxx, of the Athletics and Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees.

Lou had the call over his Philadelphia rival a year ago and now Foxx returns the compliment, using a big bat largely for this purpose.

Bill Terry also has been up there among the "most valuable" leaders.

There can't be any argument over Klein, of the Phillies. Last spring, standing at the rim of the visiting dugout, Burt Shotton offered the opinion that Klein was not only the best ball player in his league, but the most improved ball player over a short stretch he had ever seen.

Klein is the one man who can make a stab at Ty Cobb's base-hit and scoring record. He has had the most remarkable three years any young ball player ever knew. He is still young, with a long way to go, with more than 15 years of high-class service left.

With Princeton seeking to put over her first major victory in some years, the Navy counters by inserting a young man by the name of Chunghoon in the cast. They start their football in Honolulu playing barefooted. Any athlete who can take a solid thump at a football with his bare toes is nothing to be taken lightly later on.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—After some hesitation, stocks became bolder in the late trading today and closed with an assortment of 1 to 4-point net gains.

An earlier advance, led by rails, had been largely forfeited when wheat took a sudden spurt at Chicago. Turnover in the last 50 minutes was about 600,000 shares, which nearly equaled volume for the first four hours.

Selling of tobaccos again threatened, at one time, to upset the advancing trend, but shorts in those stocks covered when the market made its final turn. Bonds traded very quietly, but cotton followed shares and wheat.

Rails turned over at a good pace, but other groups eventually caught up with them and the closing tone was strong. Sales totaled 1,314,830 shares.

New York Central and Pennsylvania systems, in the east, reported continued improvement in freight shipments while several roads in other sections also returned favorable statistics, and on the basis of figures so far received it seemed fair to assume that loadings last week had reached another new 1932 high.

On the theory that this showing reflected business expansion throughout the country, traders bought rail shares for gains of 1 to about 4 points. American Telephone, Coca-Cola, Case and American Can were up 2 to 4.

Wednesday's routine sidelights on the state of trade was helpful to the cause of rising prices. Steel production has risen to nearly 20 per cent of capacity—19 1-2 per cent, Iron Age said—and there was also a rise in electric power output, although improvement there was less noticeable than of late.

The gain was also smaller than in either 1931 or 1930, but at least the upward direction was sustained.

Steel scrap, regared as a rather sensible barometer, has weakened and its price appreciation since September has now been erased. Also Iron Age called attention to the slow letting of contracts for construction work and to delays in placing orders for railroad repair and equipment projects.

October, it is anticipated, will probably be the low month for auto output.

Sterling dropped about 3 cents and then firmed as official support was supplied.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—After early losses owing to lower sterling exchange, gilt-edged securities recovered on the stock exchange. Business in gold mining shares, trans-Atlantic issues, industrials and oil shares broadened, resulting in a steady closing.

PARIS—The reaction in the English pound was the dominant feature on the bourse despite yesterday's firmness in Wall Street. Rentes and international issues declined. The market closed irregular.

BERLIN—Trading on the boerse was slow and the closing was weaker due to the drop in sterling exchange.

Dividends Declared.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Directors of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company today declared regular quarterly dividends of $1 each on the common and common "B" shares, payable December 1 to stock of record November 15.

Financing

Suitable financing plans and connections now mean more to your business than ever before. These are unusual times. Profitable time payment selling requires modern financing methods to carry customer paper, to release working capital and local bank lines.

Installment Selling

Will constitute a larger proportion of sales as normal consumer purchasing returns. Our financing service is adopted to the needs of Southern merchants and their customers. We finance a wide variety of lines. Write for details.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Receipts, 164; shipments, 95; stocks, 130,474.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton advanced moderately today on trade buying and covering which were evidently stimulated by the late advance in the stock market and firmness of grains.

December closed at 6.40, with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 9 to 15 points.

The opening was 6 to 8 points higher, but following the close of Liverpool prices sagged back to about yesterday's finals. In the late trading covering became more active and this together with some Wall Street or local buying sent prices about 16 to 20 points net higher on active positions. Closing quotations were several points off from the best on realizing.

Attention during the early trading centered on the adjustment of New York-Liverpool differences to the changes in sterling exchange. The early Liverpool buying here again was attributed to arbitrages between the two markets.

The weekly weather report said that picking and ginning had made rapid progress in Texas, but in eastern belt sections had been checked by heavy rains in the latter part of the week, also that there was considerable complaint of damage to open cotton in many localities east of the Mississippi river.

Southern selling in small lots appeared to be reaching here in spurts during the day and was reported quite active in the late trading. Exports today 73,796, making 1,721,250 so far this season. Port receipts, 82,101. United States port stocks 3,930,644.

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES ADVANCE 10-17 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Following minor fluctuations in quiet trading which prevailed most of the day, cotton turned active and firm in the last hour today in sympathy with an upturn in stocks and final prices were the best, showing net advances of 10 to 17 points.

The market opened unchanged, although Liverpool cables came in 13 to 15 penny points better than due, with sterling lower. Private cables said that Bombay bought and shorts covered on weakness in sterling. Manchester cabled that there was freer cloth buying by India and China and a fair demand for yarns.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 to 8 penny points up.

Business Improvement Noted As Employment Gains in Dixie

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Dixie has started a deliberate climb up the stairs of the business graphs.

Three companies in widely scattered sections of the south yesterday added announcements of resumptions and increased employment to the list the past few months have been compiled from the Mason-Dixon line to the Gulf coast.

S. S. Butler, general traffic manager of the Frisco railroad here, said a new freight schedule to be inaugurated November 1 would give employment to 75 persons. The Signal Mountain Cement Company at Chattanooga, Tenn., announced its plant would resume operations at 60 per cent capacity about the same date and employ a force of 90 men. The clay pipe plant of the W. S. Dickey Clay Manufacturing Company at Birmingham placed 110 men back at work yesterday.

Meanwhile, optimistic business news came from other regions. Florida has started to prepare for its 1932 citrus fruit season, which will give work to thousands and for a winter tourist trade that will help business in that state. Things are picking up with the start of the sugar season down in Louisiana and construction projects gave work throughout the south to thousands.

The United States district engineers in Memphis yesterday announced a $500,000 bank protection project along the Memphis river front will start within two weeks and highway and bridge construction and general building is providing employment in virtually every southern state.

An improved outlook on the cotton situation has helped conditions in the south and resumptions, stepped-up production and wage increases have been announced by textile mills in the Carolinas and Georgia.

From Wall Street yesterday came advices of a relatively better autumn pickup in the steel industry in the south than in other sections. A pronounced step-up from August to October was announced in steel operations in the Birmingham district and in Tennessee, where United States Steel has its principal southern properties.

The southern improvement in the steel business was ascribed to the late summer bulge in the price of cotton and to the fact that southern business and agriculture have close kinship. Improvements in the price of farm and truck products in Dixie also have been noted.

ANOTHER GAIN SHOWN IN PRODUCTION OF POWER

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Power production in the United States during the week ended October 15 showed a gain of 1,284,000 kilowatt hours over the previous week, which was somewhat less than the gain made in the corresponding week of 1931, the National Electric Light Association reported today.

Total output was 1,507,503,000 kilowatt hours against 1,506,219,000 the previous week and 1,656,051,000 in the same week of 1931.

PRODUCTION OF STEEL AGAIN SHOWS INCREASE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Steel ingot production has risen slightly this week, the ratio being 19 1-2 per cent against 19 per cent a week ago, Iron Age said today.

The industry is "still lacking conspicuous support" from the major consuming industries, and is "now inclined to the belief that it may mark time until the elections are out of the way," the review stated.

The Wheeling district is the most active, at about 35 per cent, but small increases have occurred at Chicago and Pittsburgh, "while other sections are holding their own."

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN FREIGHT LOADINGS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad systems today reported another gain in freight car loadings for last week over the preceding week, and a smaller ratio of decline from last year than had been shown in the previous week.

Total cars handled by the road were 96,865, compared with 95,961 in the previous week and 111,198 in the like 1931 week, the decrease from last year, 12.8 per cent, compared with 14.6 per cent decrease in the previous week.

Total loaded cars handled by the Pennsylvania for the week ended October 15 amounted to 93,629 against 91,771 in the previous week and 116,220 a year ago. The decrease from 1931 was 19.4 per cent compared with a drop of 21.1 per cent in the preceding week.

Other roads reporting larger loadings than in the previous week included Missouri-Kansas-Texas, which had a gain of 226 cars over the 1931 week; Missouri Pacific, International-Great Northern and Gulf Coast Line. St. Louis-San Francisco system also showed a substantial gain over the previous week, the figures being 15,512 compared with 14,388.

1,200 EMPLOYES RE-HIRED BY MURRAY CORPORATION

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—(AP)—C. David Widman, secretary and treasurer of the Murray Corporation of America, manufacturers of automobile bodies, announced today that the company this week is re-hiring 1,200 employes, mostly tool makers, and increasing its pay roll about $50,000 a week in preparation for the production of 1933 models of automobile factories.

RETAIL TRADE GAINS ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Retail trade on the Pacific coast gained about 10 per cent in September over August, data compiled by the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank, indicated today. The gains were slightly more than seasonal. The seasonally adjusted index, based on 1926 as 100, advancing from 73 in August to 74 in September.

Brokers' Views

Stock Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The fact that decisively and on volume stocks broke through resistance points established during four preceding sessions is a favorable technical indication that should be given full consideration in gauging near-term market outlook. It strongly suggests higher prices tomorrow on which further test of price structure will probably be encountered. Indications now are that the market is establishing a secondary upward trend. Accordingly, we now advise a constructive trading policy with position well guarded, however, against failure of this indicated movement to carry through.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Trading was in small volume and price changes generally unimportant until the last hour when better closing prices for wheat brought more active demand for stocks and resulted in the averages registering a good gain at the close.

Overnight news will probably have a large effect in swaying the course of prices tomorrow and we would await developments before reaching a decision as to the prospects for the day.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The market today started in its usual manner with minor swings and very small volume. In the last hour a rally with increasing volume in trading moved prices on a number of leading securities through their recent resistance levels. Prices for the most part closed on or about the best levels of the day. The thinness of the market on the up side was quite apparent in this last rally when, on a volume of less than 400,000 shares, volatile issues were able to show gains of from 2 to 4 points. Indications are that barring unfavorable news overnight we should have a strong opening with larger volume tomorrow.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—After several hours of moderate strength and small volume, the stock market suddenly picked up and prices rose on substantial buying. Unsubstantiated favorable rumors appeared at the same time. Wheat closed higher and cotton was strong in the last half hour. Figures on important railroads for the week ended October 15 showed continued increases in carloadings, while comparative electric power output figures showed a slight decrease from the previous week. From a chartist's view, we would incline to the belief that higher prices are ahead of us and, subject to normal reactions, should not encounter serious resistance until the 71-73 level is reached.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The market advanced to net gains of 9 to 13 points in early trading today, sold off to about previous close, rallied to levels 16 to 20 points over yesterday's finals in late trading and wound up the session at net gains of 9 to 15 points. Outstanding feature in the first hour was buying by houses with Liverpool connections, presumably by way of reversing straddles between the two markets. Aside from this buying there was further price fixing on part of domestic and continental spinners and some support from west as well as from local professionals. We favor purchases whenever the market for any reason is under pressure.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The cotton market was active at the opening and somewhat higher, due partly to better cables than due and a fair sprinkling of speculative and trade buying. Hedge selling was not of importance at any time. Stocks and grains were both active and fairly strong. In the afternoon trading it was noted there was considerable price-fixing by foreign and domestic mills, and local and southern interests turned to the buying side, with the closing at practically the best levels of the day. The peak of the crop movement is here and political uncertainties will soon be behind us and it is doubtless in order to expect an early resumption of bullish activities. We are firm believers in the future of cotton and think purchases at current levels will in due time turn out profitably.

BEER & COMPANY.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—Liverpool cables were 12 to 16 penny points better than due, mostly on Bombay buying and weakness in sterling, but local cotton failed to respond to the advance and opened unchanged to two points down. The New York market gave a better response to Liverpool and the local market advanced moderately after the call, but eased off again, probably on some hedge selling. The government weekly crop summary was mixed but confirmed private reports that picking is nearing completion and will be over at a record early date. Both private and government weekly reports imply a very short crop. What business improvement that has taken place is being sustained according to reports being received from throughout the country. The stock market was rather weak during the morning but improved after the noon hour, and cotton followed that market upward, closing with net gains for the day of 10 to 13 points.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The market today, particularly toward the close, gave the appearance of being well liquidated and oversold. A mild rush of covering appeared during the last hour and found contracts extremely scarce. Hedge sales also dried up and there were very few offerings on the rally. The advance in cotton was also aided by the improvement in wheat and stocks, and, from the action of the market, it would appear that we could advance further before this rally is completed.

Grain Letters.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Although there was little incentive in activity or interest the market got out of the rut which has confined it for several days with prices closing around the high of the day due to rumors that a large industrialist would buy large quantities of wheat at higher than market prices and sell it to China on long-term credits. Additional drastic declines in sterling exchange were off-set by advances in Liverpool wheat and their premium over Chicago increased nearly a full cent when their market closed as compared with yesterday. There is a distinctly better feeling in all speculative circles which we think will be reflected in higher prices for wheat now that extreme pressure of Canadian movement has passed.

BEER & CO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Little outside interest was taken in wheat today but sufficient outside buying developed to give the market a firm undertone and prices averaged fractionally higher. Selling against offers was a factor in checking the upturn. In the past 10 days prices in Chicago have held within a range of around two cents, while in Winnipeg it has been around one cent for the same period. Pegging operations were again in evidence in the latter market, with the December holding around 50 cents. Firmness in Liverpool and in stocks had some effect on the domestic wheat market but there was nothing in the seaboard reports to indicate any activity in foreign demand.

Corn was dull and prices held within narrow limits with trade largely of a local character.

Official reports showed only 85,000 bushels of oat futures traded in yesterday, which some brokers believe is about the smallest day's business in many years. Oats and rye followed other grains, holding within narrow limits.

Sugar, Coffee, Rice.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Raw sugar was quiet today and no sales were reported. Store sugars were believed available at last paid prices of 3.15.

Aside from its steady tone there was little feature to the futures market and price changes were narrow with the market closing net unchanged to 2 points higher. The opening was unchanged.

Most of the business was in the December position, with considerable selling through commission houses which was absorbed by trade interest against recent sales in the spot market.

Advices from Washington place the loss to the sugar crop by the recent hurricane in Puerto Rico at about 183,000 tons.

Approximate sales were 13,050 tons, over half of which were in exchanges. October closed 1.00, December 1.08, January 1.05, March 1.02, May 1.06, July 1.10, September 1.14.

In refined there were fair withdrawals against old contracts but no new business and prices were unchanged at 4.25 for fine granulated.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Coffee was quiet today and prices irregular as a result of a fair demand for No. 7 contracts and little interest in Santos.

Trade houses and outside interests were credited with buying while other trade interests and Brazil sold. No. 7 contracts opened 1 to 5 lower and closed 2 to 10 higher; sales 8,000. Santos opened nominally unchanged and closed 1 to 5 lower; sales 6,000.

Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts, December 6.40, March 6.00, May 5.85, July 5.77, September 5.70; Santos, December 9.34, March 8.79, May 8.52, July 8.37, September 8.22.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Wheat advanced sharply at the close today with unconfirmed rumors afloat that Henry Ford would tonight announce a 75,000,000-bushel purchase of wheat for China.

The rumors were authoritatively denied later, but not until after trading had ended.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top, 3-4 to 1 cent above yesterday's finish; corn a shade to 1-4 up; oats 1-4 to 3-8 advance, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Corn and oats were firmer, with wheat and as a result of proposals for emergency export rail rates on corn. Export purchases of 150,000 bushels of corn for France were noted.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Cotton goods continued quiet today with price weakness reported in some of the print cloth numbers. Many finishing plants are very active. Burlaps were quiet and prices are again near the low point. Rayon markets hold steady with more offerings of rayon yarns reported, curtailment in raw silk production in Japan is increasing. Leaders in spring mens' wear fabric selling say they will make no formal price announcements until after election.

WOOL.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—(United States Department of Agriculture.)—Very little wool of any kind is being sold. Quotations are showing mostly no appreciable change. Small quantities in odd lots on most grades can be purchased at prices under the recent peak owing to the narrow scattered demand. Only the medium fleeces that advanced more than the bulk of the wool in August and September have been quoted slightly lower than the extreme levels.

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The bond market labored listlessly today and was able to bring forth only moderate gains principally in some of the semi-speculative loan groups.

It was the dullest full day's session since last April, sales sagging to the unimpressive total of $6,868,000 par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate bonds was up one-tenth of a point.

United States government issues, buoyant yesterday, relaxed after two of the treasury 3 3-8s had advanced fractionally to new 1932 highs. Most of the federals closed a trifle lower.

While high-grade obligations were extremely dull, most of them held to a steady position. The averages for 20 industrials and 20 rails were unchanged from yesterday. The utilities' average was slightly higher.

Some of the carrier bonds took heart following scattered reports of better car loadings for the past week. Southern Pacific and Southern were among the gainers.

The utilities were aided by recoveries of around a point in bonds of International Telephone, Postal Telegraph, American Foreign Power and Western Union.

Liggett & Myers and Lorillard were up on a few sales.

Highlights of Wall Street

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The stock market today began to break away from the unfavorable influence of the uncertainty surrounding the political situation. Increased emphasis is being placed in the Street on the statements by prominent banking interests and business executives that improvement probably will continue irrespective of the results in the November election.

The fact that speculation broadened with the advance of quotations was accepted as an encouraging sign and brokers returning from the floor of the stock exchange after the close reported shares seemed harder to buy than to sell.

An advance of a cent a bushel in the price of wheat contributed to the better undertone of the share market and rumors were current Henry Ford will announce that he will finance the sale of 70,000,000 bushels of wheat to the Chinese. Cotton also was somewhat higher.

One of the most encouraging developments was the knowledge that some speculative groups were renewing their constructive operations in a moderate way, their intention being to expand activity provided no resistance is met marketwise.

Two of the biggest banking groups in the Street are reported taking a constructive view of the outlook for the stock market for the immediate future. The names of these institutions are frequently linked to important market movements.

This new attitude is considered significant and in line with the statements frequently heard in banking quarters that business and securities should do better irrespective of election results.

Some optimism was generated marketwise from the continued favorable reports of car loadings by the railroads for the week ended October 15.

This was particularly true with regard to the loadings reported by the Pennsylvania and the New York Central systems. Missouri, Kansas & Texas also is reporting increased traffic which compares favorably with a year ago.

CHILD VICTIM OF AUTO WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Robert E. Jones Jr., 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Jones, who recently removed from this city to Jacksonville, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Parrish, 940 Drewry street, here. The child was killed in Jacksonville Tuesday morning when he was struck by an automobile.

Rites will be conducted by the Rev. L. B. Linn and the Rev. Dr. John P. Peters. Interment will be in West View cemetery. In addition to his parents and maternal grandparents, the Jones child is survived by a sister, Catherine Jones.

PUERTO RICAN STORM TAKES LIVES OF 245

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Official reports of the recent hurricane damage in the islands set the dead at 245, injured at 3,329 and property damage in excess of $30,000,000.

The figures were included in the report of Governor James R. Beverly, who asked the legislature yesterday to permit him to adjust insular finances to provide funds for reconstruction. The report stated 36,249 buildings were destroyed and 30,046 others damaged.

Unidentified Body Found

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified white man was pulled from the Mississippi river at the west end of the Harahan bridge today. Checks and a street car pass issued by the St. Louis Street Railway Company were found on the body. Street railway officials of St. Louis said they had no records of the checks and pass. The body was clad in a blue suit bearing the initials, "H. C. T." The initials also were on a signet ring he wore.

FURTHER GAINS APPEAR ON CURB

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The curb market again moved upward in another quiet session today, in sympathy with the big board.

The turnover aggregated only 160,000 shares, against 120,000 yesterday. The market remained a highly professional affair.

Scattered gains were made by the industrials. Deere advanced more than a point, moving with wheat. Federated metals advanced about a point. The Fisk Rubber shares were firm. Aluminum Company rose 4 1-2 points and New Jersey Zinc 1 1-2.

Electric Bond & Share continued to turn over in large volume, and closed 1 5-8 points higher. American Gas & Electric gained a point. Standard Power & Light was a soft spot, appearing at 8 1-2, off 3 points.

Standard of Indiana was a firm feature of the oils, closing up 1 3-8. Gulf gained a point in a small turnover.

City's 1-Day Respite From Rain Ends Today

Atlanta, hardly regaining her breath after the deluge which sent Georgia rivers high in their banks, today will be swept again by rains which will follow increasing cloudiness, Meteorologist Arthur H. Scott predicted Wednesday.

Temperatures will remain warm, with readings between 62 or 63 degrees and 70 degrees today, as compared with 57 to 74 degrees Wednesday. The rainfall will develop from a storm which started over the southern Rocky mountains and which on Wednesday had split into two disturbances. Atlanta's rain will come from the secondary disturbance, which is over the Rio Grande, it was said.

Meteorologist Scott said that it is too early to tell how much rain Atlanta will receive from the new disturbance.

George W. Mindling, of Boston, who has been appointed meteorologist for Atlanta to succeed C. F. von Herrmann, who retired, is expected to arrive in Atlanta today to take over his new duties. Scott has been acting meteorologist since von Herrmann's retirement.

Groves Found Sane, To Be Resentenced

Found sane by a lunacy commission, Joe Lee Groves Wednesday was ordered resentenced to death for the murder of a Thomas county deputy sheriff.

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. ordered Groves remanded for sentence after the commission, headed by Dr. Richard Binion, of Milledgeville, reported Groves "sane."

The examination of the condemned slayer was ordered last Thursday by Governor Russell on the eve of Groves' scheduled execution.

DOLE TO REORGANIZE PINEAPPLE COMPANY

HONOLULU, Oct. 19.—(AP)—James D. Dole, president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, today announced plans to reorganize the company and obtain $1,500,000 new cash through issuance of 75,000 shares of preferred stock.

Dole, long president and general manager, will continue to head the concern, but the new general manager will be Atherton Richards, treasurer of Castle & Cooke.

FOOD ACT PROVISION DEFENDED IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Solicitor-General Thomas D. Thacher sought in the supreme court today to sustain the validity of the section of the food and drugs act relating to the misbranding of food. The clause requiring that the contents of a package be "plainly and conspicuously marked," with the weight "plainly and correctly" given if stated at all, was under dispute.

10-Hour Daily Limit Put on Truck Drivers

Chairman James A. Perry, of the Georgia public service commission, Wednesday issued a warning to bus and truck operators in the state that the commission "will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law" operators who permit drivers to be on duty longer than 10 consecutive hours.

Mr. Perry said that reports had come to the commission that drivers had been required in some instances to work so long that they were exhausted and went to sleep at the side of the road.

"The condition is a menace to transportation on the highways of Georgia," Mr. Perry said.

State Supreme Court Dismisses Lea Appeal

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The North Carolina supreme court today dismissed the appeal of Colonel Luke Lea, former Tennessee senator, from a superior court ruling denying him a new trial on a charge of violating the bank laws.

The court granted the motion of the state to docket the case and dismiss it. It also dismissed similar appeals by Wallace B. Davis, of Asheville, former Asheville banker, and Luke Lea Jr. The three were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville of $1,000,000.

SHERIFF IS ATTACKED IN FARM PICKET FIGHT

ST. PAUL, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A blow felled Sheriff James Smith as he intervened today in a hand-to-hand fight between farm pickets and truck drivers on a highway near Wyoming, Minn. He was unconscious for a few minutes, but otherwise not injured.

The sheriff, attempting to quell trouble which arose when men accompanying 17 trucks bound for Twin Cities markets were halted by pickets said he did not know who struck him. He was hit on the head with a club, he said.

Culbertson Challenged To 'Knockdown' Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Big Hal Sims, who has been selected by various experts on various occasions as the king of all contract players, today challenged Ely Culbertson to a knockdown and dragout fight.

"This is chalenge No. 9,999," said Culbertson. "The first thing every budding bridge author does is to challenge me to a match."

Sims proposed something like the Lenz-Culbertson match of last winter except that the affair would be catch-as-catch can, no holds or partners barred, no odds and no particular system stipulated.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 106

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"I am Tarzan of the Apes! I come to dance the Dum-Dum with my brothers!" cried the ape-man. He made a motion to the drummers, who immediately took up the cadence of the dance again. It was then that Go-lat gave up.

Raising his bloody face he cried, "Kagoda (I surrender)! Tarzan shall join his brothers and Go-lat will dance with him!" Now the girl in the tree saw the savage man leaping, bending and stamping with the savage apes in the ancient rites of the Dum-Dum.

His roars and growls were most beastly than the beast, his handsome face distorted with savage ferocity as he beat his great breast. It was weird, this strange scene that she looked upon, and not without beauty.

It was a scene that probably no other human being had ever witnessed—and yet it was horrible! As she gazed, spell-bound, a stealthy movement in the tree behind her caused her to turn her head. Sheeta, the panther, had found her out!

county and the action of the committee of McIntosh county in certifying the nominees of the party, were dismissed by the committee for want of prosecution.

Talmadge Pledges Economy.

The governor-designate in his brief address stressed the fact that his administration will be one of economy and of tax reduction.

"We need teeth in our tax laws that will put invisible properties on our tax digests," the governor-designate said. "We do not want it so that it may be taxed from 20 to 25 mills, but it must be on the digest if we are to reduce the ad valorem taxes, which we all know many cannot pay."

Talmadge stressed the fact that attention must be given the small taxpayer. Citing the case of a family with which he is personally acquainted he pointed out that from rentals obtained from a small house the family owns the family cannot meet its obligations on the house and pay the taxes as well.

"Taxes must and will come down and we will bring them down if we have the assistance of this committee in gaining support for our program," Talmadge said.

Other addresses on the program were made by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Senator J. S. Cohen, Lawrence Camp, former chairman of the committee; Mrs. J. R. Terrell, of Greenville, president of the Roosevelt Highway Association; Edgar Watkins Jr., treasurer of the Georgia division of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League; Mrs. Edgar Alexander, democratic national committeewoman, and Hugh Howell, chairman of the new committee, who presided. All of the speakers, save Governor-designate Talmadge, confined their addresses to the national campaign and told the committee they felt that Georgia would roll up its greatest democratic majority in behalf of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

Resolution Hits G. O. P.

A resolution severely criticising the republican party for the present plight of the nation was unanimously approved amid cheers. It was offered by Chairman Howell.

Chairman Howell's resolution commended "to the people of our country that fearless statesman and matchless leader, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, next president of the United States," and pledges "our support to the democratic party, to the end that republican tyranny and misrule will be driven out of the high places of our government."

The resolution called for "once more in this country, under the Stars and Stripes, a government of the people and for the people." Policies of the republican party during the last 12 years, "that have brought ruin and disaster upon our people," are condemned in the resolution, which proclaims "to the people of our state that the only way prosperity may be brought back to our people will be an overwhelming victory for the democratic party in the next general election."

"Twelve years of republican misrule have brought our country on the brink of ruin, the bread lines have increased, poverty stalks throughout the land, hungry men walk the streets of our cities able and willing to work, women bathe their pillows in tears because they have no food for their hungry children, sorrow and suffering stalk throughout this country because the republican party, party of pillage and privilege, has brought ruin and disaster upon a happy and contented people," the resolution said.

Howell Thanked.

At the concluson of the meeting Howell was given a rising vote of thanks for the accurate and speedy handling of the committee's business. He also was presented a walking cane by Mr. Watkins on behalf of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League.

At the outset of Wednesday's meeting Howell appointed the following committees:

Rules: W. B. Mebane, Floyd county, chairman; Ernest Camp, Walton county; A. Steve Nance, Fulton county; Charles Redwine, Fayette county; J. B. (Tobe) Daniel, Troup county; Mrs. Julius Talmadge, Clarke county; W. G. Neville, Bulloch county; Jeff Taylor, Marion county, and Charles E. Stewart, Coffee county.

Finance: H. G. Head, Catoosa county, chairman; J. P. Brown, Greene county, and J. E. J. Anderson, Bulloch county. Chairman Head is also treasurer of the state committee.

Contest: Judge M. D. Dickerson, Coffee county, chairman; Ed Wohlwender, Muscogee county; Joe Hollis, Coweta county; R. J. Reynolds Jr., Fulton county; Charles Redwine, Fayette county; S. W. Howell, Early county; T. E. Crawford, Fannin county; S. S. Hubbard, Habersham county; Watkins Edwards, Gilmer county; Herman DeLaPierriere, Jackson county; J. Ralph Rosser, Walker county.

Following are the permanent officers of the committee:

Chairman, Hugh Howell, of Atlanta; vice chairmen, H. P. DeLaPerriere of Hoschton, J. H. Skelton Sr., of Hartwell, and J. J. Mangham, of Bremen; secretary, Eleanor Orr, of Newnan, and assistant secretary, A. J. Kingery, of Swainsboro.

A revised list of the members from the fifth congressional district was announced by Howell Tuesday. The committee members are:

Fifth district: George Eckford, Frank Carter and A. Steve Nance, Fulton county; Augustine Sams, Mell Turner and Carl Hudgins, DeKalb county, and A. F. Walker, Rockdale county.

ness, of industry, of agriculture, and all the ills and all the things that grow from it—unemployment, and sickness, and starvation, and possible death, and the only thing for the American people to do is to keep up their spirit, to keep alive in their heart their devotion to this country and its ultimate principles and what it can accomplish for them.

Epecially encouraging to Chest officials was the report of Mrs. Preston Arkwright, chairman of the woman's division, who said that not only had her workers secured duplications, at least, of last year's contributions, but that the number of advance contributors had been increased over 1931.

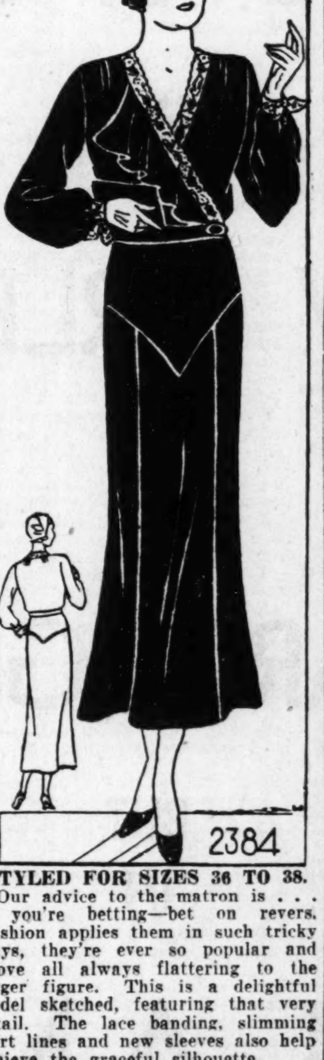

Mrs. Sam Inman, of the woman's division, said indications were that "Atlanta people have caught the community spirit and we anticipate no trouble in raising our quota."

Other individual gift workers and leaders said results so far indicate that "all givers this year will be big givers."

Mr. Neely especially commended the woman's division on its optimistic showing and urged all workers on to greater efforts in order that all cards for advance subscriptions might be turned in with reports not later than at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. He ordered that no card would be accepted for final disposition until some return had been made by a subscriber.

Workers, leaders and those interested in the drive were invited to attend the daily luncheons at Rich's tea room at 12:30 o'clock today and Friday when further reports will be heard and organization plans completed.

Lillian Mae Patterns.

STYLED FOR SIZES 36 TO 38.

Our advice to the matron is . . . if you're betting—bet on revers. Fashion applies them in such tricky ways, they're ever so popular and above all always flattering to the larger figure. This is a delightful model sketched, featuring that very detail. The lace banding, slimming skirt lines and new sleeves also help achieve the graceful silhouette.

Pattern 2384 may be ordered only in sizes 36 to 48. Size 36 requires 4 3-8 yards 39-inch fabric and 1 7-8 yards 2-inch lace. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The choice of a smart, sensible and economical fall and winter wardrobe becomes very simple with the aid of the new Lillian Mae pattern catalog. This beautiful book contains 32 pages of select models for every fall and winter need—house, street, afternoon, formal frocks and lingerie for adults; pages of lovely models for juniors and kiddies; special styles for the larger figure, and many delightful suggestions for Christmas sewing. Send for your copy. Price of catalog, 15 cents.

Address orders to Lillian Mae Pattern Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Opening Week Sale At Erlanger Today

Seats for next week's production "Death Takes a Holiday," which will be the opening vehicle for the Atlanta Permanent Civic Players at the Erlanger theater, will go on sale when the box office opens at 10 o'clock this morning. At the same time season reservations, calling for the same seats at some specified performance each week of the season may be made.

Rehearsals of the popular comedy which will serve to introduce the new stock organization to Atlanta are progressing entirely to the satisfaction of Producer Rowland G. Edwards, while Scenic Director Senior promises a stage setting that will equal the original production at the Ethel Barrymore theater in New York.

Atlanta, in the Civic Players, has secured a stock company that will compare favorably with any in the country. Its entire playing personnel is made of players who are well known in New York and many of them came here direct from Broadway engagements. Frederic Tozere, who plays the central role of Prince Sirki in "Death Takes a Holiday," has already won distinction in the role and his interpretation next week will be as nearly perfect as possible.

There will be nightly performances at 8:30 o'clock and matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

BRITONS DEBATE ON JOBLESS POLICY

Demand for 'Chance of Decent Existence' Made in Parliament.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Less than 24 hours after 10,000 jobless men and women had rioted across the Thames from Parliament Square, the house of commons engaged in sharp debate tonight over the government's policy of handling the unemployed.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, taking note of the disturbance across the river, cleared the way for the debate early today and it was opened by George Lansbury, laborite leader.

"I demand that the damnable 'means test' be abolished," Mr. Lansbury said, "and every man be given a chance of decent existence."

Taking up the government's case promptly, Sir John Gilmour, the home secretary, charged that there was a material connection between Moscow and the "national unemployed workers' movement" which he said formed the nucleus of last night's street fighting.

"At Birkenhead," Sir John continued, "the police found the technique of street fighting that is advocated by the communist internationale considerably developed. Trip wires had been fixed across the roads a foot from the ground, lamps extinguished and manhole covers removed.

State Rexall Dealers Hear Talk By Louis K. Liggett, Drug Leader

Louis K. Liggett, president of the United Drug Company, and former republican national committeeman from Massachusetts, delivered the principal address Wednesday before the convention of Rexall drug dealers from all over Georgia, meeting at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mr. Liggett's address was unusually interesting to the assembled druggists, in that, instead of adhering to a single topic of discussion, he made a diversified talk based or the day's news as presented on the front page of Wednesday's issue of The Constitution. Taking almost every story for a basis of discussion, the drug executive pointed out the relations of the druggist trade with the life of a community.

Referring to the political situation, Mr. Liggett asserted that while "calamity howlers" may claim that election of one or the other party leaders may bring about serious economic results, he himself did not believe that there would be any material difference resulting from the forthcoming elections.

Business, he said, is definitely on the upgrade, and a mere turning over of political leadership in America would not serve as a deterrent to its continued progress.

ACHIEVEMENT MEDAL AWARDED TO SCHWAB

American, in London, Predicts Great Era of Industrial Progress.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Pointing to the "ever-growing inter-relationship of nations," Charles M. Schwab, the American steel magnate, tonight told the British Institute of Fuel that the world will see a "wider and better founded era of industrial progress" during the next 25 years.

The occasion was the awarding to Mr. Schwab of the Melchett medal of the institute for distinguished achievement in industry.

Mr. Schwab launched into a general analysis of world conditions as "an individual having no political connections or interests in this international field," and he reached the conclusion the world was entering up an era of peace. He added:

"As world conditions improve we shall see less and less of jingoism, of economic barriers. Your conferring this honor upon an American citizen is an example of the ever-growing inter-relationship of nations."

Heart Attacks

How the deficiency of certain food elements in your nutrition causes heart weakness, pains in your heart and chest, disturbed heart action, short breath, heart attacks and Angina pectoris, ending in heart failure, and the lack of other food elements increases your blood pressure, ultimately resulting in a brain hemorrhage, paralysis or apoplexy, hardens your arteries, exhausts the vitality of your brain and nervous system, producing sexual impotence, sterility, ulcers, gall and kidney stones, and seriously impairs your stomach, liver and kidneys, is fully explained in the new 168-page book, "The Preservation of Health and the Prevention of Disease Through the Chemistry of Foods." Prof. R. von Walden, the noted German Food Scientist, has written this book for you, and while not a specific treatment he gives you facts that you should know on how to keep in health. Upon receipt of the description of your health problem, this scientific work will be forwarded to you at the special price of 25 cents. Address: The R. von Walden Publications, P. O. Claims Are Paid Almost Daily To Victims of Motor Crashes

Millions of dollars and years of patient heart-breaking toil have been expended in efforts to rid Georgia of malaria and tuberculosis. These two diseases present serious menace to life and health.

Yet the ever growing wave of accidents takes a greater toll of life and suffering than do both these diseases put together; and because the accident peril is a natural part of a complex civilization, people are prone to take it for granted and ignore it in a fatalistic sort of way.

You cannot help taking your chance with accidents, but you can protect yourself and your loved ones with financial safeguards against want and privation should you become a victim.

Remember the terrible toll taken by train wrecks, accidents to public carriers of all kinds; crashes of automobiles, reckless drivers who crush pedestrians under their wheels, and burning buildings. Your time may come today or tomorrow or a month from now.

Why not throw a protecting financial wall about your wife, your children, those you love, with this unparalleled opportunity offered by The Atlanta Constitution?

R. E. Rollins, 297 Pulliam street, on January 14, 1932, was walking in front of the city hall when an auto ran backwards and knocked him down, from which accident he was totally disabled for several weeks. On March 12 he received a check for $40 from the North American Accident Insurance Company through The Atlanta Constitution. Payments of this kind are being made almost daily to Atlanta Constitution subscribers through its insurance feature service department.

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 69 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policyholders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price.

Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20 cents registration fee with the application and 20 cents for five consecutive weeks thereafter in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

Ireland Will Impose New Tariff Increases

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Oct. 19. (AP)—Tariff increases of 15 to 50 per cent affecting numerous manufactured goods and semi-finished articles were announced in the dail eireann today and will become effective tomorrow.

Some of the new tariffs follow:

Yarns, general 22 1-2 per cent ad valorem, imperial 15; articles of gold, silver, electro-plate, platinum, copper, brass, bronze and gunmetal, general 15, imperial 10; optical goods, general 15, imperial 33 1-2; cordage, cables, ropes and twine or hemp, general 30, imperial 20.

TENN. ODD FELLOWS ELECT GRAND OFFICERS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—J. C. Bilbrey, of Livingston, was elected grand master of the Tennessee grand lodge of Odd Fellows at the annual meeting here today. Other officers are W. A. A. Vogt, and five grandchildren. Rites will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel by Rev. J. G. Patton. Interment will be private, in Oakland cemetery.

T. W. HENDERSON.

T. W. Henderson, 76, of 400 Capitol avenue, S. E., died Wednesday morning at an Atlanta hospital after a brief illness. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Katie Landen and Miss Eva Henderson; two sons, H. F. and Billy Henderson, of New York, and a brother and a sister. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, the Rev. Paul Barth conducting. Interment will be in Primitive Baptist churchyard, on Campbellton road.

CLAUDE C. STEPHENS.

Claude C. Stephens, 61, of 844 Myrtle street, for many years a locomotive engineer with the Southern railway, died Tuesday night at the residence after being in failing health for the last six months. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jason Cannon and Mrs. R. F. Cox, of Atlanta, and a son, Claude C. Stephens Jr., of Aurora, N. Y. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning in the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, the Rev. Dr. L. R. Christie officiating. Interment will be in West View.

MRS. MARY A. GRAVITT.

Mrs. Mary A. Gravitt, 55, of 615 Chestnut street, died Wednesday morning at her home. She is survived by her husband, J. B. Gravitt; four daughters, the Misses Effie, Mary and Sara Mae Gravitt and Mrs. J. B. Collins, and a son, Robert Gravitt. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Western Heights Baptist church, the Rev. W. M. Albert officiating. Interment will be in West View. Williams Funeral Home, Hapeville, in charge.

THOMAS W. McGARITY.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon for Thomas W. McGarity, 63, of 745 Virginia avenue, N. E., retired grocer, who died Tuesday at a local hospital after a brief illness. Rites were conducted by the Rev. Wallace Rogers, the Rev. J. F. Strickland, the Rev. W. B. Linn and the Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben. The services were held at Payne Memorial church. Interment was in West View cemetery. Pallbearers were Judge Jesse Wood, Recorder John L. Cone, Sam Hawkins, E. M. Price, Paul S. Pause and R. L. Harwell. The board of stewards of the church served as honorary escort.

MRS. M. L. DAVIS.

Last rites for Mrs. M. L. Davis, 52, of Suwanee, were held Wednesday afternoon in the chapel of Blanchard Brothers. Mrs. Davis died Tuesday at a private sanitarium at Milledgeville. The interment was in Crown Hill cemetery.

DR. JOHN KELLER.

Dr. John L. Keller, 71, of Flat Shoals road, for many years prominent as a farmer and veterinarian, died Wednesday morning at a private hospital after a lengthy illness. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Theodore Cobb, and two grandchildren, Mary and Keller Cobb. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at Panthersville Presbyterian church, Rev. F. Rauschenberg officiating. Interment will be in Decatur cemetery. Pallbearers will be John L. Scott, C. C. Johnson, J. C. Daniel, T. O. Poole, E. N. Leach and Charles Haushalter.

SMITH OFFERS PLAN TO SUCCOR FARMERS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 19.—(AP) A plan for eliminating 10,000,000 bales of cotton "from the present supply" by government purchase and reducing 1933 production by that amount to give growers "at least a reasonable hope of prosperity" was announced here today by Senator E. D. Smith.

The veteran South Carolina senator, a recognized authority on cotton, said he would introduce at the next session of congress a bill to appropriate $500,000,000 for this purpose, "and," he said, "I have every reason to believe the incoming congress will pass this act before the new year."

Under his plan the government would buy 10,000,000 bales of cotton at current prices, sell it to farmers on time, and "retire it from the market." The farmers would sign enforceable contracts to cut their 1933 production by the amount of cotton they purchased.

When the government disposed of the cotton, it would deduct the purchase prices and reasonable overhead charges and give the balance to the farmers.

By the plan, Senator Smith said, "we will have eliminated the surplus and provided just a normal supply in 1933." He added that billions had been used by the government to aid large corporations and he saw no reason why the amount he proposed should not be appropriated to aid the farmers.
